Lowell Man Suggests Plan For Armistice Day Celebration

There seems to be a feeling in certain quarters that Lowell should have some sort of a public observance on Armistice day. The American Legion has planned an appropriate program of exercises which will be held in front of the city hall. Other than this there is no public demonstration planned for the day which brought an end to the world war and meant joy for so many people.

The city has made no appropriation for a celebration on this day. While

Key Workers Were Active in Lowell Yesterday—Cases Reported to Police

Key workers were quite active in this city yesterday. Two homes, one on Moody street and the other on Salem street, were entered some time during the afternoon while the occupants were out and stripped of a number of valuable articles besides a small amount of money.

CHILD MAY DIE AS RESULT OF SCALDS

The one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bleckey, of 12 Bent's court, off Gorham street, is in a very serious condition at St. John's hospital as a result of scalds he received at the home of his parents this morning. The child was badly burned about the face, hands and body and it is expected he will not recover. The mother was also painfully burned about the hands and arms, but she was able to return to her home after receiving treatment at the hospital. The accident occurred at about 8:30 o'clock. The particulars of the accident could not be learned.

WAY PAVED FOR VOTE ON BONUS

Sen. Reed Introduces Amendment to Tax Bill Which Will Force Show Down

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The way was paved today by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, to force a vote on the soldier bonus bill which the senate recently laid on the table at the request of President Harding.

The senator introduced an amendment to the tax revision bill providing for taxes on excess profits of corporations and for use of the revenue derived as a special fund to pay bonuses to former service men. The amendment included the McCumber bonus bill, reported by the senate finance committee, providing for five year benefits to former service men.

FIREARMS LAY UNUSED

Guns Sent to Arm New York

Postal Employees Remained in Shipping Cases

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A consignment of firearms that lay unused in the New York postoffice when automobile bandits held up and robbed a lone, unarmed mail truck driver of $1,454.123 last Monday night, were out today doing duty on the persons of guards who accompanied similar treasure trucks through the city's streets.

One of the first things that Postmaster General Hays discovered when he arrived here yesterday to take charge of the investigation of the robbery, was that a large shipment of guns sent to arm New York postal employees after a series of mail robberies in other cities, still were in their shipping cases. He ordered them unpacked, and put to work. He also ordered an investigation to determine who had been responsible for their non-delivery to employees.

Postoffice inspectors increased in number to 15 after Mr. Hays' arrival, and are bending every energy to unravel the tangled mass of clues leading to the holdup men.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS CLOSED TODAY

The public schools were closed today, for nearly every school teacher in the city was in Boston, attending the sixty-seventh annual convention of the Middlesex county teachers' association, held in Tremont Temple and Gardner hall, state house.

Brilliant speakers from all over the country, among them America's foremost educators, were on the program for addresses on subjects of engrossing interest to teachers, among them Hon. William Jennings Bryan and Dr. Andrew F. West, dean of Princeton university's graduate school.

to clean up the many details of the cancelled railroad strike.

Hundreds of congratulatory telegrams began to pour into the board's offices.

Railroad brotherhood chiefs said today that their resolution adopted last night, calling off the strike emphasized two points as evidence of a victory for the men.

These points were, first: That action of the railroad labor board on further wage cuts which the railroads may ask, will receive consideration only after pending questions before the board are cleared, thereby, possibly, postponing the question of a new wage revision for nearly a year. The second point was that action on rules, which the organizations wish to maintain, likewise would take its place on the regular calendar of the board, the question not likely to become an immediate issue.

Recall Orders Sent Out

CHICAGO, Oct. 23. (By the Associated Press).—The official recall of the rail strike orders issued by the switchmen, trainmen, conductors, engineers and firemen were dispatched today when leaders of the "Big Five" flashed code messages to their general chairmen. The chairmen will submit the messages to the locals and the official order recalling the strike will thus permeate the country in a few hours.

Similar orders probably will be dispatched today by the telegraphers' organization, the only other union that had voted to participate in the strike scheduled to begin Sunday and which had threatened to tie up the nation's transportation facilities.

MACHINE GUNS HALTED EX-EMPEROR CHARLES

BUDAPEST, Oct. 25.—Former Emperor Charles' return to Budapest, met an effective barrier at Budapest last Sunday morning, when a band of university students, armed with machine guns, held up his progress until the regular Hungarian forces wheeled into line. Hungary's fate hung in the balance during that time.

It is asserted here, "I am sorry for the poor boys," he is quoted as saying. "Try to persuade them that resistance is hopeless."

Government troops were hurried forward and occupied the ridge held by the students. As a result when Charles gave the order to attack the battle was already lost.

RUNAWAY HORSE

A horse hitched to a delivery wagon filled with empty wooden boxes ran away in Aiken street, shortly after 12 o'clock this forenoon. The animal became frightened in Aiken street, and a point between Hall and Claver streets, and started in the direction of North street, scattering empty boxes on the way. When the animal was caught, one of the boxes, which had fallen from the top of the load, struck the driver's seat and went down with a crash directly in front of the horse. The horse stopped and a bystander held him until the driver came along. The boxes were later gathered up from the road and the rig continued its journey without any damage having been done.

KITTREDGE COUNCIL SOCIAL SESSION

Paul Kittredge Council, A.A.R.I.U., held an important meeting and entertainment at Y.M.C.I. hall last evening with a large attendance. Mr. Patrick Fane presided and conducted a brief business session, during which a committee of five was appointed to start a no membership drive. Former Alderman John W. Daly was then presented to the audience to give a sketch of his experiences in Europe during his service there as K. of C. secretary.

He gave a very interesting talk, telling of conditions in France, Germany and Austria and dealing in a hurried way with what he observed in Ireland when he went there to visit relatives on his way home. A feature of the entertainment was a musical cabaret presented by a troupe from Notre Dame de Lourdes parish. The interlude was Mr. Wilfred St. Pierre, who was assisted by Charles St. Armand, Joseph Belanger, David Lavoie and Raymond Lemire. Selections on the Irish pipes and violin were contributed by Mr. O'Carra and Charles Farley. Old Irish dances were given by Miss Irene Stranghnessy and Mr. John Clowrey. The entertainment was in charge of Mr. John Payne and Patrick Kane.

Mr. Langley would work in co-operation with the American Legion and have the parade terminate at the square a few minutes before the Legion's exercises were to be held.

He suggests all military and civil organizations to parade and march on Battery B and the forces at Woodburn. While Mr. Langley does not attempt to pose as an organizer, he would be glad to meet any people interested in the affair and would give every possible assistance.

money and two empty pocketbooks. In confirming a report to that effect, a member of the Thellen family stated today that the intruders evidently had gained admission by opening the back door with a false key while the house was unoccupied. Mrs. Thellen went out at 1 o'clock and returned at 5. The Sun man was told, and was certain she had locked both front and rear doors. On her return Mrs. Thellen found the watch, which had been left on the bureau gone as well as two pocketbooks, which were empty, and a small sum of money in change that she had left on the bureau. The thieves apparently were particular as to what loot they sought for a clothes trunk in one of the bedrooms was thoroughly ransacked but nothing was found missing. A member of the Thellen family stated today that the police had been notified of the break.

Pawtucketville, yesterday afternoon, when jewelry valued at about $50 was taken. The thief, it is believed, gained an entrance to the flat by use of a false key as the doors and windows were locked when Mr. and Mrs. Marcotte returned to their home from their work.

The articles taken consisted of five gold rings, one of which, a diamond ring, won by Mr. Marcotte in the Twilight League baseball league popularity contest last summer, was prized highly by its owner; a diamond stickpin, a beaded necklace and a gold pendant with diamond setting. Evidently the thief was in a great hurry, for in his haste to get out he slipped up on a small sum of money, a bank book, and a book containing $100 worth of war savings stamps, which were in a bureau drawer.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcotte are both employed in local mill and when they leave their home in the morning they do not return until night. Their flat is located on the third floor and underneath them lives a woman, who very seldom leaves her home. Yesterday afternoon, however, at about 2 o'clock the neighbor went out and returned about 5 o'clock. Everything seemed normal in the Marcotte flat when she left and when she returned she did not hear any noise upstairs. Shortly after 5:30 o'clock when the Marcottes entered their flat they found things scattered all over the floor and after a hurried investigation found that considerable jewelry was missing. The police were notified.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

One Lone Offender in the Dock Today—Court Has Short Session

Judge Enright took his seat at the bench in the district court this morning to find only one prisoner in the cage, only one attorney in the bar enclosure, only one police complainant and only three or four apparently disinterested spectators. Somehow or other, Lowell behaved itself remarkably well since yesterday noon, for it is not often that so light a docket faces the court. Had it not been that the sole occupant of the cage enclosure went out and got drunk last night, to which charge he pleaded guilty and later proceeded to a house on Cross street, where he caused some sort of a disturbance, that made his sisters complain against him, the day's session would have been clean of new offenders. But for this one lone offender the judge would have been entitled to a pair of white gloves. However, his case was short-lived. Officer Goggin testified that he arrested the man in question after his sister called the police charging that their brother was annoying them. According to the officer, the accused was drunk and the women wanted him to get out of their home, and go to work to support himself. The defendant told the judge he worked, although "just off and on." Anyway, he promised to leave their house and live by himself, and to assure them that the brother will make good his promise, the court imposed a three months' suspended sentence to the house of correction, Probation Officer Cronin to keep a watch over him for the coming six months. A complaint against Daniel Farrell, taken on a capias a week ago for failure to pay a $5 fine, was read and continued another week. The defendant was not present. Neither was Theodore Ness of Dracut, present, whose larceny case involving a $50 watch, pending settlement, was continued to today. It could not be definitely learned whether or not Ness has completed a series of payments he was to make to repair the alleged theft, so the matter was put over to tomorrow.

RIVER VICTIM
WESLEYAN BOY

Body Found in Niagara Believed to be Kenneth Losey, Missing Since Oct. 13

Examination Indicates He Had Been Thrown Into River After Being Stabbed

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 28.—The unidentified body of a young man found in the Niagara river, near Buffalo, N. Y., last night, is believed here to be that of Kenneth R. Losey, class of 1923, at Wesleyan university. Losey has been missing since Oct.

13, when he parted from his roommate with the intention of going to New York city. His home was at Northport, N. Y., and his parents have been notified that the university officers believe the body found was that of their son. When Losey left college he was accompanied to New Haven by his roommate, W. E. Mansfield, of Danbury, Conn. According to Mansfield, Losey carried a Wesleyan watch chain, a small pocket knife and $25 in money. On the body was a watch chain and a small Bible.

Stabbed in Side

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Prolonged examination today of the body of the young man found in the Niagara river last night, indicated that he had been thrown into the water soon after receiving a stab wound in the side and that the immediate cause of death was drowning.

The knife wound penetrated about six inches and took an upward course. The wound could not have been self-inflicted, the medical examiner believed. Neither the topcoat nor the inner coat of the victim had been slashed, the first portion of clothing showing a cut being the vest. The condition of the body indicated that it had been in the water about a week.

A top attached to an open-faced watch bears the inscription "23" in navy blue and maroon colors. Between the figures is a small seal inscribed "Wesleyan university, A.D. 1831." The watch was of Langford make, and No. 523408. All the clothing on the body was of good quality and had been bought recently at a Buffalo store.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE
ALUMNI MEETING

A very largely attended meeting of the members of St. Joseph's college alumni was held last evening, in the college hall, Merrimack street, and the 250 or more visiting men listened to a very interesting lecture given by Rev. Charles Denzot, O.M.I., on his recent voyage to France. A varied entertainment program was given and refreshments were served.

The evening's program was presided over by President Joseph F. Montminy, and the first number was a thirty-minute play, "The Young Man of the Year," by J. H. Trudel of French Hill, Maine, mental worker and escapee artist. The young man delighted his audience with numerous tricks, such as slipping away from handcuffs and sleight-of-hand stunts. His feature number was his escape from a straight jacket, which was done in the open. Then there was a three-round boxing bout between Young Dempsey and Young Leduc. The affair being called a draw by the referee, Arthur Gaudette. Arthur L. Ede acted as timer. There were also vocal selections by Wilfrid Lajeunesse, accompanied on the piano by Francis Cullinan.

The last number on the program was the lecture by Rev. Fr. Denzot, O.M.I. He said that during the 12 years he has been away from France, the country has changed considerably. He said the work of rebuilding the devastated parts of France is going on rapidly and that France is today one of the busiest countries in the world. He gave a vivid description of the havoc raised by the German armies during the war and although France is spending millions of dollars in rebuilding the devastated districts, the old relics, which made the country so famous, will never be replaced. Rev. Fr. Denzot, O.M.I., spoke of the various cities and villages he has visited during his trip and said the younger element of France is very much interested in the uplift of their motherland.

At the close of the lecture a brief business meeting was held during which it was voted to have a telephone installed at the college and a collection was taken up among those present and enough money was collected to pay for the installation of the instrument and its use for a year. A light luncheon was served.

The meeting was in charge of the following officers of the association: Joseph F. Montminy, president; Arthur Lequin, vice president; Arthur H. Groulx, financial secretary; Joseph Bergeron, recording secretary; Victor Alexander, assistant recording secretary; J. Lemire, treasurer; J. B. Bissonnette, Louis Parent, George Marchand, Jr., Leonce Glouet and Frank Cayer, directors.

Rail Strike is Called Off

board will today announce its findings as a result of the public hearing Wednesday, at which union leaders and railroad executives testified. This declaration, it was expected, would analyze the situation and its outcome, the board, according to one member, feeling the matter was now out of its hands. With the announcement this morning of the official recalling of the strike order, union leaders were preparing to depart for their homes.

Vote Late Last Night

The vote ending the strike came late last night after all day sessions of the union leaders. In the afternoon a joint session was held which was addressed by Ben W. Hooper of the labor board. Mr. Hooper's appearance before the board is said by union leaders to have marked the turning point which led to the final decision.

Mr. Hooper is said to have stressed the board's announcement that no further wage cuts for any class of employees will be considered until working conditions for that class of employees have been settled. He is also said to have emphasized the announcement of the rail executives made at Wednesday's hearings that no changes in either wage or working conditions will be sought except through the labor board as provided by law.

No Wage Cuts for Year

Union men said they construed Mr. Hooper's remarks as indicating that nearly a year must elapse before further wage cuts could be made effective, even if the board should apply for them at once and the board should eventually approve them. While the vote by organizations was said to have been unanimous, union men asserted today that the vote in the various unions was close and that the firemen, in particular, long remained obdurate.

Railroad executives expressed satisfaction over the decision while members of the labor board characterized the action as one the unions will never regret. Labor chieftains today asserted that their action of yesterday marked the end of all danger of a strike.

Secret Code Messages

CLEVELAND, Oct. 28. (By the Associated Press).—Secret code messages to general chairmen by which they are directed to notify local chairmen that the proposed railroad strike has been called off, were sent early today from the general offices here of the brotherhoods of trainmen, engineers and firemen.

"Art is long; life is short," read one of the messages. "Where there are bees, there is honey."

"Smith is a mighty man." "Your accounts have been audited and found correct." "More enduring than bronze." The messages were despatched by the chief clerks of President W. C. Lee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; Grand Chief Warren S. Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, to general chairmen of their respective organizations.

On receipt of the messages the general chairmen will open sealed letters sent to them with the strike orders and if they correspond will relay to the local chairmen, who in turn will notify the membership.

Wall Street Hinted

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Wall street received with unmistakable approval the news that the railroad strike had been called off.

Dealings were broad and extensive at the outset. Transcontinentals and the shares of high class granular rail secured the most substantial gains in the early dealings.

Northern Pacific and Great Northern rose 2 points each, Chicago & North-western advancing 2 1/2. St. Paul preferred, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio and Reading gained 1 to 1 1/2 points. Shares of the railroad equipment companies, notably American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive, American Car & Foundry and General Electric were better by one point each, and leading steels, especially Bethlehem and Crucible, rose 2 points each.

Shipments and sugars were strongest of the less conspicuous stocks and oils continued their brisk upward movement of recent days under lead of Pacific Oil, in which the first sale consisted of a block of 110 shares. Transactions in the first half hour were estimated at 200,000 shares.

Government Was Ready

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Complete plans to avert the most serious handicaps of the threatened railroad strike, which was called off last night, had been made by the government while the strike still appeared a certainty, District Attorney Clyne made known today.

Application for injunctions restraining the brotherhood chiefs from carrying out the strike with orders necessary to conduct these proceedings were in the hands of district attorneys throughout the country, ready to be presented in federal courts.

The applications were drafted by Attorney General Daugherty at a conference with five district attorneys earlier in the week.

The government program included two actions to prevent a tieup in transportation and a third looking to the punishment of strike leaders through indictments for conspiring against the public.

These were to be presented to the court 24 hours before the time the strike was scheduled to begin.

Telegraphers Call Off Strike

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28.—E. J. Maunton, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, today sent coded telegrams to general chairmen of the order on the various railroads informing them officially that the strike, scheduled for Oct. 30, had been called off.

TAX REVISION BILL

Profits of Corporations
Beaten in Senate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—An unsuccessful fight was made yesterday in the senate to write into the tax revision bill a provision to tax the undistributed profits of corporations. Three separate amendments proposing such a tax were rejected, one without roll-call.

Also without a record vote the senate voted down an amendment by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, which would have authorized the secretary of the treasury to refund the $11,000,000 of foreign debts into long-term bonds the interest on which would be payable next January 1.

All of these amendments were on the session dealing with the corporation income tax, but the revision finally was passed over until tomorrow, when the senate will consider an amendment by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, proposing a graduated tax on corporations instead of the flat tax of 15 per cent. recommended by the finance committee. The first proposition to tax undistributed profits of corporations was offered by Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, who urged its adoption in a two-hour speech, delivered mostly to empty seats. The amendment provided that instead of a 15 per cent. tax there should be levied on the undistributed profits a graduated tax beginning at 5 per cent. on the first 10 per cent. of income and ending at 50 per cent. on the amount of income over 60 per cent.

This amendment was rejected, 15 to 24, four republicans, Kenyon, La Follette, Norbeck and Norris—voting for it, and three democrats—Gerry, Hitchcock and Pomeroy—voting against it.

Senator Simmons, democrat, of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the finance committee, proposed then that in addition to a flat tax of 15 per cent. there should be imposed a graduated tax on undistributed profits, which he said would average about 9 per cent. and yield about $100,000,000. This amendment was rejected, 49 to 29, four republicans—Kenyon, La Follette, Nelson and Norbeck—supporting it, and one democrat—Kellar—against it.

Senator Jones then offered an amendment calling for a 10 per cent. flat tax and a levy on undistributed profits at the rate in his original amendment. This was rejected without a roll-call.

As no other cases were on the docket for today, court was adjourned until 10 o'clock Monday morning.

PERFECT DISTILLERY IN

QUINCY'S BIGGEST RAID

QUINCY, Oct. 28.—When the name of Joseph Delevitch was called in district court yesterday he failed to appear and a default was declared against him. Later he sent word through counsel that he was unable to be present and Judge Avery continued the case till Nov. 1.

Delevitch was arrested at 90 Broadway Wednesday night in the biggest liquor raid ever held in this city. The police, under inspectors John F. Larkin, in charge of the liquor squad of the city, seized three stills, 25 gallons of "moonshine," three gas stoves, 50 barrels of mash and distillery odds and ends that filled several patrol wagons. The police say that Delevitch was found in the two upper rooms and attic, where the stills were set up, and was cleaning out one of them when arrested. The other two stills, according to the police, were in operation. It was estimated that each still was capable of turning out from 15 to 25 gallons of whiskey a day.

According to the police, Delevitch said he was not the proprietor of the place but was simply hired to work there by the day, and that he got $40 a week for his services. He said he was a tailor and lived at 4 Wilson st., Dorchester. An examination showed that the stills were fitted with devices for eliminating the fuel oil in the whiskey so that the product was ready for drinking as soon as it was made. At that, the police said, the product was so powerful that it would require a good deal of weakening to make it safe to drink in any appreciable quantity.

The 25 gallons of the finished product that were found by the police were perfectly transparent and looked like spring water. The officers found a peculiar coloring matter, one drop of which, the police said, would color a gallon of the whiskey. But this coloring matter had not been added when the police made their unexpected call.

The police said that it was evident the whole apparatus had been set up by men who understood the distilling of whiskey and that the advice of chemists or others familiar with whiskey making had been secured to insure the proper working of the outfit. As far as the police could find out, most of the product of this still was sent outside of Quincy for sale. Inspector Larkin was complimented by Chief Goodhue on the success of the raid, which was by far the largest single raid ever conducted in Quincy.

MORE THAN HALF OF FAMILIES RENT HOMES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—More than half of the 24,351,576 families in the United States in 1920 were living in rented homes, according to Census Bureau enumeration results made public today.

The number of families renting their homes was 12,944,593, compared with 10,366,560 who owned their homes. Of the owned homes 6,325,115 were free from encumbrance and $459,335 were encumbered, while for the remaining $55,248 the status of encumbrance was not reported.

The bureau's statement said the term home, as employed in the report, signified "the abiding place of a single family and did not, therefore, necessarily denote an entire dwelling which may house a number of families, as in the case of an apartment building."

EX-SERVICE MEN'S DISABILITY CLAIMS

Ex-service men of Lowell and near-by towns holding disability claims against the government will receive an opportunity to tell their stories and be given proper adjustment when the so-called clean-up squad of the U. S. veterans' bureau will sit in this city four days beginning Nov. 7. Arrangements for this visit were recently completed between representatives of the local post of the American Legion, the Red Cross and the advance agent of the Veterans' bureau. The clean-up squad will have headquarters in the Red Cross rooms and will be in session from 9 in the morning till 6 in the afternoon. The squad will serve disabled veterans from Lowell, Dracut, Tyngsboro, Dunstable, Littleton, Westford, Carlisle, Chelmsford, Billerica, Bedford, Hurlington, Tewksbury and Wilmington.

Any veteran of the world war who wishes to file a disability claim, whose claim has been adjusted dissatisfactorily to him or who wishes any information in regard to compensation, vocational training, medical treatment or government insurance should not fail to appear before the squad while it is here for it is not known when such an opportunity will be presented again. The government is especially desirous of reaching those ex-service men who are ignorant of their rights to claim disability compensation, medical treatment or training. The clean-up squad will be made up of a claims examiner, a medical examiner, a compensation expert, a vocational training officer in addition to representatives of the Legion, the Red Cross and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Why Chaplin, Mary Pickford, Fairbanks and Hart Are Famous

ERNEST TRUEX AS THE HERO OF HIS FOOTBALL MOVIE, "LITTLE BIG BOY."

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 27—This is a preachment on greatness.

The four most popular motion picture players of the day are Charles Chaplin, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and William S. Hart.

This, considering the world at large, in any one community some other player may have a greater following. But attendance figures "from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand" prove that the above four are the most popular.

Paradoxical as it may seem, their greatness lies mostly in their humility. They do not consider themselves greater than their art. As times have changed, as the public taste in entertainment has changed in the past decade, they have changed.

The tragedy of many players, who once were in higher favor than any of these, was their false valuation of their own importance to their art and to their public.

These fallen idols did not advance when the art of the cinema advanced. They did not change when customs changed. Consequently they were discarded like antiquated clothes.

It has been my good fortune to have spent at least several hours with each of the famous four.

Each of them was democratic. Each welcomed criticism of their work.

Each seemed seriously intent upon catching a glimpse of life from all its many angles.

Mary and Doug spend several hours a day in academic studies.

Chaplin sneaked off the other day to see the prisoners at Sing Sing when not a publicity man or reporter was about.

Bill Hart has spent 18 years studying the life of Patrick Henry whose life he will portray in his next film the most pretentious of his career.

Chaplin, Pickford, Fairbanks and Hart are great because they are industrious, sincere, humble and vitally interested in their fellow men.

The same virtues were attributes of Lincoln, Roosevelt and all other great characters of all time.

CHARGE COURT OFFICER WITH TAKING BRIBE

BOSTON, Oct. 25—Application for a warrant charging Daniel Thompson, a superior-court officer, with accepting a bribe in a corridor of the post-office building, will be made today before United States Commissioner Hayes.

Thompson was arrested yesterday by Special Officer Manning of Court-square station after Harry Poorvu, it is alleged, told Police Captain Kneeland that Thompson offered to get him a verdict of from $3500 to $4200 in a case before a jury in a civil session if he would pay $200.

Poorvu, according to the police, was notified to go through with the transaction and after visiting a bank drew four $50 bills, and brought them to Station 2, where Captain Kneeland took the money. Poorvu left the station house, trailed by special officers Manning and Brennan and they followed him to the postoffice.

After the police claim the money had passed, the officers arrested court officer Thompson and he was taken to Station 2.

Following the arrest, Chief Justice Bolster of the municipal court granted a warrant against Thompson, but this was withdrawn and Officer Manning was instructed to take the matter to the Federal authorities when he told the court that the alleged transaction took place on government property.

An effort to secure a federal warrant late yesterday afternoon failed because of the absence of Commissioner Hayes, but Thompson was given his liberty in $1000 bonds for his appearance before Commissioner Hayes yesterday, following a conference Wednesday, between Officer Manning and Assistant United States District Attorney Joseph V. Carroll.

Thompson's arrest caused considerable excitement at the court house in Pemberton square.

The money alleged to have been passed in the federal building is said to have consisted of four $50 bills, the numbers of which had been recorded by Capt. Kneeland, it is claimed.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Oct. 25.—A live South Carolina opossum and a bushel of sweet potatoes were given President Harding last night when the presidential special stopped here en route to Washington. Secretary Christian accepted the gifts for the president, who had retired.

DISABLED EX-SERVICE MEN'S CLAIMS

A speedy adjustment of disabled ex-service men's claims in this district will be made soon when the government "clean up squad" will visit the city on November 7. Headquarters will be established at a place to be announced later.

The squad will look into cases from Lowell, Dunstable, Tyngsboro, Dracut, Westford, Littleton, Chelmsford, Carlisle, Billerica, Tewksbury, Bedford, Burlington and Wilmington.

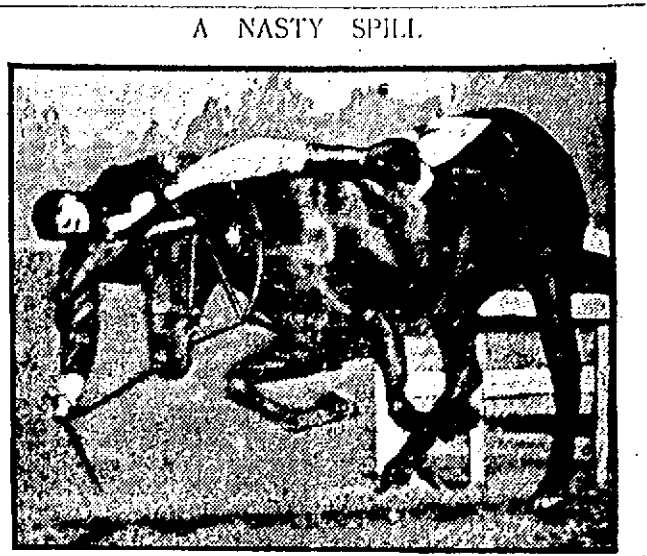

The squad will be made up of a claim examiner, compensation expert, vocational training officer, medical examiner and representatives of the Red Cross, American Legion, and Veterans of Foreign Wars. The purpose of the squad is to connect with proper governmental agency all disabled ex-service men whose cases are unknown to local authorities and who are ignorant of their rights.

FEDERAL SHOE COMPANY BUSY

The textile industry occupied the foreground in a story in The Sun yesterday relative to improved business conditions and rapidly growing output. Today the shoe industry comes to the front. In fact there is one leading shoe concern in the city that believes the shoe output of its factory leads in proportion to that of the textile business.

Daniel W. Shanahan, superintendent of the Federal Shoe Co., stated today that this concern never employed as many hands as at present and is turning out more shoes than it ever has since the company started manufacturing footwear in Lowell. Perhaps what is most responsible for the increased business is the fact that a branch factory of the Federal Shoe Co. at Stoneham has been recently sold and the orders that were usually filled there have been transferred to the local plant. At the Stoneham factory women's shoes were made, but since that was closed those shoes are being made here, whereas before only boys' footwear was being manufactured. Until a week or so ago this company never employed more than 400 hands, but today, owing to the added business, there are 700 men and women employed, an increase that has alleviated the unemployment situation to some extent. Mr. Shanahan states that only Lowell people are put to work, thus giving the preference to home help over factory hands from other shoe cities. Working full time and often overtime, the plant is turning out 1000 pairs of shoes a day, a mark never reached before. Perhaps what is most encouraging is the optimistic view held by Sept. Shanahan who stoutly maintains that he feels this prosperous condition will continue all year around with no let-up whatever during the shoe industry. He felt that business conditions in general were gradually becoming adjusted and stated that within a short time the serious unemployment situation facing the country would subside.

C. C. Ellis caught by the photographer just as he was thrown from his mount, "Godiva," in the meet at Okauchina, Chicago. Six horses avoided him as he lay on the ground unconscious.

READY-TO-WEAR OVERCOATS

Made in my own shop during the dull months of August and September. There are times in a tailor shop when coat makers get caught up—as they call it—and it is a case of lay him off or give him something to do. I don't want to lay off my men, neither can I afford to pay them for idle hours. The making of READY-TO-WEAR overcoats solves the problem. The plan enables me to quote lower prices for made-to-measure and to sell ready-to-wear for less than actual cost. All these garments are Hand Tailored, some are all lined, others are one-half satin lined. I have them in one-half belts, whole belts, with patch and bellows pockets, ulsterette, plain and raglan effects. PETITION FOR REMOVAL
OF PELLETIER

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Attorney General J. Weston Allen filed in the supreme judicial court yesterday afternoon a petition for the removal of Joseph C. Pelletier from the office of district attorney of Suffolk county. The order of notice is for November 14.

Mr. Allen alleges that District Attorney Pelletier conspired with Daniel H. Conkley, William J. Corcoran, ex-district attorney of Middlesex county, and others to extort large sums of money by threats of criminal prosecution; that he wilfully abused the authority of his office and permitted it to become the instrument of fraud and extortion; that he failed to prosecute or not proceed cases from improper motives; and that he allowed his office to be used by certain persons to force the settlement of civil claims.

Arraigned by Sheldon

is not a joint petitioner with the attorney general as was originally planned, the petition is accompanied by the affidavit of ex-supreme Court Justice Henry N. Sheldon, chairman of the sub-committee of the Association of the Grievance committee, whose report was sent to Mr. Allen a month ago.

Judge Sheldon declares in this affidavit that the result of the sub-committee's investigation reveals "a condition of affairs relating to the prosecution of criminal cases in Suffolk county which is inimical to the public interests and the administration of justice."

The petition is the second petition for the removal of a district attorney which Mr. Allen has filed in the last six months. The first was against Nathan A. Tuffs as district attorney of Middlesex and resulted in Mr. Tuffs' removal on October 1.

The petition for the removal of Mr. Pelletier—like that for the removal of Mr. Tuffs—is brought under the statute which provides that a majority of the justices of the supreme court may, if sufficient cause is shown, and the public good requires, remove a district attorney.

Thirty-five Allegations
The general charges of misfeasance, malfeasance and nonfeasance are made against Mr. Pelletier. There are 35 allegations in all. Six cases are cited by name. They are the Emerson Motors case and the cases of Warren C. Daniel, Dorothy Cole and Agnes J. Smith, in all of which Mr. Conkley is named as a co-conspirator, the Emery case in which Mr. Pelletier is charged with conspiracy with Mr. Conkley and Mr. Corcoran, and the case of Merrill W. Shule.

Pelletier Replies
BOSTON, Oct. 25.—District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier, in a statement issued after Attorney General Allen's petition for removal was filed yesterday, sets forth copies of a finding of Judge Goff of the supreme court of New York and a letter of Judge Martin of the United States circuit court of New York, who sat at the trial of the Emerson Motors case.

Judge Goff's decision exonerates Amos H. Stephens, attorney for the Emerson Motors Co., whose disbarment was sought by the New York Bar association.

Judge Martin's letter addressed to Mr. Pelletier, expresses satisfaction that the Goff decision clears the Boston district attorney.

HARDING RETURNS
FROM THE SOUTH
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—President Harding returned to Washington from his southern trip at 11 a. m. today, his special train completing a run from Atlanta, Ga., in two hours less than the scheduled time of the Southern Railway's Limited.

The presidential special, which left Atlanta at 6 p. m. central time, yesterday, made no stops on the way except to change engines.

Immediately on his arrival the president motored to the White House for the regular Friday cabinet meeting.

HAYS HURT IN TRAIN COLLISION

Postmaster General and Score
of Passengers on Midnight
Express Badly Shaken Up

Hays Fears Chief Inspector
Severely Injured

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Postmaster General Hays and a score of passengers on the midnight express of the Pennsylvania line for Washington were badly shaken up early this morning when the express crashed, in a heavy fog, into the rear of a local train at the Manhattan transfer in New Jersey.

Pennsylvania officials declare there have been no serious injuries although Mr. Hays expressed fear that Rush Simmons, chief inspector of the post office department, who had been here with Mr. Hays investigating the $1,500,000 mail robbery, had been more seriously hurt than this report indicated. He said he saw Mr. Simmons being treated at Manhattan transfer, and that he appeared to be severely hurt.

Mr. Hays and a number of other passengers on the express were brought back to New York on an inbound train. A physician, who examined the postmaster general, said that aside from some strained muscles and a general shaking up, he had suffered no harm.

Describing the crash, Mr. Hays said he was just dozing off in his berth when he felt a shock which hurtled him to the floor. Several others in his car also were pitched from their berths, he added.

At Mr. Hays' hotel it was announced that the postmaster general was resting comfortably but would hold in abeyance plans to return to Washington. It was said that Mr. Hays would undergo an X-ray examination during the day, although his injuries were believed to be superficial.

The only seriously injured person was Mrs. Ethel Moore of Asbury Park, who suffered from an injury at the base of the skull. Twenty-one other passengers on the train were slightly injured.

DEMONSTRATED BOSTON TRAFFIC SIGNALS

The Boston traffic signals, which have been adopted as standard for the state, and which are to be demonstrated by Officer P. P. Langille, of the Boston traffic squad at the Merrimack valley conference of traffic officers held at the rooms of the Lawrence chamber of commerce this afternoon do not differ much from those in use in the larger cities of the state.

Instructions are explicit, however, that a signal is to be given but once, and never changed when once given. One reason for this is the nervous strain that comes to the traffic officer who makes half a dozen motions of the hand and arm for every signal. An investigation covering this point has shown that the efficiency of such an officer is impaired before his time is up on his post, and his patience more readily in dealing with motorists.

A uniform angle of 45 degrees is also required for nearly all signals. For example: to stop traffic approaching from the right, the right arm is raised at an angle of 45 degrees, palm of the hand toward the vehicle to be stopped. To release traffic approaching from the right, the officer looks over his right shoulder, raises his right arm, palm front, to an angle of 45 degrees, and signals forward by bringing the arm to the front. To warn pedestrians right and left, both arms are raised horizontal, with the shoulders, the palms of the hands toward the pedestrians; and to release pedestrians, the arms are again raised, with palms front, and then bent at the elbows toward the center of the chest. In all there are ten signals used.

One of the speakers announced for the Friday conference, which is open to the general public, is Albert W. Devine, state headlight inspector, who says that 10,000 autos in the state have been reported already as not complying with the new headlight requirement. He will tell what is causing the trouble.

PLANT PESTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 28.—Five plant pests that live on diet of three-inch planks have been segregated by Prof. Walter H. Shell of the botany department at Brown university, in the course of a special investigation of the cause of rot in the roofs of New England weaver sheds.

The plants are being carefully nurtured at the Brown university laboratory on their favorite varieties of lumber. They are asphyxiated, the scientist name for plant vegetarians, and their most vicious member is called Leptocarpus.

The fungi's choice of weaver sheds, large one story buildings with saw-tooth roofs in the cotton mills where yarns are woven, has been found to be not entirely an accident. Cotton yarn handles best when it is damp. For that reason humbly and carefully supply humidity in the weaver sheds, and in so doing, make the weaver shed a cozy incubator for the fungi.

The roof, usually built of three-inch planks makes an excellent condenser. The moisture of the air not only forms in minute drops on the under side of the roof, but thoroughly permeates the plankings. That it has been found, is exactly what Leptocarpus wants. It, and his family of fungi, secrete juices which dissolve the wood.

Certain woods seem to be naturally resistant—woods that are heavy and resinous, like southern pine, or the red-wood family. For some reason, at present undetermined, Leptocarpus does not like them. But they are expensive. The common New England woods can be made unpalatable for lepid by impregnating them with coal tar, creosote or sodium fluoride. Unfortunately, coal tar creosote is oily and has an unpalatable odor, and sodium fluoride is very expensive.

Dr. Shell reports that he is working on a method of roof construction that will cut down roof-dampness and allow creosote to be used without danger of dripping on the looms below. If successful, his investigation may mean a large saving in roof replacements to mill owners.

BACK YARD FIRE COST HIM $100

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Rigid enforcement of the law which prohibits setting of fires in backyards and similar places, except with the written permission of the head of the local fire department or a state forestry official, it became known today.

As the first step in their campaign, the state authorities yesterday prosecuted a Plainville man who attempted to burn up some rubbish in his back yard last Sunday. The fire got beyond his control, and burned over an area of 600 acres, entailing a property damage of at least $10,000. He was fined $100.

With leaves falling in great quantities from the trees, and with the stalks and vines from last summer's gardens awaiting destruction, the forestry officials anticipate that many householders will attempt to start fires in yards, and in many instances, in the public streets, in order to remove such unsightly refuse.

The law prohibits such fires, however, unless a person has obtained from the chief of the fire department a permit for each fire which he starts. The only exception is that debris may be burned on ploughed ground, provided the fire is kept at certain specified distances from buildings. The statute is found in section 13 of chapter 48 of the General Laws, and reads as follows:

"No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between March 1st and December 1st, except by written permission of the state fire marshal, within the metropolitan fire prevention district, as defined in section 28 of chapter 148, or, outside thereof, of the forest warden or chief of the fire department in cities and towns, or, in cities having such an officer, in the city having such an officer."

FARMER'S WIFE WAS ACTUALLY STARVING

SOMETIMES I WONDER HOW I LIVED THROUGH IT, SAYS MRS. PETERSON

Declaring she was actually starving to keep from suffering awful misery, Mrs. Amy Peterson, wife of a prosperous farmer of Lakeville, Mass., gave out a remarkable statement, recently, in connection with her relief through the use of Tanlac.

"Sometimes I wonder how I lived through it all," she said. "I would have attacks of acute indigestion nearly every time I ate anything. Those terrible cramping pains and the distress from gas and bloating were almost unbearable and I just thought there was no hope for me."

"But now I'm eating anything and I feel as strong and well as I ever felt in my life. I've gained back all the weight I lost and six pounds besides and I know from my experience what Tanlac will do. It's the best medicine in the world."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. P. Paine, Middlebury, Vt.; Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

cial, the fire commissioner, provided, that debris from fields, gardens and orchards, and leaves and rubbish from yards, may be burned on ploughed fields by the owners thereof, their agents or lessees, if such fire is at least two hundred feet distant from any sprout or forest land and at least fifty feet distant from any building and is properly attended until extinguished; and provided, further, that persons above the age of eighteen may set or maintain a fire for a reasonable purpose upon sandy land, or upon soil marshes or sandy or rocky beaches bordering on tide water, if the fire is enclosed within rocks, metal or other non-inflammable material. The forest wardens in towns and officials, performing the duties of forest wardens in cities shall cause public notice to be given of the provisions of this section, and shall enforce the same. Whoever violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one month, or both."

The forestry officials, in discussing the situation today, said conditions in the woods are still very critical, because of the prolonged drought of the summer and fall. It was feared that fifty separate forest fires were reported as having broken out on Sunday last.

ST. PATRICK'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

It was announced yesterday by Rev. Francis L. Keenan, spiritual director of St. Patrick's Holy Name society that a number of monthly meetings would be held this year in the same manner as last year, with well known speakers from all parts of Massachusetts providing. Some educational speakers will also be engaged.

A great number of men from all over Lowell were attracted to the meetings last year, which were held in St. Patrick's school hall.

All efforts of the society, at the present time are being concentrated on a membership campaign which ends after the three-day retreat that will begin Thursday, Nov. 24. One of the most noted mission preachers of the country, Fr. Bonaventure, C.P., will preach this retreat. A reception will be held Sunday afternoon, Nov. 27, and it is expected that nearly 1000 new members will be enrolled by that time.

MUSTN'T OVERSTEP MARK ON HALLOWEEN

Lowell boys and girls can have their fun at Halloween provided they limit their fun to innocent merrymaking. For if any are caught destroying property or in any way infringing on the law they will be prosecuted, Halloween or no Halloween. Superintendent of Police Redmond Welch announced today. Officers have been ordered to see that the celebrations respect the provisions of the law and that private citizens be protected against any vandalism that might be indulged in by some persons overzealous to observe the occasion. The chief warns that window breaking, pulling off blinds, gates, clothes lines and the like and other such petty offenses will not be tolerated and those who are caught will be made to feel the harshness of the law.

IF YOUR FRIENDS ARE EATING YEAST

THEY WILL BE GLAD TO KNOW THAT THEY CAN GET VITAMINS AT DRUG STORE

EASY TO TAKE—RESULTS QUICK—BETTER FOR YOU

So many people are eating yeast, such as bread, etc., and drinking quarts of milk each day in search of vitamins that the chemists have perfected a tiny tablet containing a proper dose of both Water and Fat Soluble Vitamins in highly concentrated form. The tablets are more economical, less bother, easier to take and agree with the stomach better.

The reason people want Vitamins is because Vitamins bring more strength, weight, color, freedom from boils, carbuncles, pimples, etc. Doctors say most of us need more Vitamins than we get in a regular meal, and it is simply amazing what these Phos-Pho Vitamins can do for you. They get Vitamins also from hulls of rice, and mix the concentrated elements together into a proper dose—add Glycerol-phosphates, etc., and you get a tiny tablet a scientifically compounded tablet that does amazing and most unusual things for men and women who are weak, thin, pale, undernourished.

Local druggists recommend this new, powerful way to take Vitamins and you can get a bottle of sixty Phos-Pho Vitamins tablets at the nearest drug store or send $1.00 plus 4c war tax to Irving Laboratory, Wheeling, W. Va.—Adv.

RESERVE SUPPLY OF COMMODITIES

Alton E. Briggs, secretary of the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange, told the Men of the Round Table at the First Baptist church last evening that there is in Greater Boston a reserve supply of commodities to feed everybody for about 60 days even if every means of transportation of normal supplies were cut off. He stated that the Boston foodstuff merchants are devising plans whereby no one will be made to suffer during the transportation crisis, should such come to pass. He admitted that New England was chiefly dependent for its food supply on transportation, the great west supplying the greatest amount of provisions. Mr. Briggs dwelt on cold storage as the solution of maintaining a reserve supply in proper condition, stating that it is a serious problem to conserve part of the goods daily received while the demand remains at a high level. As for the manner in which foodstuffs are distributed from Boston to various parts of the district, Secretary Briggs said that 90 per cent now are transported in motor trucks.

FOR ENDURING AMITY

Pres. Harding Preaches Gospel of Understanding and Good Will at Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 28.—A gospel of understanding and good will, not only binding north and south in closer union, but bringing all the nations of the world into co-operation and enduring amity, was preached by President Harding yesterday in an address here, outlining some of his conceptions of the coming armament conference.

Speaking at the statue of Henry W. Grady, southern apostle of national reunion, the president declared "America would enter the conference so imbued with the desire for international friendship that the blame must rest elsewhere should the negotiations for reduction of armament result in failure."

As Grady counseled reconciliation for a war-torn nation, said Mr. Harding, so would the United States plead that a disrupted world turn into the paths of peace to seek salvation. Such a leadership, he added, was possible without jealousy to national safety or reversal of the established traditions of the republic.

Ready to Offer Helping Hand

"I believe it wholly consistent," the president said, "to preach peace and its triumphs in that convincing sincerity which an unselfish nation commands, and yet make sure about our proper defense."

"Manifestly, mankind is disposed to try that experiment. If, trying it, nations shall fail, it will be no fault of the United States of America. We are ready to offer a helping hand in the new path. We have tendered our invitation and the cordial acceptance which has come from every quarter leads to earnest hope of good results. We Americans have learned the lesson, on both the national and world scale, we fought our war of sections and systems, and decided forever in favor of peace and unity. Our own experience has taught us that we may hope that a like decision will be reached by a world reasoning amid the convulsions which follow in the wake of a tragedy supreme."

Praises Grady and Roosevelt

With his praise of Grady the president coupled a tribute to Theodore Roosevelt of whose Georgia lineage he declared the whole south should be proud. The address follows in part:

"To come to Georgia is to come to the heart of the south. To come to Georgia on this, of all days of the year—the birthday of Roosevelt—is to realize that the heart of the south throbs for all the nation. To the making of that typical American of the new era went equally the warmer strains of the old south and the sturdy stock that gave the nation its empire state."

"So it is good, in greeting you men and women of Georgia, to recall the career of that outstanding American who in his life, as in his lineage, taught us how much we are prospered and exalted because of being united. And, coming thus among you, it is particularly a satisfaction to speak from the shadow of the shaft which you have reared to the memory of one who taught a reunited nation its duties, its obligations, its possibilities. For I recall the thrill with which I read, as a young man, the address of Henry W. Grady to the New England club; that most famous oration, I think, of its generation; that inspiring call to a nation to awaken to itself, to understand that its yesterday was dead, its tomorrow pregnant with magnificent opportunity."

"If ever one man was ordained to speak with the tongue of conviction and the voice of a great people that man was Grady."

"It has seemed to me, many times in the period since the world war ended, that the world at large might well let us show it the marvel which was wrought through a reunited and restored America. Because there was the will to get down to work, to cease repining and regrets, we have among us erected here, out of the wreckage that our war wrought, a country in which we may fitly take the pride which every American feels."

"Who would have ours less than the great, rich, progressive, powerful and enlightened America, which we justly boast today; who would have it less a figure in the world than it has been in these years of crisis and disaster? What friend of civilization, of Christianity, of human advancement, would have wished our part less than it has been? Who among us all is not proud that we were able to participate very notably in the rescue of humanity in the struggle which menaced its very existence? Who would have us relinquish now our service for a better civilization?"

All Prefer Peace to War

"I believe, for instance, that every family which has lost a member in the struggle to save mankind from absolutism; every citizen-soldier, who has given years and outpourings to that cause; every gold star mother or maimed veteran will agree that peace is preferable to war, and that to train a world in ways of peace is better than to prepare it for war. I would not have you misinterpret it, however, as wholly consistent to preach peace and its triumphs in that convincing sincerity which an unselfish nation commends and yet make sure about our proper defense.

"It should not be needful for me to repeat that, in whatever contribution we can make to the establishment of a better order, we shall not surrender any of our national independence, or America will be for America first; but ever righteous aspirations impelling it will never be a merely selfish America, imagining to prosper by the misfortune of others. It will stand for the co-operations, the actual helpfulness, the wide perceptions which mankind needs to cheer and speed it on the way to the brighter and better realm of peace restored and eternally assured of progress resumed. Higher attainments."

Is your appetite uncertain—your digestion impaired?

Why the food we eat may fail to keep us fit

ONE single food element essential to health. We now know that many of our inefficiencies and failures are really due to lack of a health-maintaining element in food—the water-soluble vitamin. Scientists are agreed that without this one food factor we lose appetite and weight and fall off in health.

This is why thousands of men and women who are eating otherwise good and wholesome meals find their energy and vigor slipping. And this is also why many have little appetite and remain in a state of lowered vitality.

Today Fleischmann's Yeast is recommended as a corrective food for overcoming these difficulties, for Fleischmann's Yeast has been discovered to be a rich source of the essential vitamins we need throughout life.

Fleischmann's Yeast is a wholesome, fresh food, assimilated like any other food. Eat it at any time, 2 to 3 cakes a day. You will like its fresh, distinctive flavor and the clean taste it leaves in your mouth.

Have it on the table at home and try it as a sandwich filler or spread on crackers. Have it at your office and eat it at your desk. It is good in milk, and many like it just plain. If troubled with gas dissolve it first in very hot water. This does not affect the efficacy of the yeast. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast and get it fresh daily.

Send 4c in stamps for the booklet, "The New Importance of Yeast in Diet." So many inquiries are coming in daily for this booklet that it is necessary to make this nominal charge to cover cost of handling and mailing. Address THE FLEISCHMANN COMPANY, 701 Washington Street, New York, N. Y.

The need for scientifically tested yeast

Fresh yeast has been proved by recent scientific tests to be a valuable food for correcting run-down condition, indigestion and certain skin disorders. These original tests were all made with Fleischmann's Yeast. Beware of untested yeast-vitamins preparations that contain drugs or other mixtures. Fleischmann's Yeast (fresh) is a pure food, rich in vitamins, in which it measures up to the high standards set by laboratories and hospitals. The familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label is the only form in which Fleischmann's Yeast for Health is sold.

REV. P. J. McGRATH, O.M.I., TELLS OF PRESENT CONDITIONS IN IRELAND

Clergyman, Formerly Stationed Here, Says Irish People Solid Behind De Valera--British Rule Overthrown--White Cross Praised--Heroism of Irish Mothers

Rev. Patrick J. McGrath, O.M.I., who will be remembered as having been stationed at the Immaculate Conception church some 14 years ago, was a visitor in Lowell this week on his return from Ireland, where he spent the last four months. He went to Ireland in June and visited practically all of the leading cities, including Belfast, Dublin, Cork, Limerick, and Galway. Asked as to the present economic condition of Ireland the reverend gentleman said: "It is remarkably good considering what the country has gone through. It is true that the people were unable to attend to their business as usual and that the village of the and suffered accordingly and in some districts much more so than in others; but on the whole it is really surprising that the people have come through their terrible struggle as successfully as they did. The crops this year suffered somewhat on account of the long continued drought, but in spite of this, the various crops show a very fair return."

Wonderful Spirit of the People

In reference to the spirit of the people and whether they are discouraged, Fr. McGrath stated that he never knew a people to be more united or more determined to win national freedom than are the Irish people of today. The national spirit, he said, is really magnificent. Various things among them was, of course, the brutal treatment of the young men who took part in the rising of 1916; then the withdrawal of the home rule act, and subsequently the indignity offered the rev. Dr. Mannix, and finally the ravages of the Black and Tan, by which England hoped to terrorize the entire people and cause them to abandon the struggle. The result was just the opposite of what England expected, not only the young men and old men, but a fighting mood, but even the women were ready to take the field against the marauders who came in the dead of night to rifle their homes and take young men out and shoot them at their own doors.

Heroic Mothers

As an instance of the spirit shown by the women of Ireland, Fr. McGrath mentioned the case of a young man who had been arrested without any apparent reason so far as his relatives could learn. He was taken to the police station in his own town and kept there for two days, while the officers endeavored to extort information from him relative to the movements of the republican army. His mother went to the police station to find what he was arrested for and to see if he was to be set at liberty. She was told that he would be allowed to go to his home if he signed a paper stating that he would have no more connection with the republican army or any movement in favor of the Irish republic.

The mother thereupon asked to see the boy and in the presence of officers told him that if he signed the paper they were to submit to him, he might not return home as she would disown him. To which the boy replied: "Mother, you know I never would sign any such paper." Fr. McGrath visited Dublin before the truce was declared and attended meetings at the mansion house, in which the leaders of the Irish movement transacted business in the open. He was astonished at the display of bayonets and military equipment wherever way one turned. At more ears seemed to be everywhere with their guns pointing in all directions; and at street corners, military companies stood with bayonets fixed and ready for action, but the people moved along through the streets entirely indifferent to their presence. In one case a military company standing by an armoured car asked a young man who was passing for some cigarettes. He said he had none except the one he was smoking, but that he would go and find them some. He went off and soon returned with a package which he threw into the middle of the group and it proved to be a bomb that killed four of the men and did serious damage to the armoured car.

British System Overthrown

What is plainly evident, Fr. McGrath said, is the total breakdown of the British system in Ireland outside of Ulster, of course. The republican government is functioning perfectly and wherever the Royal Irish constabulary appears, they simply move about without interfering with the people in any way, knowing that this is the safer course.

Some people representing England have intimated that in a plebiscite on home rule the people would break away from their leaders, but this, said Fr. McGrath, is utterly untrue. "I believe," he said, "that in a plebiscite today, even Ulster would sustain the republican leaders. British rule is absolutely overthrown in Ireland and it can never be restored unless the people are exterminated."

Fr. McGrath stated that wherever he went he found the people of Ireland deeply grateful for the assistance rendered them in the struggle by their friends in America. The White Cross did splendid work and its services are everywhere appreciated and applauded.

STRUCK BY MOTOR TRUCK

John H. Sullivan, of 44 Edison street, reported to the police today that while driving a truck for McCarthy Bros. of Broadway, on Rock street, yesterday a man who gave his name as Walter Taylor, of Pepperell, stepped in front of the vehicle and was struck and knocked down by the mudguard. Sullivan removed Taylor, who was slightly hurt, to the Corporation hospital.

LEGION'S WOMEN ALSO TO MEET

MISS PAULINE CURNICK KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 28.—Miss Curnick will entertain the first annual convention of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, Nov. 1 and 2.

at Kansas City. More than 1000 delegates and 3000 guests, representing every state in the Union and Hawaii, will attend.

One year ago the Women's Auxiliary had no permanent organization; it was an intangible, miscellaneous organization of relatives of ex-service men who desired to aid the American Legion in its work for the relief of veterans of the world war.

Today the auxiliary has 35 departments with 10 more in process of formation; its numbers of units has increased from 1242 to 3600 since Jan. 1, 1921; its membership has grown more than 200 per cent during the year.

To effect a permanent organization will be the main feature of the first convention this year. To decide on a permanent name, and to pass upon the qualifications for eligibility, and other policies connected with the organization will be foremost issues at the sessions. National officers will be elected and the future activities outlined.

WILL REORGANIZE FALL RIVER MILLS

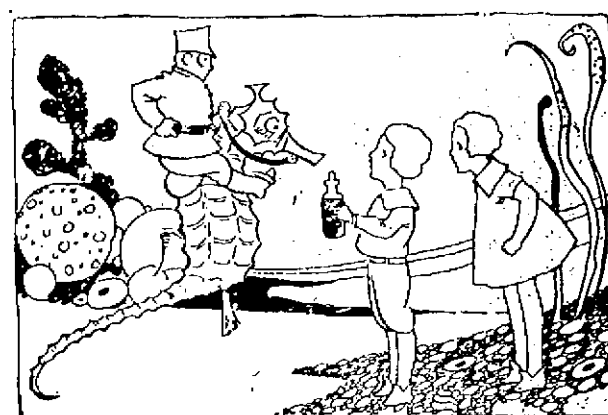

FALL RIVER, Oct. 25.—The stockholders of the Parker Mills voted unanimously at the annual meeting yesterday to adopt the plan for reorganization recommended by the directors. This includes recapitalization and purchasing the plant of the Hargrave mills. Both concerns are insolvent, but have been saved from enforced liquidation by the hope of the creditors that some way out other than enforced liquidation could be found. The two concerns had from their organizations been under one management, with Seth A. Borden, agent and treasurer. Last May he resigned and Benjamin B. Reed, treasurer of the Lincoln Manufacturing company, was elected to succeed him.

START NEW TECH BUILDING

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Ground was broken at Tech yesterday for a new laboratory, to be used by 27 army officers attending the Ordnance School of Application, which is being conducted for the government at the institute. The building is to be used for the testing of tractors, gas engines and tanks.

Adventures of The Twins

"WILL YOU PLEASE TELL US WHAT TO DO WITH THIS?"

The cuttlefish did as he was told and squirted a lot of black ink into the bottle that Nick was holding.

"There, now!" said Cap'n Pennywhiskle when it was full. "That ought to be enough to save three or four whales, big fellow and I want the Twins to save one."

"Whales?" cried out Mr. Cuttlefish in alarm. "Did you say whales, Cap'n Pennywhiskle?"

"Yes," answered the fairymen. "The sharks are planning to attack a nice big fellow and I want the Twins to save him. Have you any objection?"

"I don't know whether I have or not," replied the cuttlefish. "It depends upon the whale."

"How so?"

Cuttlefish shivered. "Why, if it's the sperm whale, the big one with sharp teeth, he's just waiting for a chance to make a dinner off me. Of course, if it's Mr. Whatebone Whale, I don't mind, for he hasn't any teeth, and his throat is too small to swallow so much as a herring, living on the finest sort of things. But those others! Light! They could swallow a church, although they never do, preferring cuttlefish."

Before the Cap'n could answer, Mr. Cuttlefish swam disgustedly away. As the fairymen said, the wiggly people were a queer lot anyway. It was always a case of dog out dog, or fish eat fish (which was the same thing) and he was going to save Mr. Whale if he could.

Nick held up his bottle of ink curiously. "Will you please tell us what to do with this?" he asked.

"It's very simple," answered the fairymen. "Cuttlefish ink is the blackest in the world. When the sharks come too near to Mr. Whale, take the cork out of your bottle and pour the ink into the sea."

TOLD HIS EXPERIENCE

Lowell Swimmer Tells Story of His Attempts to Negotiate English Channel

"Some day I'm going to tackle it again regardless of conditions and I have confidence of bringing this honor to Lowell," these were the closing words of Henry F. Sullivan, Lowell boy, whose attempts to swim the English channel have won him international recognition. In his address before the members of the local council, Knights of Columbus, in Associated building, last evening.

More than 200 members listened attentively to a vivid description of his latest trials to negotiate the channel, interestingly related by the man whose failures to succeed in the great task have only spurred him to new attempts.

Mr. Sullivan related in detail his trip from Lowell to England, his training for the great task, the tremendous odds he faced in the treacherous waters of the channel, and the number of courageous attempts he made in the face of almost hopeless success to cross the stretch of ocean between France and England.

His talk, starting shortly after 9 o'clock, followed a short business meeting of the council, the first one over which the newly elected grand knight, John Hart, presided. Little matters of importance were considered at the session other than plans for the lecture to be given on Nov. 2 by Peter Collins and the ladies' night to be held on the evening of Nov. 15.

Worthy lecturer John V. Donoghue escorted the noted swimmer to the platform amidst a thunder of applause from the audience who readily recognized the man whose courage and resolution have won for him commendation the country over. In a few well spoken words the lecturer presented Mr. Sullivan, referring to him as "the greatest athlete of all the great athletes, Lowell has produced." In a calm, clear tone of voice Mr. Sullivan began his story, telling briefly of his attempts to make the channel in years past.

"The first time I went over there," he said, "I was really a greenhorn. I really had no idea of the channel but simply felt that what one man could do, I could do. This year, instead, I went over with some knowledge of what I was going to attempt. Accompanied by John Conlon, of this city and Capt. N. L. Smith of Winthrop, to whom I am greatly responsible for my attempt and whose advice proved very valuable to me, I left Lowell July 11, going directly to New York, whence we sailed on the Mauretania three days later. The trip across the ocean took a week. Landing in Southampton we proceeded to London, and from there to Dover. I immediately started in training for I wanted to be in the best of condition. From July 22 to August 12 I swam 8 hours and walked 10 or 12 miles daily. We continually watched the action of the tide, which let me tell you is an unknown thing to Americans. Favorable tides only come in the channel every two weeks and the only time that the swim can be negotiated is when the tide is slackest.

"The tide was to come in on August 14 and we immediately went to Boulogne, France, where we registered at a small hotel. A peculiar and funny incident happened there. The woman who ran this hostelry first told us that she charged 75 francs a day for each person. But after we registered she changed her mind. Of course we set ourselves down in the hotel registered as 'Americans.' Soon as the woman noticed this, she remarked to the captain, who could speak a little French: 'Sorry, monsieur, for others the rate is 75 francs, but for Americans it is 100 francs. Others have coffee for breakfast, but the American eats eggs, steaks, milk. I must charge more.' So the fact that the Americans are reputed to be big eaters cost us a fortune at this hotel. But as it was the only one in the town we had to put up there."

"Then Mr. Sullivan described the channel and some of its peculiarities. He said that the channel is 21 miles wide and has cliffs extending over its sides ranging from 300 to 600 feet above the level. Under the cliffs there between two dories instead of, behind a boat as has been some time done.

"The channel water is 10 degrees colder than American waters," he told another inquirer, "and I could never stop to float myself, for if I did, my muscles would freeze and I could not start again."

He said he used the side stroke, that being the most adept movement for the channel and regarded a choppy sea more of disadvantage than a rough sea. In real rough water he would put on goggles to protect his eyes and at times would swim high using the breast stroke so as to avoid the heavy waves. The swimmer compared the channel attempt to a long marathon race in which if the racer relaxes he loses his stride and soon finds himself out of the running. "Once you start you must keep going at the same rate of speed," he stated, "for a rest to the muscles or slowness of speed would prove disastrous."

The renowned water athlete answered several other questions and at the end was given a rising vote of thanks for the fine manner in which he had delivered the account of his unusual experiences.

Original language of the New Testament was Greek.

To Run 44 Mills at Full Time

Famous Vienna Child Specialist Arrives

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Dr. Clemens Pirquet, famous Vienna child specialist, whose simple "pelidisi" formula for computing degrees of malnutrition, enabled the American relief administration to pick readily the most undernourished children in Austria at a time when every ration counted, arrived today on the Adriatic. He will deliver the Stillman course of lectures at Yale university this winter.

HENRY F. SULLIVAN

is about 1000 yards of area covered with round stones which are continually rolled around by the action of the tide. The breakwater at Dover he described as being one of the best pieces of work ever done. It is used as a harbor for the British fleet and he told of a horse and van containing eight persons being washed off the breakwater while he was there.

"On the 11th at 1 o'clock in the morning we made our first trial to get started. The boats with the Stars and Stripes floating from their masts were ready as were 16 English and French press representatives who were to be the official witnesses of the achievement. It is a necessity to have newspapermen of those nationalities because in England they never credit an American press man with telling the truth. This first attempt proved unsuccessful before we had gotten very far, for a rough sea suddenly came up and the boats had to put in at Calais. They were compelled to stay there four days, the bad weather preventing them from coming back to Boulogne. Just to give you an idea of the cost of the undertaking it cost us during the four days more than $1000 for expenses for the men in the party. And all this without even an actual trial. The next start was made on August 25. This time I took to the water but after 10 hours and 35 minutes I had to abandon the attempt, again because of the heavy sea. Again on Sept. 10 we attempted to cross the channel. This time William Burgess, who swam the channel in 1911, accompanied me. The start this time was made from the English side. We started at 6 o'clock in the evening and I had been in the water but a few hours when again the sea became rough. I kept at it for 12 hours, but finally had to give up. Burgess later told me I should have left the water hours before, but I was hopeful the roughness would subside and I might continue. On Sept. 22 I tried again, but this time as before we had hard luck on the weather. That was the final attempt."

The Lowell swimmer stated that there were three Englishmen, and several swimmers from Canada and Italy who had been there from July 1 in the hope of crossing the channel, but who also met with disappointment. He said that one Italian stayed in the water 11 hours and stated that nobody else had done it or could do it.

He said it would not do to criticize any of those who did not try the swim for here it is not known how had the channel really is for a swim of this sort.

"Lloyds of England," he said, "put up odds of 40 to 1 that the channel could not be crossed." He blamed the terrible tide caused by the great onrush of the waters from the North sea as responsible for the channel being such a difficult proposition to tackle.

"I received excellent treatment from all those with whom I came in contact and all expressed deep regret that I could not succeed," Mr. Sullivan said, and in concluding stated: "I don't take my hat off to anyone and some day regardless of conditions I'm going to tackle it again."

After the speaker had been accorded generous applause it was announced that Mr. Sullivan was ready to answer any questions that might be asked him and to this statement a number of queries were put.

In answer to a question regarding training Mr. Sullivan replied that he used olive oil and lard on his body to close the pores so that they might not all with water and weigh down the person. The food for him was put out from a boat, he answered another member, about five feet out so that he could never come closer to the boat than that distance. He said he swam

LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL

Equipment at Textile School
in Good Shape—Large
Evening Attendance

The equipment at Lowell Textile school is now in first class order as the result of a pretty thorough overhauling by concerns having machinery in the plant. Several new pieces of apparatus and machines have been added and this, together with a complete renovation of the humidity system puts the plant in excellent shape for carrying on this year's work.

While several new appliances have been added, President Eames says more will be installed as time goes on. The Johnson & Bassett company of Worcester has just completed installing a new woolen mule. The company provided a mule head mounted on a portable platform for class room demonstration.

The Davis & Furber company of North Andover has finished installing a complete set of woolen cards to replace others of their make which have been in use. A woolen mulehead of the latest type is also mounted on a portable platform for class room work.

The Universal Winder company of Providence has added a new winder. The Draper company has just finished putting its latest device on all looms.

The American Moistening company of Boston has put on the latest humidity heads for regulating humidity throughout the plant. This entire system, which has not been changed since the school was built has been brought up to date.

The evening school attendance is the largest in the history of the institution, over 1000 having registered for the classes. President Eames wishes to call attention to a new course of electricity which has been added to the list this year. The course is an advanced one open to all who have had some previous instruction in electricity.

About one dozen registered for the class last Monday and more are expected to enroll tomorrow night. There will be two meetings a week on Mondays and Fridays at 7 o'clock.

GERMS IN CHINESE EGGS

PARIS, Oct. 25.—Twenty-four hours after they had thawed a shipment of frozen eggs from China, local health authorities say they found the eggs contained 36,000 harmful microbes. The officials advised against their use, except for biscuit making.

PROHIBITION A HELP

ADELAIDE, S. A., Oct. 25.—Despite the growth of the prohibition movement, vine-growers of South Australia report the biggest vintage season they ever had. More than 2,500,000 gallons of wine have been exported this year.

TEN HOUSES FOR $3000

LONDON, Oct. 25.—A terrace of 10 houses at Broadstairs was bought by auction for $3000. The annual rental amounts to $1250, or an income of 12 per cent. on the investment.

SAW ONE "JAG" IN THREE MONTHS IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, Oct. 25.—In three weeks of travel through soviet Russia, The Associated Press correspondent has seen but one intoxicated man. That was a workman in Moscow who was so far under the influence of liquor that he was unable to tell a group of curious and thirsty men where he found his liquor.

The new decree permitting 12 per cent. of alcohol in beverages has not produced the results wine-bibbers and beer lovers had hoped for. Wine cellars have not produced hidden supplies and apparently there are no vegetables, fruit nor grain available for conversion into drinks. Restaurants and cafes have no alcoholic drinks for sale. There is an abundance of kvass and various non-fermented drinks alleged to be made from fruit, but probably largely chemical in their composition.

A Mystery Cake

Can you name it?

Here is another new Royal Cake, so delicious and appetizing that we have been unable to give it a name that does justice to its unusual qualities. It can be made just right only with Royal Baking Powder. Will you make it and name it?

$500 for the Best Names

For the name selected as best, we will pay $250. For the second, third, fourth, and fifth choice, we will pay $100, $75, $50, and $25 respectively.

Anyone may enter the contest, but only one name from each person will be considered.

All names must be received by December 15th, 1921. In case of ties, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tying contestant. Do not send your cake. Simply send the name you suggest, with your own name and address, to the

ROYAL BAKING POWDER COMPANY
128 William Street, New York

How to make it

Use level measurements for all materials

1/2 cup shortening
1/4 cup sugar
Grated rind of 1/2 orange
1 egg and 1 yolk
2 1/4 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup milk
1/8 squares (1 1/2 oz.) of unsweetened chocolate (melted)
1/2 teaspoon salt

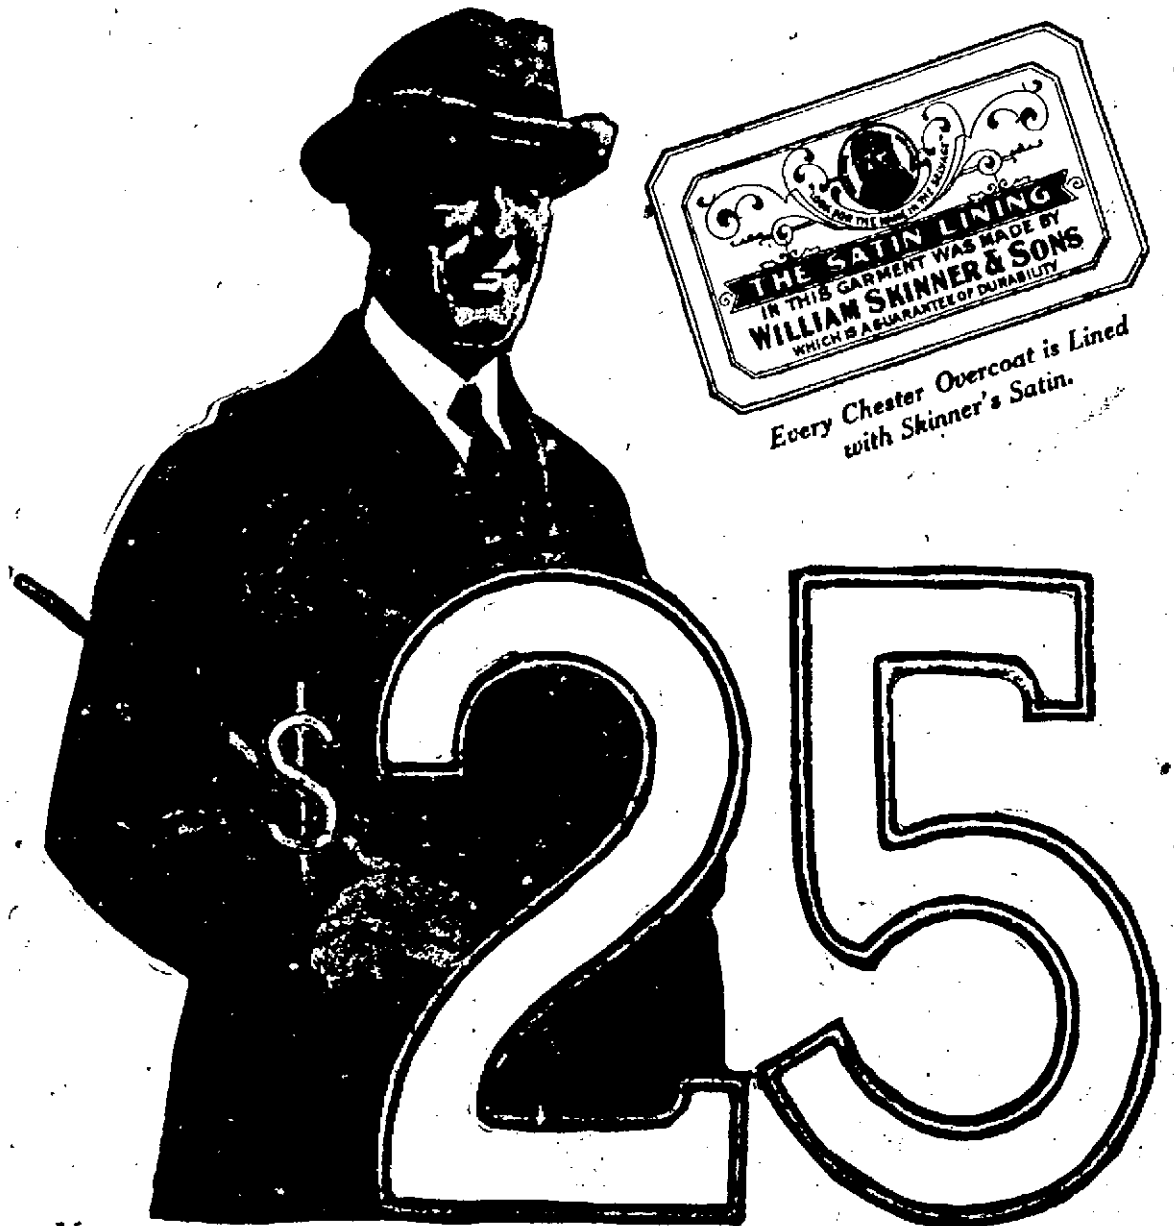

Cream shortening. Add sugar and grated orange rind. Add beaten egg yolks. Mix together flour, salt and Royal Baking Powder and add alternately with the milk to the egg-beaten mixture. Divide batter into two parts. To one part add the chocolate. Put by tablespoonfuls, alternating dark and light batter, into three greased layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes.

FILLING AND ICING

3 tablespoons melted butter
3 cups confectioner's sugar
(Powdered sugar may be used but does not make as smooth icing)
Grated rind of 1/2 orange and pulp of 1 orange

Melt butter, sugar, orange juice and rind into bowl. Cut pulp from oranges, removing skin and seeds, and add. Beat all together until smooth. Fold in beaten egg whites. Spread the icing on layer used for top of cake. While icing is soft, sprinkle with unsweetened chocolate shaved in fine pieces with sharp knife (use 1/4 square). To remaining icing add 1/4 squares unsweetened chocolate which has been melted. Spread this thickly between layers and on sides of cake.

LOCKED IN REFRIGERATOR

Storekeeper Imprisoned, and His Cash Register Was Emptied by Robbers

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—A Kazanian, proprietor of a meat market at 1 Warren street, junction of Park street, Charlestown, was locked in the large refrigerator of his store and his cash register was emptied by two young men, about 15:30 last evening. The robbers ran from the store and made their escape. Kazanian stated that $65 was stolen.

The young men entered the store shortly before closing time. One of them asked Kazanian about some meat. When Kazanian opened the door of the refrigerator and stepped inside to get the meat, the door was closed upon him and the lever thrown across the lock, making him a prisoner inside.

He started pounding and shouting for help. A few minutes after the young men left the store a boy entered to make a purchase. He heard the pounding on the refrigerator door and released the storekeeper, who was chilled by his brief stay inside.

Kazanian telephoned to the police of station 15 and 14th. Killen sent to the store a squad of police in the patrol, but a search made in the vicinity for the young men was unavailing.

The young men were described as each about 25 years old, of medium build, wearing dark clothes and a cap, up to a late hour last night the men had not been captured.

THE STRIKE HAD

"BRAD" WORRIED

Dealers in Christmas trees are starting today for the great north woods to purchase supplies for the Santa Claus season. Numerous northern handlers of Christmas trees, spruces and hemlocks have already received large orders for small-size trees, which will later be packed in freight cars, hurried across the border and distributed all over the United States.

One of the biggest handlers of Christmas trees in New England is Hon. Kellie Bradbury of North Acton. Mr. Bradbury was in Lowell today, and was about the most cheerful individual in town. There was a reason for his happiness.

When the Christmas tree "king," as he is called in his home town, read the news of the cancellation of the threatened strike order, he wanted to dance. Had the railroad been tied up for the next few weeks, there would have been no chance for Santa Claus Bradbury to secure his annual carloads of trees and bring them over the border into the American markets.

Said Mr. Bradbury: "This strike order had me on the worry list. I assure you, I was all ready to start for Canada yesterday morning, but was afraid to go, because I supposed the strike order was going to be carried out. If I had got up north with several carloads of Christmas trees, there is no telling when I would get back again, and there would probably have been no chance for moving the trees down this way in time for the Christmas trade. The cancellation of the strike order, however, makes it plain sailing for me from now on. I expect a splendid business this year in trees of all the popular kinds."

TEACH CHILDREN

HOW TO THINK

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Habit of persistence, self-control and concentration are assets of greater value to a young man than information which would enable him to answer all the questions proposed by Thomas A. Edison, Payson Smith, state commissioner of education said today to members of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts. The primary function of education, he said, was to teach children how to think, not to tell them what to think.

CABARET AND DANCE

Last night in Lincoln hall the Lisbon club held its seventh annual cabaret and dance. Both from a social and financial point of view the affair was a pronounced success. The large crowd of young people present enjoyed the cabaret work of James Delgan and the dance program offered. Credit is due to the following officials of the affair: General manager, John Souza; assistant general manager, Manuel Martin; floor director, Demick Varga; assistant floor director, T. Martin; and chief aid, Manuel Perry.

FLY TO KANSAS CITY

Three Five-Passenger Monoplanes Arrive From New York With Legion Party

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 28.—Flying from New York to Kansas City, a distance of approximately 1500 miles, with only one stop, was the feat of three five-passenger monoplanes which arrived here late yesterday bringing a party to attend the national convention of the American Legion next week. The flyers included Augustus Post, president of the Aere club of America.

According to the pilots, the machines left their home airport on Long Island, Wednesday, at 9:30 a. m. in a pouring rain. They flew to Dayton, Ohio, in 6½ hours. Leaving Dayton yesterday morning, they arrived at the Legion flying field here shortly before dusk.

LOWELL TEXTILE EXHIBIT Lowell's exhibit for the International Textile exposition which is to be held in Mechanics building, Boston, from October 31 to November 6, will be taken to the 11th tomorrow morning by Secretary Wells and Assistant Secretary Gallagher. The local exhibit is at the present time in the library, but preparations for its removal have been going on for some time. Over 300 cards are included in the exhibit and about every possible article made in this city by the textile plants is included. It is possible a display of pictures will be brought to Boston later, but at the present time the exact space allotted is not known and will not be until the cards are placed.

URGES U. S. TRADE PACT

WITH SOVIET RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (By the Associated Press).—The Russian commission of the near east relief yesterday recommended to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, as head of the American relief administration that the United States enter into a trade agreement with Soviet Russia along the lines of those made by Great Britain, Sweden and Italy.

The commission recently completed a tour of the famine area and conclusions reached after extensive investigations were included in voluminous reports, which made several recommendations for aiding Russia with food and other supplies.

Maintaining that Russia was solvent in that she could use her natural resources as collateral for supplies, the report asserted that the soviet government already had adopted this method for obtaining credit.

The commission said it found the soviet officials uniformly earnest, hard working, to all appearances sincere men, as well equipped for their work as the average officials of any country.

The report declared that relief merely sufficient to tide the twenty million inhabitants of the Volga famine areas over until next year would be worse than useless.

Must Be Surrendered in 36 Hours

PRAQUE, Oct. 28.—Former Emperor Charles must be surrendered to the "Little Entente" within 36 hours under the terms of an ultimatum from the members of this combination of states, which it has decided to present to the Hungarian government in Budapest. Deputy Macech declared at a mass meeting held here last night that the ultimatum would be presented some time today.

EX-EMPEROR CHARLES

ISSUES STATEMENT

BUDAPEST, Oct. 28. (By the Associated Press).—Immediately clad in the uniform of a Hungarian general, former Emperor Charles, a prisoner in the hands of the people over whom he made an abortive attempt to re-establish sovereignty, today issued the following terse message through The Associated Press correspondent:

"I was sure my people would offer resistance, so I gave orders to withdraw when the government troops opened fire. Nothing can persuade me to provoke civil war. I trust Providence and the future will bring harmony between the Hungarian nation and its sovereign."

Charles and ex-Empress Zita were seen by the correspondent as they passed the railway station of Szekesfehervar, near the shores of Lake Balaton, on their way to Tihany Abbey from Esterhazy castle, where the erstwhile royal pair were captured after last Sunday's battle.

Except for the military escort, the ex-rulers gave no appearance of being prisoners. Charles looked fresh in his general's uniform, and the ex-empress was neatly clad in a plain gray dress.

Prince Esterhazy, their host during their brief sojourn at Tata-Tovarnas, was accompanying them to their new temporary residence.

BLANTON GIVEN CENSURE

Texas Representative Faints

After Being Publicly Reprimanded in House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The censure of the house of representatives rested today upon Thomas L. Blanton, democratic member from Texas. Retaining his seat by a bare margin on the resolution of Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the republican leader, proposing expulsion for insertion in the Congressional Record of a document described as "unspeakably vile." Representative Blanton a few minutes later heard his colleagues vote unanimously for a resolution proposing that he be publicly reprimanded at the bar of the house.

Giving every evidence of a crushed and broken man at the conclusion of the ordeal, the Texas member brought the scene to a dramatic conclusion when, on leaving the chamber after the speaker's reprimand, he collapsed to the floor. He quickly recovered, however, after being picked up by colleagues, some of whom had voted for his expulsion.

NO OBSERVANCE HERE OF ROOSEVELT DAY

There was no general observance of the anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt yesterday. A few teachers in the schools conducted exercises in individual classes.

Plans for the Armistice day exercises at the high school are progressing rapidly under the direction of Miss Mary G. Joyce, teacher of elocution. The date of the exercises has not been settled yet as Gov. Cox may proclaim Nov. 11 a legal holiday.

Yale To Observe Armistice Day

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 28.—Armistice Day will be observed at Yale university by a short ceremony at noon. A detail of the Reserve Officers Training Corps unit will place on the war memorial tablets in Memorial Hall wreaths in memory of the 225 Yale men who gave their lives in the late war. A two-minute pause as proclaimed by President Harding will be followed by a national salute of 21 guns.

France To Help Relieve Russian Famine

PARIS, Oct. 28.—The chamber of deputies today adopted a resolution to extend credit amounting to 6,000,000 francs to be used in relief of the Russian famine.

NO LOCAL DELEGATES AT LEGION CONVENTION

The state delegation of the American Legion left Boston today for the three-day national convention which opens at Kansas City, Monday. Neither Francis J. Roane or Historian John J. Walsh, of this city, were among those leaving and it is believed neither will make the trip to the western city. Mr. Roane told 'The Sun' this noon that owing to a severe cold recently contracted, he was advised by his physician last night not to attempt the long journey, although, he stated, he had already procured tickets and arranged for accommodations with the state party. Comrade Roane, a member of the Massachusetts department to be one of the representatives at the gathering.

State Historian Walsh was also scheduled to leave today, but as far as could be learned he did not go. Mr. Walsh could not be reached at his Boston employment and it could not be ascertained if he intended going tomorrow or Sunday.

BLACK AND WHITE THE LATEST IN UMBRELLAS

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—This season's umbrellas show the change of fashion in the handles since the small combination sun and rain umbrella suspended on the wrist by a strap, gave way to bigger proportions last year. The dress umbrella, such as one carries with a fur coat or a smart wrap, is done with exquisite detail. Even the leather strap with its bakelite ends is handsomely worked. The handle of the wood stick, ending in the stub ferrule, is combined of carved bakelite and wood. The tips are of bakelite. This Franklin Simon umbrella is in all colors.

Black and white are the mode in dress umbrellas—white bakelite upon which black bakelite is applied in designs, being the very latest.

Even the stub ferrule is artistically worked out in designs of black and white while the strap is black leather. A novelty Franklin Simon umbrella has a vanity case, powder puff and mirror in the top of the handle.

The old-fashioned hook umbrella, with amber handle, is still good and amber ornately carved is also modish. The umbrellas measure 25 inches.

GEORGE JONES' BODY, STILL UNCLAIMED

The body of George Jones, a resident of this city, who was killed in a runaway accident in North Billerica a week ago today, is at the funeral parlors of Undertaker Joseph Albert in Alken street, and has not yet been claimed by relatives, although Medical Examiner T. B. Smith and the undertaker have done all in their power to locate some relatives of the dead man.

In Jones' room were found numerous letters from Gray, Me., and as a result a telegram and a letter were sent to a Mrs. Annie Jordan of the latter place, at whose home Jones lived prior to his coming to Lowell, and the reply received by Undertaker Albert was as follows:

"I am very sorry to say I know very little that will be of much help to you. Mr. Jones was never married. The only near relative I have heard him speak of was a married sister, who lived in New Jersey and she is now dead."

When Mr. Jones left me he had something like $500 laid by and I think that money is deposited in a bank in Lowell.

MRS. ANNIE JORDAN, Gray, Me.
When Jones was killed he had about $50 in his pockets and later when his room in Race street was searched bank books showing deposits of $1300 in local banks were found.

THE RAILROAD ISSUES

For some weeks past, this country has been in a state of uneasiness and suspense on account of the threatened railroad strike. In some quarters, the railroad brotherhoods have been denounced as a menace to the public and to the country at large just as if their claims had no basis of justice or right. We are not among these who assume that the brotherhoods are entirely wrong, that their claims are entirely unjust, that railroad men are already receiving higher wages than they deserve and that the railroads are justified in refusing to lower freight rates unless wages are also lowered.

So far as we can learn, there is a great deal of truth and justice in the claims of the railroad men. We have seen various lists of wages paid on railroad systems; but unfortunately some of them are very misleading and very unfair to the workmen. We have made some investigation as to the rate of wages paid railroad employees on the Boston and Maine and New York and New Haven systems; and we must confess that many of the employees are barely receiving what is enough to support an average family in the ordinary comforts of life. Some other employees may, perhaps, be benefiting too much by overtime charges, and may be running up to pretty high figures in that respect; but if there are many such cases it should be easy for the companies or the Railroad Labor board to ascertain the facts and deal with them in a proper manner. We have seen several of the wage scales paid to railroad employees on railroads in this part of the state, and as a result, we are convinced that many of the laborers employed by such cities as Lowell, Lawrence and Fall River are better paid than are many railroad employees of long experience in various lines of work.

For these reasons, we believe that the public is not justified in condemning the railroad brotherhoods outright as trying to extort unfair conditions from the companies. The operators are apparently too strongly wedded to the idea that if they cut the present high passenger and freight rates they will be unable to pay the dividends of 5 and 6 per cent authorized in the Esch-Cummins law. We believe, however, that lower rates would bring more business and consequently more revenue and, therefore, enable the roads to make a reasonable profit, whereas, with prohibitive rates, they may be unable to do so. Their case is somewhat similar to that of the trolley companies that charge an excessive fare and thus drive the people into the use of jitneys or automobiles or otherwise induce a great many to walk who might ride if the fare were a nickel for a short ride. We have instances of that right here in our own city, where a ride of a few blocks to and from Merrimack square, will cost twenty cents.

The railroad operators have been instrumental in precipitating the present trouble by the action of their executives in asking the Railroad Labor board to order another cut in the wages of the employees on condition that the amount thus saved would be passed along to the consumers in lower rates. It is not at all surprising, that the brotherhoods arose in self-defense in the face of such a proposition.

When the roads were returned to private ownership after the war, freight rates were jumped 40 per cent and they have not since been lowered except in the case of some few commodities chiefly intended for export. There are assuredly two sides to this case as to most others, and all the justice is not on the side of the railroads by a long shot. If they favor a reduction in wages they should begin with their higher officials and use the pruning knife effectively on the high salaries. They might also cut down upon their vast output of propaganda. We do not believe there is a newspaper office in the country that is not flooded daily with railroad statements against the employees, claiming that wages are the chief cause of all the trouble with the roads and the only cause of the high freight rates. This claim is not sustained by the facts; and the railroads are today injuring business generally by maintaining prohibitive freight rates. One of the great obstacles to the activity in building operations is the high cost of transportation on the railroads. The same is true of many other industries.

It is therefore time for the railroads to put their house in order and prepare for a very material reduction in freight rates. The country looks to the Railroad Labor board to take up the whole question of railroad operation, freight rates and the wages of employees, dealing with all in a manner that will be fair to both but that will still give employees a rate of wages that will pay them for their demonstrated ability and be adequate to enable them to enjoy the comforts of life as befits men of experience in any technical business.

ROUNDING "BLIND CORNERS"

Hereafter when new streets are laid out, it is safe to say, there will be no sharp corners. Already it is evident that the danger of accident at some street corners in various parts of the city, can never be overcome except by cutting off the corners and rounding them in easy curves that afford a better view ahead. Already many dangerous corners have been eliminated. An excellent example of this kind has been done at the junction of Lawrence, Rogers, Wamesit and Abbott streets. It was a costly job, to be sure, but it was well worth the expenditure. The danger has been overcome also at the corner of Lock and Urban streets, as in various other instances in different parts of the city.

One of the most dangerous corners for auto traffic in the entire city is at the junction of Westford and Smith streets. Already many accidents have occurred there and only the presence of a traffic officer at that point prevents serious accidents, especially on Sundays. That corner must be rounded off just as soon as the street department can get to it. There are many others also, that require attention. In some cases the abutters are making the necessary changes and thus saving the city considerable expense. Sharp street corners have been rounded at the junction of High and Rogers streets; and now the corners of the Rogers Hall school grounds at Banks street and Fort Hill avenue are being rounded. The latter has been a very dangerous corner at which several collisions have occurred.

"Blind" corners in the outlying districts where motorists drive at a good rate of speed must be remedied, as they are a constant source of danger. Unfortunately, very few auto drivers observe the law which forbids a rate of speed higher than eight miles an hour at street intersections at which the view is obstructed. When the reckless driver turns a blind corner at a rate of speed forbidden by law, then there is a combination of the two main elements of danger—lack of care and lack of a clear view ahead. It is, therefore, necessary to remove one of them and as to the other—recklessness, we must look to the police and the courts to stamp it out.

THE CANDIDATES

There is no reason for dismay on account of the large number of candidates who have offered their services to the city in the municipal council or the school board. These candidates may be regarded as volunteers for municipal service and as such they are showing a degree of patriotism which is not conspicuous among business men. When the country called for volunteers in wartime, there was a ready response, and there was no reflection upon any of the volunteers on account of their past experience, their education, ability, or lack thereof in this or that direction. The city at the present time calls for men to serve in public office and to help in the administration of her affairs. It is rather a reflection upon the business men of the city that they do not appear to believe that this appeal refers to them. The question may well be asked if patriotism as indicated by public service is confined to any particular class.

In this election, there is no distinction as to race or creed or partisan politics. The citizens are to choose officials to conduct the municipal government for the next two years, and it is generally acknowledged that it would be a proof of patriotism and public spirit on the part of any business man, to volunteer his services for the municipal council or the school board. If it should turn out that on account of the vast number of candidates, he did not succeed in being elected, that fact would not at all be discreditable. Where so many candidates are up for office, it is practically certain that some of the best of them will be left outside the brackets. No business man, however, should be deterred from becoming a candidate because of the risk of defeat.

MEETING ADVERSITY

The average farmer is active enough to make both ends meet even if his own acres are not sufficiently productive to carry him through the year. Attention is called to a leading granger in a county town not many miles from Lowell. He had a "poor year" on his acres. The corn he worked had not matured and the market chances of profit. The frost killed nearly all his apple buds. But he did not sit down to bewail his loss and declare that Washington politics was to blame? He did not! He discovered that another farmer living not far away had a good apple crop, loads of corn to get in and extra work waiting for a good wood-chopper. The farmer who might have sat down by the fireside and mourned all winter because of his unprofitable summer's work, is now at work harvesting his brother granger's apples. Corn cutting is next on the program, and a winter's job in the woodlot is waiting when cold weather sets in.

The average Massachusetts farmer is a hustler who can meet adversity in the right spirit. The farmer who blames Nature for his losses will get nowhere.

THE TYPIST

George S. Hossfeld, of Paterson, N. J., retains his title of typewriting speed champion of the world. He types 125 words a minute, beating all comers. That seems fast. But how many words can you read a minute? Take out your watch and time yourself. You'll find your brain works from two to four times as fast as the words fastest fingers—those of Hossfeld. That's how the man saves our slower physical machines during emergency.

The typewriter is one of the great necessities for the quick transmission of thought. It has increased the size of newspapers, has given the world more books than would of course be possible and has enabled mercantile houses to transact much of their business by correspondence.

The sign in the hotel read, "These chairs for writing purposes only." "That's one thing I never could do," said Sandy Dunn to the hotel clerk. "Put that chair in the hotel clerk's office," quipped the clerk. "Write with a chair," said Sandy.

Barlor Magie

During the after-dinner speaking the toastmaster saw Jones, a somewhat shady character, slip two spoons in his vest pocket. When the last orator had finished he rose, "Gentlemen," he said, "there is nothing to add after all this brilliant speaking, so I will try to entertain you with a little parlor magic. You see, I call two spoons and slip them in my vest pocket. Presto—and they are in the pocket of Mr. Jones. Mr. Jones, will you please corroborate my statement?" Jones, not to be outdone, rose. "I'm rather handy at that sort of thing myself," he said. "Presto—and they are back in the pocket of the toastmaster. Mr. Toastmaster, if you don't corroborate my statement, I'll have you searched on the spot."

Wasn't Listening

There was an amusing ending of a civil case tried in a Wyoming court. It was an appeal case, and on one side was a testy lawyer and on the other was a number of inexperienced attorneys. The arguments on both sides had been heard and the case closed for judgment. Suddenly one of the inexperienced lawyers got up and addressed the court once more. The testy lawyer stood it for a moment, but, losing patience, he also arose and addressed the court in this wise: "Your Honor, I would beg with all respect, to point out to the court that my learned friend opposite is entirely out of order in addressing the court, and, if I may be permitted to say so, the court has no right to be listening to him." The court, who at that time was writing, put his head out in a belligerent way and said: "Mr. Smith, it is a great piece of impertinence on your part to assume that the court is listening to him."

Helping the Boy

Whatever else a man has to do who has a son, observes Dr. William D. Barton, his real business is to make a man of that boy. If he neglects this high duty and inestimable privilege, no matter what his reason or excuse, he will surely live to rue the day. Whatever else a father gives his son, he should not fail to give himself. He is himself a larger gift than any he can earn and convey to his boy. Boys need mothers, and mothers can do some things with boys and for boys which fathers cannot do; but no man is justified in supposing on this account that he has any license to neglect his boy, or to turn him over wholly to his mother. The wise father will not try to do his duty by the mere spending of money for the boy, or letting the boy spend money upon himself. He will give himself as well as his money. He will share in his boy's fun, and he will also remember that his boy has serious thoughts and earnest hours which he would like to share with his father.

When his boy asks him hard questions, he will not look up from his paper in annoyance, and say, "I don't know. Don't ask so many foolish questions." When his boy is facing the great moral issues of life, his father will not leave him to learn all the bitter-sweet facts about life from those who beset him with foul suggestions. He will tell his boy what the boy needs to know. He will remember that he cannot fool his boy by advising one course of conduct and practicing another. He will endeavor to be the kind of man he wants his boy to be when he grows up. Perhaps if he does these things, he will some day overhear his boy say to some of his companions: "When I get to be a man, I want to be just such a man as my father is."

Berton Braley's Daily Poem THE CAR OF HAPPINESS

A car of almost any kind, Rolls-Royce or Ford, is heaps of fun! For at the wheel of it you'll find communion with the wind and sun. But there's one sort that brings a joy. Outgoing all the rest by far—watch a little girl in a boy's car. Who owns and drives a kiddie-car.

Its motor has a heap of pep (Two funny legs that make it fly). Pedestrians must watch their step And let the daring driver by: With whirling feet, with whizzing wheels. Undaunted by the bumps that jar, The young speed-demon knows and feels. The thrill that's in a kiddie-car.

The material is full of pride. A pride he plainly shows to you. But his conceit is taught beside. The kid whose kiddy-car is new; And proudest of all folks amid This world where lots of proud folks are.

Is he who owns that little kid? Who owns and drives a kiddie-car. (Copyright, 1921, The Lowell Sun.)

INSTRUCTOR IN AUTO REPAIRING

At a special meeting of the school board yesterday afternoon R. V. Derbyshire was elected as an instructor in automobile repairing at the Vocational school. Mr. Derbyshire was recommended for the position by the state authorities and by Principal Fisher and Superintendent Molloy as well. When the matter was taken up at the committee's regular meeting last Tuesday evening the election of the members was called to the fact that there were two other applicants for the position and in order that they also might be allowed to present their qualifications to the division of vocational education and attempt to receive its approval the settlement of the question was postponed to yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Chairman Delaney called the meeting to order at 5:10, with all members present. Supt. Molloy read a communication signed by R. O. Small, director of the division of vocational education, stating that one of the men was not qualified to teach, that another was qualified to teach classes in the mechanical trade, but not to repair, and that Mr. Derbyshire was qualified to teach auto repairing, provided he took a teacher's training course after appointment, which could easily be arranged.

Before proceeding to the election, Mr. Fisher was questioned briefly by some of the members. In regard to the composition of the class which is to be instructed, Mr. Fisher explained that it is made up principally of second-year students with some first and third-year boys added. To teach a given vocational subject a man must have at least four years' experience in that subject or trade. Only in an emergency like the present will a man appointed and approved by the state board and allowed to take the course afterward. Under ordinary circumstances the requirements are eight years in the trade, a good general education, teacher's training, and in all but exceptional cases his age must be between 21 and 40. Besides this, all teachers in vocational training must take summer courses each year to improve themselves in the subjects which they are teaching. On Mr. Derbyshire's motion Mr. Derbyshire was unanimously elected.

In compliance with the committee's request, voted at the last regular meeting, Principal Bennett of the Morley Junior high school had put in writing the list of his recommendations with respect to Mr. Derbyshire, relative to the need of a janitor at the school, and his letter was read by the superintendent. Mr. Bennett said that he had seen and tried the matter to Mr. Thornton last spring, because he felt that the employment of a woman in this capacity would improve conditions in the school in many particulars and had spoken of it again many times, the last of which was within a week. He considered the appointment necessary. This letter referred to the employment of Mr. Durant, who was appointed a janitor at the school last Tuesday night. The meeting adjourned at 5:25.

Ex-Emperor in Benedictine Abbey

BUDAPEST, Oct. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—British, French and Italian military commissioners to Hungary, visited the Benedictine abbey at Tisany, yesterday, and later made official affidavits that former Emperor Charles and former Empress Zita were lodged there. The abbey is isolated by a cordon of troops. There was no agreement to limit debate on this.

BATTLE OVER MILLIONS OF INDIAN CHIEF

By N.E.A. Service
MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 25.—Jackson Barnett is the richest Indian in the United States.
That is why a fight, which has thrown the courts of two counties and federal officials into a turmoil, is being staged.
At present the chief lives, almost out in the open, in Okmulgee county. He has no use for white man's fads and fancies, but much prefers the great outdoors.
His home is a four-room shack—and he's satisfied with it.
All this in spite of the fact that mil-

JACKSON BARNETT, RICHEST INDIAN IN THE UNITED STATES, OVER WHOM TWO COUNTIES IN OKLAHOMA ARE FIGHTING, AND HIS WHITE WIFE.

lions upon millions of dollars literally rolled into him when great oil gushers were discovered on his land some years ago. No one seems to know just what he is worth; he owns a million dollars worth of liberty bonds alone.
It is an Indian theory that a man's wealth should be disposed of before he dies—after his relatives are properly cared for.

That's where the big fight comes in. Barnett with the approval of officials has already given $1,000,000 to Rice University, a Northern Baptist school at Muskogee, and a quarter of a million for an institute for sick Indians.

Following these gifts, it was announced that Barnett and his family were to be removed from Okmulgee county to the town of Muskogee. In Muskogee county. He was to have a $75,000 residence to take the place of his backwoods shack.

And Okmulgee county let out a howl. County Judge Hugh Murphy of Okmulgee, says he will not consent to the removal of Barnett's estate.

While the fight hangs, as yet undecided, Barnett's guardian has petitioned the county court in Okmulgee county for permission to use $150,000 in building Barnett a home in Okmulgee county and purchasing adjoining land to establish a pony ranch.

Barnett's white wife, with whom he eloped some time ago, and his stepdaughter, have tired of the open life. They are in favor of moving to Muskogee, in Muskogee county.

PEACE PROPOSALS OF MINERS CAST ASIDE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Peace proposals of the union miners in West Virginia were cast aside today by counsel for the coal operators at the hearing before the senate investigating committee. Proposals of a settlement, put forward by Frank P. Walsh, miners' counsel, and Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers was met with a declaration from the operators that "we'll have no dealings with the United Mine Workers."

Mr. Walsh called the committee's attention to the settlement plan, submitted Monday by Mr. Murray. He suggested that all attorneys in the case remain in Washington after the present hearings and attempt to put an end to the troubles in West Virginia.

Hardly had Mr. Walsh finished when Z. T. Vinson, the operators' chief counsel, was on his feet with a reply. "The committee knows our attitude. We will not have anything whatever to do under any circumstances, with the United Mine Workers of America, or their representatives. We have declared our purpose and declared our policy and I see no reason to re-state it."

"The statement of Mr. Murray does not appeal to you in any way?" asked Chairman Kenyon.

"In no way whatever, not a particle," Mr. Vinson replied. "Our position is unalterable. We will not have conferences with a lot of outsiders under any circumstances, either separately, through this honorable committee, through the president of the United States, or anybody else."

22 BODIES RECOVERED

Forest Fires Which Caused Disastrous Explosion Due to Bolshevik Plot

ROME, Oct. 27.—The forest fires in the vicinity of Vado, which caused a disastrous explosion in the Sant'Eleana fortress, two days ago, are generally believed to be due to a Bolshevik plot, says a despatch to the Messaggero today.

Up to midnight last night 22 bodies had been recovered from the wreckage of the explosion and many others, reported missing, are believed to be buried under the debris. Three hundred and fifty injured persons are being treated at hospitals.

Newspapers publishing details of the explosion stated that the whole neighboring territory was devastated. The houses which did not collapse entirely, lost their roofs and are uninhabitable. The church and town hall of the village where the fortress was located, are in ruins, the despatch said. Efforts are being made to clear away the debris and stones which were thrown several miles by the explosion. The fortress itself is said to have to have entirely disappeared, and even the aspect of the hill on which it was built, is considerably altered.

FLAYS SPEECH BY PRESIDENT

Harrison Calls Harding's Address on Race Question "Mischievous Utterance"

President's Theory Would Mean White Women Working Under Black Men

Would Also Open Way for Negro to Become President of U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—President Harding's address in Birmingham on the race question, was described as an "unfortunate and mischievous utterance" by Senator Harrison of Mississippi, one of the democratic leaders of the senate in a formal statement issued today.

"The president's speech was unfortunate," said Senator Harrison, "but to have made it in the heart of the south where, in some states the negro population predominates, was unfortunate in the extreme."

"If the president's theory is carried to its ultimate conclusion, namely that the black person, either man or woman, should have full economic and political rights with the white man and white woman, then that means that the black man in a strife to become president of the United States, hold cabinet positions, and occupy the highest places of public trust in the nation. It means that white women should work under black men in public places as well as in all trades and professions."

"I am against any such theory because I know it is impracticable, it is unjust and it is destructive of the best ideals of America."

"Place the negro upon political and economic equality with the white man or woman and the friction between the races will be aggravated. The president is right in that the race question is a national one and not confined to any one section and his unfortunate and mischievous utterance on the subject will be deprecated by people in every section of the country who believe in the preservation of white civilization."

Senator Watson, democrat, Georgia, also issued a statement in which he declared it was "a great pity that a northern man, holding the highest office on earth, should go down into the south and plant there fatal germs in the minds of the black race."

LADDERMAN GOING INTO WINTER QUARTERS

The "ladderman," old familiar friend of many farmers in the country and house painters in the city, has returned from his summer's journey across central Massachusetts and is now preparing to go into winter quarters. He reached Lowell, his headquarters while in this section, just before sunset last night, stopping his white horse attached to an old-time ladder wagon and chair carrier, in the square near the Chelmsford street bridge. He was giving Joe, the motive power for this summer business transport, a rest, while he stood on the sidewalk near the animal's head and read an evening paper.

C. M. Warner is the name of the ladderman, known all through this section of New England as "C.M." He is an old-timer and yet he isn't. He has been traveling about the country with wagonloads of ladders for the past 37 years, and naturally has made many friends. Some years business is rushing; this year trade fell off somewhat, and yet there has been a good demand for ladders of various kinds, notably extensions. The demand for summer furniture has also been good.

Warner gave a little account of his life work yesterday while his horse rested. He started in a good many years ago, with headquarters on Tremont street, Everett. He traveled around the countryside, roughing it when necessary and putting up wherever he can find a good place, providing he isn't near a city or town. He has had many experiences, some of them worth repeating and some not.

He has figured in several lively happenings, but has never been the victim of robbery like some ladder vendors in other sections of the state. Not long ago, an old-time ladder and chair peddler, with an outfit similar to Warner's, was gagged by highwaymen in a lonely Maine section, and robbed of all his savings. It sent the man to his grave.

The ladder business this summer, since Warner began his tour of the rural districts last April, has been "up and down" in more ways than one. The farmers naturally are not buying many ladders with no great amount of apples to pick. And yet Warner has been disposing of ladders of the extension variety, and finding a good demand for step-ladders and painters' short ladders.

"Do you know that the home painters' brigade was one of the biggest things in the work line this season?" Warner said. "You must take my word for it when I say that the demand for so many medium length extension ladders and step-ladders this summer was due solely to the demand for platforms and 'mounts' with which to paint homes, barns and garages. Many householders did their own painting this season, and bought ladders for the work. I sold more of them than I did ladders for tree work."

The ladderman is going into winter quarters very shortly now. He generally puts up at the old Sharkey stables on Middlesex street near the railroad station, when in town.

ENJOY YOUR MEALS AND EAT WHAT YOU LIKE

How often you meet people who are continually worrying about what they can eat, and what they cannot eat. Thousands suffer so much from stomach troubles that they have to abstain from eating almost everything they like. To all who are thus afflicted, we would urgently recommend them to try nature's remedy, SEVEN BARKS. It will promptly set the stomach to rights, promote healthy action of the organs of digestion, and enable you to eat your favorite dish without unpleasant after effects.

Indigestion, trouble with the kidneys or liver, makes you very despondent and feel that life is not worth living, and you often feel that you would be willing to go without riches if you could only be well again. The small sum of 60 cents invested in a bottle of SEVEN BARKS and take from 15 to 20 drops in a little water after meals should put you on the road to recovery and good health.

SEVEN BARKS is not a cure-all, but it has been a very reliable stomach, liver and kidney remedy for nearly 50 years; it is made from the extracts of different kinds of roots and herbs, scientifically blended.

Leading druggists sell SEVEN BARKS. Don't fail to give it a trial.

THE DOOR SLAMS ON HAPPINESS

Poor Blood Makes Bad Health—Then Come the "Blues"

Once the vigor of red blood becomes ragged, the door to happiness is literally slammed. Weariness of body follows and it unfailingly engenders depressed thoughts. To be reserved and cheerful becomes a habit. After a time there is an almost flimsy dimness in the expression of the eyes and a pallor to the skin. Days seem dull and dark and difficult. A sense of insufferable gloom pervades the spirit.

Then it is that Gude's Pepto-Mangan is the great help. It is a red blood builder. It puts red into the blood—increases the number of corpuscles which make blood rich and red. When the blood is restored to its natural healthy state, the sensation of well-being returns. Instead of shutting along carelessly, there is the firm and springy step, the bright, lustrous eyes, the clear complexion, identified with the strength and vigor of good health. The druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing troubles can be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parment (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it a pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one or two spoonfuls four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dripping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly 90 per cent. of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment—Adv.

JOE WOOD MAY REPLACE TRIS SPEAKER

CLEVELAND, Oct. 28.—Am. O. P. Man Rumor has it—and O. P. Man Rumor is sometimes right—Tris Speaker, present manager of the Cleveland Indians, will not pilot the club in 1922. He is considering resigning immediately.

If such should be the case, the new pilot would be another of the Indians, Joe Wood, outfielder. Joe is an old friend of Tris. They played together on the Boston Red Sox before coming to Cleveland.

When Speaker will resign is a matter of time, as he and Jim Dunn, owner of the Indians, are planning to go into business together.

The public and players would like to see Tris put the team through another winning season, and for this reason the Indians' manager is still swinging on the fence.

BILLY MURPHY ACCEPTS NELSON'S CHALLENGE

Billy Murphy of the Acre has accepted the challenge of Benny Nelson, according to a letter to The Sun, has signed articles and deposited a forfeit with Promoter Dodge of the Moody club, to meet the C.M.A.C. battle in the ring there next Thursday night. His letter follows:

Dear Sir—I have today posted my forfeit money and signed a contract with Cecil Dodge to box Benny Murphy of the C.M.A.C. at next week's show of the Moody club.

Accidents have occurred so often in the past when I expected to box that I waited until absolutely certain about the condition of my ankle, recently injured in training, before signing articles. I did not want to disappoint my friends and the club again.

Nelson is a good boy and a rugged performer but the real place to find out who is the champion feather weight of the city is in the ring. And that is just where Monbleau and I will be next Thursday night.

Very truly yours,
BILLY MURPHY.

The following players are asked to report for practice Friday evening at seven o'clock at Cosgrove street: F. Turner, R. Henson, H. Henson, Down, Conley, Dean, C. Heaney, Donnelly, J. Torrey, J. ALL SEATS SOLD FOR HARVARD GAME

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 28.—The Harvard eleven that will meet Centre college in the Stadium tomorrow will not include a majority of the men considered regulars. It was indicated by Crimson coaches today, Captain Kane, Thiel, Owen, Pitts, Crocker and Thorpe will be withheld from play, according to present plans. Injuries in some cases, the need for scouting Princeton in others, were said to be responsible.

The "Praying Colonels" will lack the services of Whitell, a star of the game between Centre and Harvard last year. Shortcomings in studies, Coach Moran said, made Whitell ineligible although he accompanied the team here.

The seat sale for the game had stopped today with every ticket sold. An attendance of 45,000 was assured.

CROSS COUNTRY RUNNING POPULAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Cross-country running is proving unusually popular this fall, according to reports from eastern colleges and universities. In their long hill-and-dale grinds the runners are receiving unprecedented support and there is promise of some excellent contests before the snow flies.

Cornell's varsity is intact and there are promising additions to the squad. The team from Harvard, which last year won the annual I.A.A.U. championship, is again favored to win team honors. This year's race comes on Monday, Nov. 28, and will not conflict with football. It will be run over the new six-mile local course at Van Cortlandt park.

Besides the two Brown brothers, Cornell has on its squad P. C. Carter, Chas. Irish, Dickinson and Strickler. Tom McCormick may join the barriers. R. L. Brown is the present holder of the intercollegiate two-mile championship, having covered the route in 9:22, and his brother, Don, is improving.

Penn State is the dark horse among the probable entrants. Penn State has Allen Helfrich, the Buffalo half-miler, John L. Romig, winner of first place in the 1920 intercollegiate run and Ira Shields, who was runner-up to Joe May in American Olympic team try-outs. Columbia has Higgins, Bob Moore, Allen Haskell, Allen Taussig, E. K. Knox, Bert Harris, Vladimir Morosoff and James Bernson working. Princeton which trailed Cornell by one point in 1920 has a number of veteran candidates this year. Bill Rogers, who finished third in the championship last year, Allen Swede, holder of the national intercollegiate two-mile record and Don Foreman, winner of the three-mile event in the recent Oxford-Cambridge, Cornell-Princeton games, are the stars.

WAR INJURIES FAIL TO STOP FOOTBALL PLAYERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—That it takes more than war injuries to stop a real football player, is being exemplified in more than one instance on American gridirons this fall.

Brocker, a Harvard line candidate, is one A.E.F. "buddy" who wouldn't say die even though German bullets put him under for a while. In 1916 he was regarded highly in the freshman line. Then he went to France, where he was wounded in both legs. But Brocker wouldn't down. His faith has been regained and his patient watches on the sidelines have given him that valued asset coaches call "football brains."

Mike Driscoll, who was a second lieutenant in the 2nd division and was wounded at Belleau Wood, was an amateur boxer of no mean ability before the war. He not only has taken up boxing again, but is out with the Georgetown football squad at Washington.

BIG ENTRY FOR GOLDEN COVE RACES

Nearly 30 horses have been entered in the three classes for the racing at Golden Cove tomorrow afternoon, when the Lowell Driving club holds its final meet of the 1921 season.

There is a field of seven in the 2:25 trot or pace, purse $200; 16 in the 2:25 trot or pace, purse $200; and 10 in the 2:30 trot or pace, purse $150.

A lot of new track shippers will be seen in the three events. Robert Ryne, a bay gelding, owned by A. H. Drury of Athol, will start under its owner in the 2:25, and L. Lapondie of Lawrence has entered Bob Everett, another bay gelding, sire Glencairn.

With D. S. Foster's horse from Winchester, Jerry N. Mayor White's gelding from Lawrence, and Harry Benson, black gelding, sired by Benson and entered by Drury for a second, the expected battle between Ray, Fletcher's horse, and Aaron Strathmore owned by John Provencher, ought to prove one of the finest cards of the late season.

While this is called by some a race only between Ray and the Baron, horsemen outside of the city who have been watching Jerry N. and Robert Ryne, say the Baron will have to go some to get in the money.

Mayor White is coming with six good entries. Some new ones in the 2:25 are Col. Kay, a black gelding, and R. K. Owen, Mayor White, Robert H., also a white entry, and Barcelona, a brown gelding, sire Hingara, entered by John Howard. B. Jelliffe will drive Barcelona.

In the 2:30 event, Mary V., a brown mare, sire Poros, has been entered by Secretary A. J. Ryan of the Driving club. This animal has been showing great all season and Mr. Ryan "has hopes." Little Mat, a brown gelding, sire Prince McKinney, is on his way from the Dunningan stables in North Chelmsford.

A lot of horses reached the track this morning, and were working out this afternoon in the sun. The track is going to be faster than last time, if the weather stays right. The races start at 1 p. m. sharp.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres Own Press Agents

THE STRAND
Regeneration, a theme that always pulls the heart and entertains, especially when it is a woman's regeneration, is the leading subject of "What Women Will Do," with Anna Q. Nilsson featured at the head of an all-star cast. A charming romance enters into the story and there are several startling developments. William Russell in "Children of the Night" is a brand new story for this popular star while "The Fall Guy" with Larry Semon, is truly humorous.

OPERA HOUSE
The treatment of the character of the stern old Quaker, Godfrey Mather, by Katharine Matus, is one of the many good things in the presentation of Edward Popple's comedy drama, "The Little Puritan" by the Lowell Players at the Opera House this week. His interpretation is excellent, as is the work of all the other members of the cast. Miss Magrath, the new leading woman, is winning friends by the score.

"Maggie," a delightful little comedy drama with love and laughter, tears and thrills, will be presented next week. It's the story of a plain American girl of Irish lineage, who overflows with wit and wisdom. The story is active and absorbing. Following the matinee performance tomorrow, Miss Shirley Magrath, the new leading lady, and Mr. William Howard, leading man, will hold a reception on the stage. This will be a welcome opportunity for hundreds of patrons of this popular amusement house to make the acquaintance of these two pleasing leading characters.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
The choicest bit of gossip in a very short time gets to be so big a story that its originator wouldn't know it. If you don't believe it, see Paul Decker & Co. at B. F. Keith's theatre this week. "The Fall Guy" which was written by Edwin Burke, and which is a very clever comedy. It is perfectly acted. The Primrose Three are singers of popular songs, and they take into themselves a lot of applause at every number. Ann Gray, harpist and singer, has an attractive routine of numbers, while Roberts and Boyne have a nautical comedy that bubbles with fun. Others in the cast are: Rice and Elmer, in trampoline work, and John and Nellie Olms, the wizards of watches.

RIALTO THEATRE
Following the sensational success of "Passion" in America comes a second foreign production starring Pola Negri and called "Gypsy Blood." This is an adaptation from Prosper Merimee's original French story. "Carmen" it ended with great success at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon and will continue for the rest of the week. Other features on the program include a Larry Semon comedy, "The Fall Guy" and Joe Moore in "False Brands."

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
A triple feature bill of more than usual merit is on the card for the week-end. Mollie King, the noted stage beauty, who is now starring with Lew Fields in "Two Eyes," appears in "Suspicious Wives," an absorbing drama of modern life. Ora Carew in "Beyond the Crossroads," another interesting story, is the second of a series of plays in the second of "The Fall Guy," one of his funniest comedies, provides the third big attraction. The International News completes the bill.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN OF THE APOCALYPSE"
Probably the strongest and most distinguished cast ever assembled for any photograph in the history of the screen is seen in the Rex Ingram production for Metro of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," adapted from the famous novel by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, which opens a six-day engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre Monday afternoon.

While every player of the 25 principal roles was selected because of his or her special ability to enact the part, there is scarcely a name at the list that is not prominently known to motion picture followers.

The cast includes Rudolph Valentino, Alice Terry, Pomeroy Cannon, Joseph Sweeney, Bronson Shaw, Alan Hale, Bridgetta Clark, Mabel Van Buren, Brodwin (Smoke) Turner, Nigel de Bruin, John Salsburg, Mark Penning, Virginia Warwick, Derek Gwent, Stuart Holmes, Jean Hersholt, Henry Klaus, Edward Connelly, Georgia Woodthorpe, Kathleen Key, Wallace Berry, Jacques (Jack) Ruffalo, Alie, Dolores, "Bull" Montana, Isabel Keith, Jacques Lanoie, Noble Johnson, Harry Northrup, Minnieaba, Arthur Hoyt and Beatrice Dominguez. LOCAL CHURCH CALLS CONNECTICUT MAN

Rev. Richard Peters, pastor of the Second Congregational church, Manchester, Conn., has been called to the pastorate of the Highland Congregational church, this city. The Lowell society is confident that the call will be accepted.

The Connecticut pastor is a personal friend of Rev. Percy E. Thomas, Massachusetts cotton mills, who constantly take up the pastorate at the First Congregational church in this city. It was upon Mr. Thomas' recommendation that members of the Highland church went to Manchester and extended the call.

The local society has been without a pastoral leader since Rev. A. S. Heale resigned Sept. 1 to accept a call to Laconia, N. H.

MASS. MILLS MEN'S CLUB ANNIVERSARY

The overseers and second hands of the various departments of the Massachusetts Cotton Mills, who constitute the Massachusetts Cotton Mills Men's club, observed the first anniversary of the founding of their organization with a banquet in a local restaurant last evening. The affair was largely attended and proved very enjoyable. The evening's festivities were presided over by Peter McLaughlin and the speakers were William Harding, James Ryan and James Brown. Songs were given by Hugh Matthews, William Wilson, Ernest Wilson, James Carroll and Patrick Nevins. At the close of the dinner the party repaired to the Merrimack alley and enjoyed three strings of bowling.

TWO KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Auto Containing Five Holyoke Musicians Struck a Tree Early This Morning

Two Players Instantly Killed—Others Severely Shaken Up

DEERFIELD, Oct. 28.—Two members of a Holyoke orchestra, William O'Connell and Edward Cortnean, both of Holyoke, were instantly killed early today when an automobile containing five of the musicians struck a tree while returning to Holyoke from Greenfield, where the orchestra had played. It is said that the driver was dazzled by the headlights of an approaching car and the rear of the machine came in contact with the tree when the car swerved. The other three members of the party were severely shaken up.

WOULD RECALL STATE OFFICIALS

First Recall Election Against State Officials in U. S. Being Held in No. Dakota

Independent Voters' Association Move Against Governor and Two Others

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 28.—The first recall election against state officials ever attempted in the United States is being held today in North Dakota, with the Independent Voters' association faction seeking to oust three officials who were elected last fall with endorsement of the Non-Partisan league.

Governor Lynn J. Frazier, William Lemke, attorney general, and J. M. Hogan, commissioner of agriculture and labor, are the officials the Independents are attempting to replace with R. A. Nestos for governor; Sveinbjorn Johnson, for attorney general, and Joseph A. Kitchen for commissioner.

A group of proposed laws also are being submitted to the voters today as initiated measures, one of which would in the future do away with party designations in the election of all state officials.

PREMIER CALLS UNIONISTS' BLUFF

Will Confront Commons Monday and Ask Mandate on Irish Negotiations

Papers Confident Government Will Receive Big Majority in Support of Policies

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Prime Minister Lloyd George will confront the house of commons next Monday and ask for a mandate relative to the continuance of the negotiations between delegates of the government and the Dail Eireann. Announcement to this effect by the prime minister yesterday brought to a head the seemingly serious situation which has developed during the past fortnight by the alleged defection of unionist leaders and constituencies from support of the coalition government.

Belief was expressed by newspapers here today that the government would receive a big majority in support of the policies it has followed relative to Ireland, and that ministry's hands would be strengthened in dealing with the Sinn Fein representatives. Mr. Lloyd George received congratulations from the liberal press for "grasping the nettle of the hard shell unionist opposition." It was said the prime minister had "by calling their bluff, knocked the wind out of the unionists who were sponsors of the vote of censure to the government" which was read in the house on Wednesday.

It was not expected that the vote adverse to the government would total more than 50, and that all the coalition liberals and laborites certainly would rally to the support of the cabinet.

Political correspondents generally predict important developments at the annual conference of the unionist party to be held in Liverpool, next week. They assert the party may split and that there may be formed an Independent Conservative party.

The passage of another day without further advance toward an Irish settlement seemed to have deepened the pessimistic views held by many political writers.

EXHUME BODY OF E. F. SEARLES

Autopsy Begun to Determine Cause of Death of Millionaire Recluse

Exhumation and Autopsy Conducted in Secret, Behind High Wall of Estate

METHUEN, Oct. 28.—The body of Edward F. Searles, millionaire recluse, was exhumed today from a vault on his former estate here and an autopsy was begun to determine whether there was any foundation for reports that his death was due to poisoning.

The exhumation and autopsy were ordered by Mr. Atty. S. Howard Donnell, and were under the immediate control of Medical Examiner George W. Dow. Dr. George B. Magrath of Boston, medical examiner of the north Suffolk district, assisted him.

The day's events were held in secret, the walls erected around Pine Lodge by its late owner, serving to guard the incident from public view. The investigation of his death. The body had been placed in a tomb provided by the millionaire in his life time. This had to be broken open today.

The exhumation and autopsy came as post-mortem events to a case marked by the unusual, as an aftermath to charges by counsel for Albert V. Searles, a nephew, in court proceedings several months ago, that the will of the recluse was procured by a plot, and as a direct result of anonymous charges to the district attorney that the old man died by poison.

Searles died in August, 1920. He had been ill for a long time. Certain aspects of his illness immediately preceding death are said to be unexplained. Dr. Victor A. Reed of Lawrence, associate medical examiner, who attended him at times, has said he could not understand some symptoms that developed while he was absent on a vacation.

Searles left an estate, the extent of which has been variously estimated at from $14,000,000 to $20,000,000. Arthur T. Walker of New York, who has assisted him in legal matters, was the principal beneficiary.

RUMORS OF BOMB PLOT DENIED

Early Stories of Attempt to Blow up St. Patrick's Cathedral Groundless

Rt. Rev. John J. Dunn Consecrated as Titular Bishop of Camuliana

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Thousands attended the consecration today in St. Patrick's cathedral of the Rt. Rev. John Joseph Dunn, D. D., titular bishop of Camuliana and auxiliary bishop of New York.

A regular mass preceded the ceremony and the customary action of church officials in clearing the edifice in order that only ticket-holders might be admitted to the consecration, led to rumors of a bomb plot, which later were denied by the church authorities and the police.

A number of detectives in plain clothes were present at the ceremony, but it was explained by the authorities that this had no particular significance. The detectives attended simply as a precaution, it was said.

cent on corporations' incomes up to 20 per cent. of their invested capital, and 40 per cent. on profits above. None of the bonus privileges would become operative under Senator Reed's amendment, until January 1, 1923.

Arguing for his amendment for a graduated tax on corporations in excess of the 15 per cent. levy recommended by the Finance committee, Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, said the 15 per cent. tax would result in the increasing by 50 per cent. of the taxes of a very substantial number of corporations in the country.

"The bill, the speaker said, would relieve surplus payers and the excess profit-making corporations but actually would add to the burden of many concerns."

"The increase," he continued, "increases the taxes not on the monopolistic class of concerns, not the big profit-making corporations, but the small struggling business concerns."

The increase on the "struggling corporations," Senator Walsh declared, was determined upon solely in order to repeal the excess profits tax. The speaker said this was an unfair and unjust proposal and had been put forward in an effort to get back into the treasury some of the $150,000,000 of lost excess profits tax.

Senator Walsh said it could not be successfully denied that the working out of the republican corporation tax plan would increase the taxes paid by corporations earning less than 5 per cent. and decrease the taxes paid by corporations making more than 10 or 14 per cent. depending upon the particular class of the corporation.

"And this," he declared, "at a time when business is prostrate, at a time when business is asking for relief; at a time when the republican party is claiming to be anxious to restore business prosperity."

Lowell Man Suggests Plan For Armistice Day Celebration

There seems to be a feeling in certain quarters that Lowell should have some sort of a public observance on Armistice day. The American Legion has planned an appropriate program of exercises which will be held in front of the city hall. Other than this there is no public demonstration planned for the day which brought an end to the world war and meant joy for so many people.

The city has made no appropriation for a celebration on this day. While plans are being made in the schools for exercises, an affair which would interest the public of this city and surrounding places other than the Legion's exercises, has not been worked up.

Charles Langley, agent of the American Express company, has been doing a little work on the quiet for the past few days and thinks a celebration in the form of a parade could be put over and would be a bang-up time for Lowell.

Sen. Reed Introduces Amendment to Tax Bill Which Will Force Show Down

Would Use Revenue From Excess Profits of Corporations to Aid Soldiers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The way was paved today by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, to force a vote on the soldier bonus bill which the senate recently laid on the table at the request of President Harding.

The senator introduced an amendment to the tax revision bill providing for taxes on excess profits of corporations and for use of the revenue derived as a special fund to pay bonuses to former service men. The amendment included the McCumber bonus bill, reported by the senate finance committee, providing for five year benefits to former service men.

The excess profits rates proposed in the Reed amendment were 20 per cent.

FIREARMS LAY UNUSED

Postal Employees Remained in Shipping Cases

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—A consignment of firearms that lay unused in the New York postoffice when automobile bandits held up and robbed a lone, unarmed mail truck driver of $145,120 last Monday night, were out today doing duty on the persons of guards who accompanied similar treasure trucks through the city's streets.

One of the first things that Postmaster General Hays discovered when he arrived here yesterday to take charge of the investigation of the robbery, was that a large shipment of guns sent to arm New York postal employees after a series of mail robberies in other cities, still were in their shipping cases. He ordered them unpacked and put to work. He also ordered an investigation to determine who had been responsible for their non-delivery to employees.

Postoffice inspectors increased in number to 15 after Mr. Hays' arrival, were bending every energy to unravel the tangled mass of clues leading to the holdup men.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS
CLOSED TODAY

The public schools were closed today for nearly every school teacher in the city was in Boston, attending the sixty-seventh annual convention of the Middlesex county teachers' association, held in Tremont Temple and Gardner hall, state house. Brilliant speakers from all over the country, among them America's foremost educators, were on the program for addresses on subjects of engraving interest to teachers, among them Hon. William Jennings Bryan and Dr. Andrew F. West, dean of Princeton university's graduate school.

This is one of the most important dates in the school teachers' calendar, the convention affording an opportunity for renewing old acquaintances and making new ones, and the interchange of experiences and views on current topics relating to school work.

to clean up the many details of the cancelled railroad strike.

Hundreds of congratulatory telegrams began to pour into the board's offices.

Railroad brotherhood chiefs said today that their resolution adopted last night, calling off the strike emphasized two points as evidence of a victory for the men.

These points were, first: That action of the railroad labor board on further wage cuts which the railroads may ask, will receive consideration only after pending questions before the board are cleared, thereby possibly postponing the question of a new wage revision for nearly a year. The second point was that action on rules, which the organizations wish to maintain, likewise would take its place on the regular calendar of the board, the question not likely to become an immediate issue.

Recall Orders Sent Out

CHICAGO, Oct. 28. (By the Associated Press)—The official recall of the rail strike orders issued by the switchmen, trainmen, conductors, engineers and firemen were dispatched today when leaders of the "Big Five" flashed code messages to their general chairmen. The chairmen will submit the messages to the locals and the official order recalling the strike will thus permeate the country in a few hours.

Similar orders probably will be dispatched today by the telegraphers' organization, the only other union that had voted to participate in the strike scheduled to begin Sunday and which had threatened to tie up the nation's transportation facilities.

MACHINE GUNS HALTED
EX-EMPEROR CHARLES

BUDAPEST, Oct. 28.—Former Emperor Charles' return to Budapest, met an effective barrier at Budapest last Sunday morning, when a band of university students, armed with machine guns, held up his progress until the regular Hungarian forces wheeled into line. Hungary's fate hung in the balance during that time.

It is asserted here, "I am sorry for the poor boys," he is quoted as saying: "Try to persuade them that resistance is hopeless."

Government troops were hurried forward and occupied the place held by the students. As a result when Charles gave the order to attack the battle was already lost.

RUNAWAY HORSE

A horse hitched to a delivery wagon filled with empty wooden boxes ran away in Aiken street, shortly after 11 o'clock this forenoon. The animal became frightened in Aiken street, at a point between Hall and Cheever streets, and started in the direction of Merrimack street, scattering empty boxes on the way. When the canal bridge was reached, one of the large boxes rolled from the top of the load, struck the driver's seat and went down with a crash directly in front of the horse. The horse stopped and a bystander held him until the driver came along. The boxes were later gathered up from the road and the rig continued its journey without any damage having been done.

SOCIAL SESSION

Paul Kittredge Council, A.A.R.L.R., held an important meeting and entertainment at Y.M.C.A. hall last evening with a large attendance. Mr. Patrick Kane presided and conducted a brief business session, during which a committee of 15 was appointed to start a membership drive. Former Alder No. 4 in The Sun classified section is ever purposely misclassified.

man John W. Daly was then presented to the audience to give a sketch of his experiences in Europe during his service there as K. of C. secretary. He gave a very interesting talk, telling of conditions in France, Germany and Austria and dealing in a hurried way with what he observed in Ireland when he went there to visit relatives on his way home. A feature of the entertainment was a musical cabaret presented by a troupe from Notre Dame de Lourdes parish. The interlocutor was Mr. Wilfred St. Pierre, who was assisted by Charles St. Armand, Joseph Belanger, David Lavoie and Raymond Lemire. Selections on the Irish pipes and violin were contributed by Mr. O'Garra and Charles Parley. Old Irish dances were given by Miss Irene Shughnessy and Mr. John Clowrey. The entertainment was in charge of Mr. John Payne and Patrick Kane.

the city. Mr. Langley has talked with several large manufacturers and they seem to be in favor of the idea. He will also put the matter before the chamber of commerce.

Last year Mr. Langley was instrumental in conducting the monster parade held in the city of Holyoke. He can see no reason why Lowell should let this day pass unnoticed without a public demonstration. He is of the opinion if a committee of business men or others interested could get together a sizable parade could be formed within the two weeks' time left before Nov. 11.

Mr. Langley would work in co-operation with the American Legion and have the parade terminate at the square a few minutes before the Legion's exercises were to be held.

He suggests all military and civic organizations to parade and would invite Battery B and the forces at Methuen. While Mr. Langley does not intend to pose as an organizer, he would be glad to meet any people interested in the affair and would give every possible assistance.

money and two empty pocketbooks. In confirming a report to that effect, a member of the Thellen family stated today that the intruder evidently had gained admission by opening the back door with a false key while the house was unoccupied. Mrs. Thellen went out at 1 o'clock and returned at 6. The Sun man was told, and was certain she had locked both front and rear doors. On her return Mrs. Thellen found the watch, which had been left on the bureau, gone as well as two pocketbooks, which were empty, and a small sum of money in change that she had left on the bureau. The thieves apparently were particular as to what loot they sought for a clothes trunk in one of the bedrooms was thoroughly ransacked but nothing was found missing. A member of the Thellen family stated today that the police had been notified of the break.

Pawtucketville, yesterday afternoon, when jewelry valued at about 150 was taken. The thief, it is believed, gained an entrance to the flat by use of a false key as the doors and windows were locked when Mr. and Mrs. Marcotte returned to their home from their work.

The articles taken consisted of five gold rings, one of which, a diamond ring, won by Mr. Marcotte in the Twilight League baseball league popularity contest last summer, was prized highly by its owner; a diamond stickpin, a beaded necklace and a gold pendant with diamond setting. Evidently the thief was in a great hurry, for in his haste to get out he slipped up on a small sum of money, a bank book, and a book containing $100 worth of war savings stamps, which were in a bureau drawer.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcotte are both employed in a local mill and when they leave their home in the morning they do not return until night. Their flat is located on the third floor and underneath them lives a woman, who very seldom leaves her home. Yesterday afternoon, however, at about 2 o'clock the neighbor went out and returned about 6 o'clock. Everything seemed normal in the Marcotte flat when she left and when she returned she did not hear any noise upstairs. Shortly after 8:30 o'clock when the Marcottes entered their flat they found things scattered all over the floor and after a hurried investigation found that considerable jewelry was missing. The police were notified.

TAX REVISION BILL PERFECT DISTILLERY IN QUINCY'S BIGGEST RAID

Attempt to Tax Undistributed Profits of Corporations Beaten in Senate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—An unsuccessful fight was made yesterday in the senate to write into the tax revision bill a provision to tax the undistributed profits of corporations. Three separate amendments proposing such a tax were rejected, one without a roll-call.

Also without a record vote the senate voted down an amendment by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, which would have authorized the secretary of the treasury to refund the $11,000,000,000 of foreign debts into long-term bonds the interest on which would be payable next January 1.

All of these amendments were on the section dealing with the corporation income tax, but the section finally was passed over until tomorrow, when the senate will consider an amendment by Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, proposing a graduated tax on corporations instead of the flat tax of 15 per cent. recommended by the finance committee. The first proposition to tax undistributed profits of corporations was offered by Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, who urged its adoption in a two-hour speech, delivered mostly to empty seats. The amendment provided that instead of a 15 per cent. tax there should be levied on the undistributed profits a graduated tax beginning at 8 per cent. on the first 10 per cent. of income and ending at 55 per cent. on the amount of income over 60 per cent.

This amendment was rejected, 45 to 24, four republicans, Kenyon, La Follette, Norbeck and Norris voting for it, and three democrats—Gerry, Hitchcock and Pomerene—voting against it.

Senator Simmons, democrat, of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the finance committee, proposed then that in addition to a flat tax of 15 per cent. there should be imposed a graduated tax on undistributed profits, which he said would average about 9 per cent. and yield about $50,000,000. This amendment was rejected, 48 to 29, four republicans—Kenyon, La Follette, Nelson and Norbeck—supporting it, and one democrat—Keller—against it.

Senator Jones then offered an amendment calling for a 10 per cent. flat tax and a levy on undistributed profits at one-half the rate in his original amendment. This was rejected without a roll-call.

The suit was the result of an article published in the Boston American some time ago.

As no other cases were on the docket for today, court was adjourned until 10 o'clock Monday morning.

ERNEST TRUOX AS THE HERO OF HIS FOOTBALL MOVIE, "LITTLE, BUT OH MY!"

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 27—This is a preachment on greatness.

The four most popular motion picture players of the day are Charles Chaplin, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and William S. Hart.

This, considering the world at large, in any one community some other player may have a greater following. But attendance figures from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand prove that the above four are the most popular.

Paradoxical as it may seem, their greatness lies mostly in their humility. They do not consider themselves greater than their art. As times have changed, as the public taste in entertainment has changed in the past decade, they have changed.

The tragedy of many players, who once were in higher favor than any of these, was their false valuation of their own importance to their art and to their public.

These fallen idols did not advance when the art of the cinema advanced. They did not change when customs changed. Consequently they were discarded like antiquated clothes.

It has been my good fortune to have spent at least several hours with each of the famous four.

Each of them was democratic. Each welcomed criticism of their work.

Each seemed seriously intent upon catching a glimpse of life from all its many angles.

Mary and Doug spend several hours a day in academic studies.

Chaplin snatched off the other day to see the prisoners at Sing Sing when not a publicity man or reporter was about.

Bill Hart has spent 18 years studying the life of Patrick Henry whose life he will portray in his next film, the most pretentious of his career.

Chaplin, Pickford, Fairbanks and Hart are great because they are industrious, sincere, humble and vitally interested in their fellow men.

The same virtues were attributes of Lincoln, Roosevelt and all other great characters of all time.

CHARGE COURT OFFICER WITH TAKING BRIBE

BOSTON, Oct. 28—Application for a warrant charging Daniel Thompson, a superior-court officer, with accepting a bribe in a corridor of the post-office building, will be made today before United States Commissioner Hayes.

Thompson was arrested yesterday by Special Officer Manning of Court-square station after Harry Poorvu, it is alleged, told Police Captain Kneeland that Thompson offered to get him a verdict of from $300 to $1200 in a case before a jury in a civil session if he would pay $200.

Poorvu, according to the police, was notified to go through with the transaction and after visiting a bank drew four $50 bills, and brought them to Station 2, where Captain Kneeland took the money. Poorvu left the station house, trailed by special officers Manning and Brennan and they followed him to the postoffice.

After the police claim the money had passed, the officers arrested court officer Thompson and he was taken to Station 2.

Following the arrest, Chief Justice Bolster of the municipal court granted a warrant against Thompson, but this was withdrawn and Officer Manning was instructed to take the matter to the Federal authorities when he told the court that the alleged transaction took place on government property.

An effort to secure a federal warrant late yesterday afternoon failed because of the absence of Commissioner Hayes, but Thompson was given his liberty in $1000 bonds for his appearance before Commissioner Hayes yesterday, following a conference Wednesday, between Officer Manning and Assistant United States District Attorney Joseph V. Carroll.

Thompson's arrest caused considerable excitement at the court house in Pemberton square.

The money alleged to have been passed in the federal building is said to have consisted of four $50 bills, the number of which had been recorded by Capt. Kneeland. It is claimed.

FEDERAL SHOE COMPANY BUSY

The textile industry occupied the foreground in a story in The Sun yesterday relative to improved business conditions and rapidly growing output. Today the shoe industry comes to the front. In fact there is one leading shoe concern in the city that believes the shoe output of its factory leads in proportion to that of the textile business.

Daniel W. Shanahan, superintendent of the Federal Shoe Co., stated today that this concern never employed as many hands as at present and is turning out more shoes than it ever has since the company started manufacturing footwear in Lowell. Perhaps what is most responsible for the increased business is the fact that a branch factory of the Federal Shoe Co. at Stoneham has been recently sold and the orders that were usually filled there have been transferred to the local plant. At the Stoneham factory women's shoes were made, but since that was closed those shoes are being made here, whereas before only boys' footwear was being manufactured. Until a week or so ago this company never employed more than 400 hands, but today, owing to the added business, there are 500 men and women employed, an increase that has alleviated the unemployment situation to some extent. Mr. Shanahan states that only Lowell people are put to work, thus giving the preference to home help over factory hands from other shoe cities. Working full time and often over-time, the plant is turning out 1000 pairs of shoes a day, a mark never reached before. Perhaps what is most encouraging is the optimistic view held by Supt. Shanahan who stoutly maintains that he feels this prosperous condition will continue all year around with no let-up whatever during the season usually dull for the shoe industry. He felt that business conditions in general were gradually becoming adjusted and stated that within a short time the serious unemployment situation facing the country would subside.

All these garments are Hand Tailored, some are all lined, others are one-half satin lined. PETITION FOR REMOVAL
OF PELLETIER

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Attorney General J. Weston Allen filed in the supreme judicial court yesterday afternoon a petition for the removal of Joseph C. Pelletier from the office of district attorney of Suffolk county. The order of notice is for November 14.

Mr. Allen alleges that District Attorney Pelletier conspired with Daniel H. Coakley, William J. Corcoran, ex-district attorney of Middlesex county, and others to extort large sums of money by threats of criminal prosecution; that he wilfully abused the authority of his office and permitted it to become the instrument of fraud and extortion; that he failed to prosecute or not proceed cases from improper motives; and that he allowed his office to be used by certain persons to force the settlement of civil claims.

Submitted by Sheldon

is not a joint petitioner with the attorney general as was originally planned, the petition is accompanied by the affidavit of ex-Supreme Court Justice Henry N. Sheldon, chairman of the sub-committee of the Association of the Bar, whose report was sent to Mr. Allen a month ago.

Judge Sheldon declares in this affidavit that the result of the sub-committee's investigation reveals "a condition of affairs relating to the prosecution of criminal cases in Suffolk county which is inimical to the public interests and the administration of justice."

The petition is the second petition for the removal of a district attorney which Mr. Allen has filed in the last six months. The first was against Nathan A. Tufts as district attorney of Middlesex and resulted in Mr. Tufts' removal on October 1.

The petition for the removal of Mr. Pelletier—like that for the removal of Mr. Tufts—is brought under the statute which provides that a majority of the justices of the supreme court may, if sufficient cause is shown and the public good requires, remove a district attorney.

Thirty-five Allegations
The general charges of misfeasance, malfeasance and nonfeasance are made against Mr. Pelletier. There are 35 allegations in all. Six cases are cited by name. They are the Emerson Motors case and the cases of Warren C. Daniel, Dorothy Cote and Agnes L. Smith, in all of which Mr. Coakley is named as a co-conspirator, the Emery case in which Mr. Pelletier is charged with conspiracy with Mr. Coakley and Mr. Corcoran, and the case of Merrill W. Shute.

Pelletier Replies
BOSTON, Oct. 25.—District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier, in a statement issued after Attorney General Allen's petition for removal was filed yesterday, sets forth copies of a finding of Judge Goff of the supreme court of New York and a letter of Judge Martin of the United States circuit court of New York, who sat at the trial of the Emerson Motors case.

Judge Goff's decision exonerates Amos H. Stephens, attorney for the Emerson Motors Co., whose disbarment was sought by the New York Bar association.

Judge Martin's letter addressed to Mr. Pelletier, expresses satisfaction that the Goff decision clears the Boston district attorney.

Postmaster General and Score
of Passengers on Midnight

Severely Injured

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Postmaster General Hays and a score of passengers on the midnight express of the Pennsylvania line for Washington were badly shaken up early this morning when the express crashed, in a heavy fog, into the rear of a local train at the Manhattan transfer in New Jersey.

Pennsylvania officials declare there have been no serious injuries although Mr. Hays expressed fear that Rush Simmons, chief inspector of the post-office department, who had been here with Mr. Hays investigating the $1,500,000 mail robbery, had been more seriously hurt than this report indicated. He said he saw Mr. Simmons being treated at Manhattan transfer, and that he appeared to be severely hurt.

Mr. Hays and a number of other passengers on the express were brought back to New York on an inbound train. A physician, who examined the postmaster general, said that aside from some strained muscles and a general shaking up, he had suffered no harm.

Describing the crash, Mr. Hays said he was just dosing off in his berth when he felt a shock which hurled him to the floor. Several others in his car also were pitched from their berths, he added.

At Mr. Hays' hotel it was announced that the postmaster general was resting comfortably but would hold in abeyance plans to return to Washington. It was said that Mr. Hays would undergo an X-ray examination during the day, although his injuries were believed to be superficial.

The only seriously injured person was Mrs. Ethel Moore of Ashbury Park, who suffered from an injury at the base of the skull. Twenty-one other passengers on the train were slightly injured.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS

The Boston traffic signals, which have been adopted as standard for the state, and which are to be demonstrated by Officer P. F. Langille, of the Boston traffic squad at the Merrimack valley conference of traffic officers held at the rooms of the Lawrence chamber of commerce this afternoon do not differ much from those in use in the larger cities of the state.

Instructions are explicit, however, that a signal is to be given but once, and never changed when once given. One reason for this is the nervous strain that comes to the traffic officer who makes half a dozen motions of the hand and arm for every signal. An investigation covering this point has shown that the efficiency of such an officer is impaired before his time is up on his post, and he loses patience more readily in dealing with motorists.

A uniform angle of 45 degrees is also required for nearly all signals. For example, to stop traffic approaching from the right, the right arm is raised at an angle of 45 degrees, palm raised at an angle of 45 degrees to the hand toward the vehicle to be stopped. To release traffic approaching from the right, the officer looks over his right shoulder, raises his right arm, palm front, to an angle of 45 degrees, and signals forward by bringing the arm to the front. To warn pedestrians right and left, both arms are raised horizontal, with the shoulders, the palms of the hands toward the pedestrians; and to release pedestrians, the arms are again raised, with palms front, and then bent at the elbows toward the center of the chest. In all there are ten signals used.

One of the speakers announced for the Friday conference, which is open to the general public, is Albert W. Devine, state headlight inspector, who says that 10,000 autos in the state have been reported already as not complying with the new headlight requirement. He will tell what is causing the trouble.

PLANT PESTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 28.—Five plant pests that live on diet of three-inch planks have been segregated by Prof. Walter H. Snell of the botany department at Brown university. In the course of a special investigation of the causes of rot in the roofs of New England weaver sheds.

The plants are being carefully nurtured at the Brown university laboratory on their favorite varieties of lumber. They are saprophytes, the scientific name for plant vegetarians, and their most vicious member is called Leptia septentrionalis.

The fungi's choice of weaver sheds, large one story buildings with saw-tooth roofs in the cotton mills where yarns are woven, has been found to be not entirely an accident. Cotton yarn handles best when it is damp. For that reason humidor artificially supply humidity in the weaver sheds, and in so doing, make the weaver shed a cozy incubator for the fungi.

The roof, usually built of three-inch planks makes an excellent condenser. The moisture of the air not only forms in minute drops on the under side of the roof, but thoroughly permeates the plank. That it has been found, in exactly what leucis asplaria wants. He, and his family of fungi, secrete juices which dissolve the wood.

Certain woods seem to be naturally antiseptic—woods that are heavy and resinous, like southern pine, or the redwood family. For some reason, at present undetermined, Leptia do not like them. But they are expensive. The common New England woods can be made unpalatable for leucis by impregnating them with coal tar, creosote or sodium fluoride. Unfortunately, coal tar creosote is oily and has an untidy habit of dripping on the cotton cloth below while sodium fluoride is very expensive.

Dr. Snell reports that he is working on a method of roof construction that will cut down roof-dampness and allow creosote to be used without danger of dripping on the looms below. If successful, his investigation may mean a large saving in roof replacements to mill owners.

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Rigid enforcement of the law which prohibits the setting of fires in backyards and similar places, except with the written permission of the head of the local fire department or a state forest warden, is planned by the state forestry officials, it became known today.

As the first step in their campaign, the state authorities yesterday prosecuted a Plainville man who attempted to burn up some rubbish in his back yard last Sunday; the fire got beyond his control and burned over an area of 600 acres, causing a property damage of at least $10,000. He was fined $100.

With leaves falling in great quantities from the trees, and with the stalks and vines from last summer's gardens awaiting destruction, the forestry officials anticipate that many householders will attempt to start fires in yards, and in many instances in the public streets, in order to remove such unsightly refuse.

The law prohibits such fires, however, unless a permit has been obtained from the chief of the fire department for each fire which he starts. The only exception is that debris may be burned on ploughed ground, provided the fire is kept at certain specified distances from buildings. The statute is found in section 13 of chapter 48 of the General Laws, and reads as follows:

"No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between March 1st and December 1st, except by written permission of the state fire marshal, within the metropolitan fire prevention district, as defined in section 28 of chapter 143, or, outside thereof, of the forest warden or chief of the fire department in cities and towns, or, in cities having such an officer, in cities having such an officer."

ACTUALLY STARVING

SOMETIMES I WONDER HOW I LIVED THROUGH IT, SAYS MRS. PETERSON

Declaring she was actually starving to keep from suffering awful misery, Mrs. Amy Peterson, wife of a prosperous farmer of Lakeville, Mass., gave out a remarkable statement, recently, in connection with her relief through the use of Tanlac.

"Sometimes I wonder how I lived through it all," she said. "I would have attacks of acute indigestion nearly every time I ate anything. These terrible cramping pains and the distress from gas and bloating were almost unbearable and I just thought there was no hope for me."

"But now I'm eating anything and I feel as strong and well as I ever felt in my life. I've gained back all the weight I lost and six pounds besides and I know from my experience what Tanlac will do. It's the best medicine in the world."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Fells, Melrose, Mass.; and by Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

cial, the fire commissioner, provided, that debris from fields, gardens and orchards, and leaves and rubbish from yards, may be burned on ploughed fields by the owners thereof, their agents or lessees, if such fire is at least two hundred feet distant from any sprout or forest land and at least fifty feet distant from any building and is properly attended until extinguished; and provided, further, that persons above the age of eighteen may set or maintain a fire for a reasonable purpose upon sandy land, or upon salt marshes or stony or rocky beaches bordering on tide water, if the fire is enclosed within rocks, metal or other non-inflammable material. The forest wardens in towns and officials performing the duties of forest wardens in cities shall cause public notice to be given of the provisions of this section, and shall enforce the same.

Whoever violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one month, or both."

The forestry officials, in discussing the situation today, said conditions in the woods are still very critical, because of the prolonged drought of the summer and fall. It was learned that fifty separate forest fires were reported as having broken out on Sunday last.

ST. PATRICK'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

It was announced yesterday by Rev. Francis J. Keenan, spiritual director of St. Patrick's Holy Name society that a number of monthly meetings would be held this year in the same manner as last, with well known speakers from all parts of Massachusetts presiding. Some educational speakers will also be engaged.

A great number of men from all over Lowell were attracted to the meetings last year, which were held in St. Patrick's school hall.

All efforts of the society, at the present time are being concentrated on a membership campaign which ends after the three-day retreat that will begin Thursday, Nov. 24. One of the most noted mission preachers of the country, Fr. Bonaventura, C.P., will preach this retreat. A reception will be held Sunday afternoon, Nov. 27, and it is expected that nearly 1000 new members will be enrolled by that time.

Lowell boys and girls can have their fun at Halloween provided they limit their fun to innocent merry-making. IF YOUR FRIENDS ARE EATING YEAST

THEY WILL BE GLAD TO KNOW THAT THEY CAN GET TINY TABLETS AT DRUG STORE

EASY TO TAKE—RESULTS QUICK—BETTER FOR YOU

So many people are eating yeast, spinach, oranges, etc., and drinking quarts of milk each day in search of vitamins that the chemists have perfected a tiny tablet containing a proper dose of both Water and Fat Soluble Vitamins in highly concentrated form. The tablets are more economical, less bother, easier to take and agree with the stomach better.

The reason people want Vitamins is because vitamins bring more strength, weight, color, freedom from boils, carbuncles, pimples, etc. Doctors say most of us need more Vitamins than we get in regular meals, and it is simply amazing what these Vita-Phos Vitamine tablets will do for a person in three or four weeks' time. The tablets are made in America's greatest laboratory. Tons of yeast are used. They get Vitamins also from hulls of rice, and mix the concentrated elements together into a proper dose—add Glycerol-phosphates, etc., and you get in a tiny tablet a scientifically compounded tablet that does amazing and most unusual things for men and women who are weak, thin, pale, under-nourished.

Local druggists recommend this new powerful way to get Vitamins, and you can get a bottle of sixty Vita-Phos Vitamine tablets at the nearest drug store or send $1. plus tax, to the King Laboratory, Wheeling, W. Va.—Adv.

RESERVE SUPPLY OF COMMODITIES

Alton E. Briggs, secretary of the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange, told the Men of the Round Table at the First Baptist church last evening that there is in Greater Boston a reserve supply of commodities to feed everybody for about 60 days even if every means of transportation of normal supplies were cut off. He stated that the Boston foodstuff merchants are devising plans whereby no one will be made to suffer during the transportation crisis, should such come to pass. He admitted that New England was chiefly dependent for its food supply on transportation, the great west supplying the greatest amount of provisions. Mr. Briggs dwelt on cold storage as the solution of maintaining a reserve supply in proper condition, stating that it is a serious problem to conserve part of the goods daily received while the demand remains at a high level. As for the manner in which foodstuffs are distributed from Boston to various parts of the district, Secretary Briggs said that 90 per cent now are transported in motor trucks.

FOR ENDURING AMITY

Pres. Harding Preaches Gospel of Understanding and Good Will at Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 28.—A gospel of understanding and good will, not only binding north and south in closer union, but bringing all the nations of the world into co-operation and enduring amity, was preached by President Harding yesterday in an address here, outlining some of his conceptions of the coming armament conference.

Speaking at the statue of Henry W. Grady, southern apostle of national reunion, the president declared America would enter the conference so imbued with the desire for international friendship that the blame must rest elsewhere should the negotiations for reduction of armament result in failure.

As Grady counseled reconciliation for a war-torn nation, said Mr. Harding, so would the United States plead that a disrupted world turn into the paths of peace to seek salvation. Such a leadership, he added, was possible without jeopardy to national safety or reversal of the established traditions of the republic.

Ready to Offer Helping Hand

"I believe it wholly consistent," the president said, "to preach peace and its triumphs in that convincing sincerity which an unselfish nation commands, and yet make sure about our proper defense."

"Manifestly, mankind is disposed to try that experiment. If, trying it, nations shall fail, it will be no fault of the United States of America. We are ready to offer a helping hand in the new path. We have tendered our invitation and the cordial acceptance which has come from every quarter leads to earnest hope of good results. We Americans have learned the lesson, on both the national and world scale. We fought our war of sections and systems, and decided forever in favor of peace and unity. Our own experience has taught us that we may hope that a like decision will be reached by a world reasoning amid the convictions which follow in the wake of a tragedy supreme."

Praises Grady and Roosevelt

With his praise of Grady the president coupled a tribute to Theodore Roosevelt of whose Georgia lineage he declared the whole south should be proud. The address follows in part:

"To come to Georgia is to come to the heart of the south. To come to Georgia on this, of all days of the year—the birthday of Roosevelt—is to realize that the heart of the south throbs for all the nation. To the making of that typical American of the new era went equally the warmer strains of the old south and the sturdy stock that gave the nation its empire state."

"So it is good, in greeting you men and women of Georgia, to recall the career of that outstanding American who in his life, as in his lineage, taught us how much we are prospered and exalted because of being united. And, coming thus among you, it is particularly a satisfaction to speak from the shadow of the shaft which you have reared to the memory of one who taught a reunited nation its duties, its obligations, its possibilities. For I recall the thrill with which I read, as a young man, the address of Henry W. Grady to the New England club; that most famous oration, I think, of its generation; that inspiring call to a nation to awaken to itself, to understand that its yesterday was dead, its tomorrow pregnant with magnificent opportunity."

"If ever one man was ordained to speak with the tongue of conviction and the voice of a great people that man was Grady."

"It has seemed to me, many times in the period since the world war ended, that the world at large might well let us show it the marvel which was wrought through a reunited and restored America. Because there was the will to get down to work, to cease replinings and regrets, we have among us erected here, out of the wreckage that our war wrought, a country in which we may fitly take the pride which every American feels."

"Who would have ours less than the great, rich, progressive, powerful and enlightened America, which we justly boast today; who would have it less a figure in the world than it has been in these years of crisis and disaster? What friend of civilization, of Christianity, of human advancement, would have wished our part less than it has been? Who among us is it not proud that we were able to participate very notably in the rescue of humanity in the struggle which menaced its very existence? Who would have us relinquish now our service for a better civilization?"

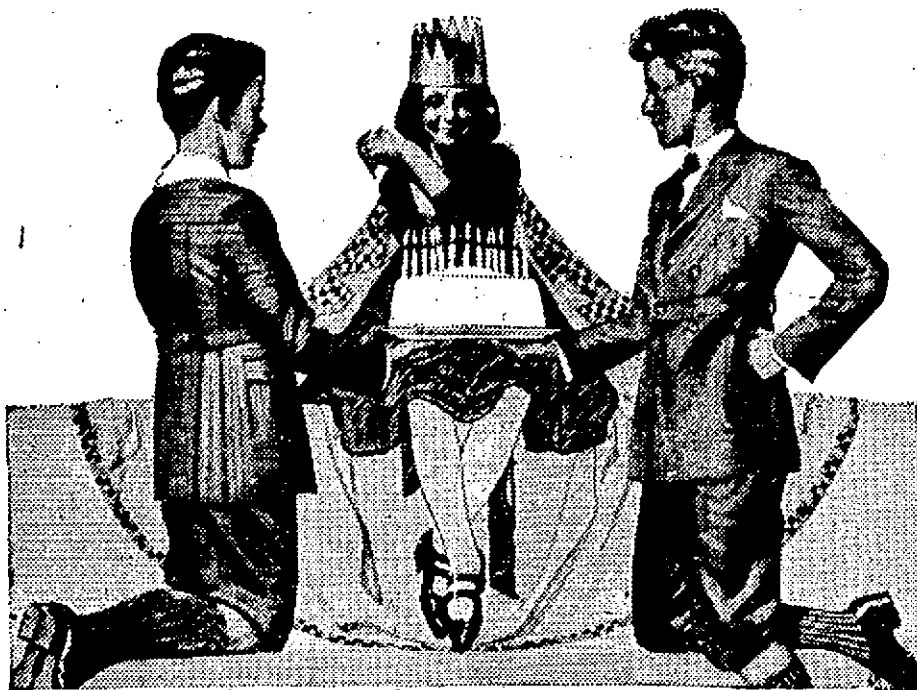

All Prefer Peace to War

"I believe, for instance, that every family which has lost a member in the struggle to save mankind from absolutism; every citizen soldier who has given years and suffering to that cause; every gold star mother or maimed veteran will agree that peace is preferable to war, and that to train a world in ways of peace is better than to prepare it for war. I would not have you misconstrue. I believe it wholly consistent to preach peace and its triumphs in that convincing sincerity which an unselfish nation commends and yet make sure about our proper defense.

"It should not be needful for us to repeat that, in whatever contribution we can make to the establishment of a better order, we shall not surrender any of our national independence. America will be for America first; but it will never be a merely selfish America, imagining to prosper by the misfortunes of others. It will stand for the co-operations, the mutual helpfulness, the wide perceptions which mankind needs to cheer and speed it on the way to the brighter and better realm of peace restored and effectively assured of progress resumed, and righteous aspirations impelling ever greater achievements and even higher attainments."

Is your appetite uncertain—your digestion impaired?

Why the food we eat may fail to keep us fit

ONE single food element essential to health! We now know that many of our inefficiencies and failures are really due to lack of a health-maintaining element in food—the water-soluble vitamin. Scientists are agreed that without this one food factor we lose appetite and weight and fall off in health.

This is why thousands of men and women who are eating otherwise good and wholesome meals find their energy and vigor slipping. And this is also why many have little appetite and remain in a state of lowered vitality.

Today Fleischmann's Yeast is recommended as a corrective food for overcoming these difficulties, for Fleischmann's Yeast has been discovered to be a rich source of the essential vitamin we need throughout life.

Fleischmann's Yeast is a wholesome, fresh food, assimilated like any other food. Eat it at any time, 2 to 3 cakes a day. You will like its fresh, distinctive flavor and the clean taste it leaves in your mouth.

Have it on the table at home and try it as a sandwich filler or spread on crackers. Have it at your office and eat it at your desk. It is good in milk, and many like it just plain. If troubled with gas dissolve it first in very hot water. This does not affect the efficacy of the yeast. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast and get it fresh daily.

Send 4c in stamps for the booklet, "The New Importance of Yeast in Diet." So many inquiries are coming in daily for this booklet that it is necessary to make this nominal charge to cover cost of handling and mailing. Address THE FLEISCHMANN COMPANY, 701 Washington Street, New York, N. Y.

The need for scientifically tested yeast

Fresh yeast has been proved by recent scientific tests to be a valuable food for correcting run-down condition, constipation, indigestion and certain skin disorders. These original tests were all made with Fleischmann's Yeast. Beware of untested yeast-vitamins preparations that contain drugs or other mixtures. Fleischmann's Yeast (fresh) is a pure food, rich in vitamin, in which it measures up to the high standards set by laboratories and hospitals. The familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label is the only form in which Fleischmann's Yeast for Health is sold.

REV. P. J. McGRATH, O.M.I., TELLS OF PRESENT CONDITIONS IN IRELAND

Rev. Patrick J. McGrath, O.M.I., who will be remembered as having been stationed at the Immaculate Conception church some 14 years ago, was a visitor in Lowell this week on his return from Ireland, where he spent the last four months. He went to Ireland in June and visited practically all of the leading cities, including Belfast, Dublin, Cork, Limerick, and Galway. Asked as to the present economic condition of Ireland the reverend gentleman said: "It is remarkably good considering what the country has gone through. It is true that the people were unable to attend to their business as usual and that the tillage of the fields suffered accordingly and in some districts much more so than in others; but on the whole it is really surprising that the people have come through their terrible struggle as successfully as they did. The crops this year suffered somewhat on account of the long continued drought; but in spite of this, the various crops show a very fair return."

Wonderful Spirit of the People

In reference to the spirit of the people and whether they are discouraged, Fr. McGrath stated that he never knew a people to be more united or more determined to win national freedom than are the Irish people of today. The national spirit, he said, is really magnificent. Various things have contributed to this. Foremost among them was, of course, the brutal treatment of the young men who took part in the rising of 1916; then the withdrawal of the home rule act, and subsequently the indignity offered the Rev. Dr. Mannix, and finally the ravages of the Black and Tan, by which England hoped to terrorize the entire people and cause them to abandon the struggle. The result was just the opposite of what England expected, for not only the young men and old got into a fighting mood, but even the women were ready to take the field against the marauders, who came in the dead of night to rifle their homes and take young men out and shoot them at their own doors.

Heroic Mothers

As an instance of the spirit shown by the women of Ireland, Fr. McGrath mentioned the case of a young man who had been arrested without any apparent reason so far as his relatives could learn. He was taken to the police station, he said, and kept there for two days, while the officers endeavored to extort information from him relative to the movements of the republican army. His mother went to the police station to find what he was arrested for and to see if he was, to be set at liberty. She was told that he would be allowed to go to his home if he signed a paper stating that he would have no more connection with the republican army or any movement in favor of the Irish republic.

The mother thereupon asked to see the boy and in the presence of officers told him that if he signed the paper they would return home as she would disown him. To which the boy replied: "Mother, you know I never would sign any such paper." Fr. McGrath visited Dublin before the truce was declared and attended the meetings at the mansion house, in which the leaders of the Irish movement transacted business in the open. He was astonished at the display of bayonets and military equipment wherever way one turned. Armored cars seemed to be everywhere with their guns pointing in all directions; and at street corners, military companies stood with bayonets fixed and ready for action, but the people moved along through the streets entirely indifferent to their presence. In one case a military company standing by an armored car seized a young man who was passing for some cigarettes. He said he had none except the one he was smoking, but that he would go and find them some. He went off and soon returned with a package which he threw into the middle of the group and it proved to be a bomb that killed four of the men and did serious damage to the armored car.

British System Overthrown

What is plainly evident, Fr. McGrath said, is the total breakdown of the British system in Ireland outside of Ulster, of course. The republican government is functioning perfectly and wherever the Royal Irish constabulary appears, they simply move about without interfering with the people in any way, knowing that this is the safer course.

Some people representing England have intimated that in a plebiscite on home rule the people would break away from their leaders, but this, said Fr. McGrath, is utterly untrue. "I believe," he said, "that in a plebiscite today, even Ulster would sustain the republican leaders. British rule is absolutely overthrown in Ireland and it can never be restored unless the people are exterminated."

Fr. McGrath stated that wherever he went he found the people of Ireland deeply grateful for the assistance rendered them in the struggle by their friends in America. The White Cross aid splendid work and its services are everywhere appreciated and applauded.

STRUCK BY MOTOR TRUCK

John H. Sullivan, of 14 Edison street, reported to the police today that while driving a truck for McCarthy Bros. of Broadway, on Rock street, yesterday a man who gave his name as Walter Taylor, of Pepperell, stepped in front of the vehicle and was struck and knocked down by the mudguard. Sullivan removed Taylor, who was slightly hurt, to the Corporation hospital.

LEGION'S WOMEN ALSO TO MEET

MISS PAULINE CURNICK
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 28.—Missouri will entertain the first annual convention of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, Nov. 1 and 2.

at Kansas City. More than 1000 delegates and 3000 guests, representing every state in the Union and Hawaii, will attend.

One year ago the Women's Auxiliary had no permanent organization; it was an intangible, miscellaneous organization of relatives of ex-service men who desired to aid the American Legion in its work for the relief of veterans of the world war.

Today the auxiliary has 35 departments with 10 more in process of formation; its numbers of units has increased from 1342 to 1600 since Jan. 1, 1921; its membership has grown more than 200 per cent during the year.

To effect a permanent organization will be the main feature of the first convention this year. To decide on a permanent name and to pass upon the qualifications for eligibility, and other policies connected with the organization will be foremost issues at the sessions. National officers will be elected and the future activities outlined.

The unusual growth of the legion's sister organization may be attributed largely to the activities of Miss Pauline Curnick of Indianapolis, national organizer and director.

WILL REORGANIZE FALL RIVER MILLS

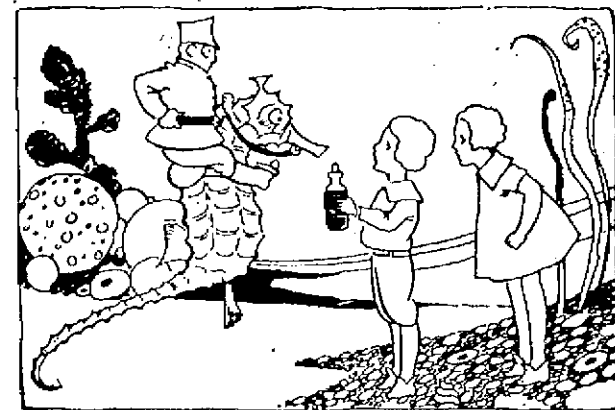

FALL RIVER, Oct. 28.—The stockholders of the Parker Mills voted unanimously at the annual meeting yesterday to adopt the plan for reorganization recommended by the directors. This includes recapitalization and purchasing the plant of the Hargrave mills. Both concerns are insolvent, but have been saved from enforced liquidation by the hope of the creditors that some way out other than enforced liquidation could be found. The two concerns had from their organizations been under one management, with Seth A. Borden, agent and treasurer. Last May he resigned and Benjamin B. Reed, treasurer of the Lincoln Manufacturing company, was elected to succeed him.

START NEW TECH BUILDING

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Ground was broken at Tech yesterday for a new laboratory, to be used by 27 army officers attending the Ordnance School of Application, which is being conducted for the government at the institute. The building is to be used for the testing of tractors, gas engines and tanks.

Adventures of The Twins

"WILL YOU PLEASE TELL US WHAT TO DO WITH THIS?"

The cuttlefish did as he was told his throat is too small to swallow so much as a herring, living on the finest sorts of things. But those others! Ugh! They could swallow a church, although they never do, preferring cuttlefish.

"There, now!" said Cap'n Pennywinkle when it was full. "That ought to be enough to save three or four whales, big fellow and I want the Twins to save one."

"Whales!" cried out Mr. Cuttlefish in alarm. "Did you say whales, Cap'n Pennywinkle?"

"Yes," answered the fairymen. "The sharks are planning to attack a nice big fellow and I want the Twins to save him. Have you any objection?"

"I don't know whether I have or not," replied the cuttlefish. "It depends upon the whale."

"How so?"

Cuttlefish shivered. "Why, if it's the sperm whale, the big one with sharp teeth, he's just waiting for a chance to make a dinner off me. Of course, if it's Mr. Whalebone Whale, I don't mind, for he hasn't any teeth, and

Nick held up his bottle of ink curiously. "Will you please tell us what to do with this?" he asked.

"It's very simple," answered the fairymen. "Cuttlefish ink is the blackest in the world. When the sharks come too near to Mr. Whale, take the cork out of your bottle and pour the ink into the sea."

TOLD HIS EXPERIENCE

Lowell Swimmer Tells Story of His Attempts to Negotiate English Channel

"Some day I'm going to tackle it again regardless of conditions and I have confidence of bringing this honor to Lowell," these were the closing words of Henry F. Sullivan, Lowell boy, whose attempts to swim the English channel have won him international recognition. In his address before the members of the local council, Knights of Columbus, in Association building, last evening.

More than 200 members listened attentively to a vivid description of his latest trials to negotiate the channel, interestingly related by the man whose failure to succeed in the great task have only spurred him to new attempts.

Mr. Sullivan related in detail his trip from Lowell to England, his training for the great task, the tremendous odds he faced in the treacherous waters of the channel, and the number of courageous attempts he made in the face of almost hopeless success. To cross the stretch of ocean between France and England.

His talk, starting shortly after 9 o'clock, followed a short business meeting of the council, the first one, over which the newly elected grand knight, John Hart, presided. Little matters of importance were considered at the session other than plans for the lecture to be given on Nov. 9 by Peter Collins and the ladies' night to be held on the evening of Nov. 15.

platform amidst a thunder of applause from the audience who readily recognized the man whose courage and resolution have won for him commendation the country over. In a few well spoken words the lecturer presented Mr. Sullivan, referring to him as "the greatest athlete of all the great athletes Lowell has produced." In a calm, clear tone of voice Mr. Sullivan began his story, telling briefly of his attempts to make the channel in years past.

"The first time I went over there," he said, "I was really a greenhorn. I really had no idea of the channel but simply felt that what one man could do, I could do. This year, instead, I went over with some knowledge of what I was going to attempt. Accompanied by John Conlon, of this city and Capt. N. L. Smith of Winthrop, to whom I am greatly responsible for my attempt and whose advice proved very valuable to me. I left Lowell July 11, going directly to New York, whence we sailed on the Mauretania three days later. The trip across the ocean took a week. Landing in Southampton we proceeded to London, and from there to Dover. I immediately started in training for I wanted to be in the best of condition. From July 22 to August 12 I swam 8 hours and walked 10 or 12 miles daily. We continually watched the action of the tide, which let me tell you is an unknown thing to Americans. Favorable tides only come in the channel every two weeks and the only time that the swim can be negotiated is when the tide is slackest.

"The tide was to come in on August 14 and we immediately went to Boulogne, France, where we registered at a small hotel. A peculiar and funny incident happened there. The woman who ran this hostelry first told us that she charged 75 francs a day for each person. But after we registered she changed her mind. Of course we set ourselves down in the hotel register as 'Americans.' Soon as the woman noticed this, she remarked to the captain, who could speak a little French: 'Sorry, monsieur, for others the rate is 75 francs, but for Americans it is 100 francs. Others have coffee for breakfast, but the Americans eat eggs, steaks, milk. I must charge more.' So the fact that the Americans are reputed to be big eaters cost us a fortune at this hotel. But as it was the only one in the town we had to put up there."

Then Mr. Sullivan described the channel and some of its peculiarities. He said that the channel is 21 miles wide and has cliffs extending over its sides ranging from 300 to 400 feet above the level. Under the cliffs there between two dorles instead of behind a boat as has been some time done.

"The channel water is 10 degrees colder than American waters," he told another inquirer, "and I could never stop to float myself, for if I did, my muscles would freeze and I could not start again."

He said he used the side stroke, that being the most adept movement for the channel and regarded a choppy sea more of disadvantage than a rough sea. In real rough water he would put on goggles to protect his eyes and at times would swim high using the breast stroke so as to avoid the heavy waves. The swimmer compared the channel attempt to a long marathon race in which if the racer relaxes he loses his stride and soon finds himself out of the running. "Once you start you must keep going at the same rate of speed," he stated, "for a rest to the muscles or slowness of speed would prove disastrous."

The renowned water athlete answered several other questions and at the end was given a rising vote of thanks for the fine manner in which he had delivered the account of his unusual experiences.

Original language of the New Testament was Greek.

Famous Vienna Child Specialist Arrives

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Dr. Clemens Pirquet, famous Vienna child specialist, whose simple "pelidisi" formula for computing degrees of malnutrition, enabled the American relief administration to pick readily the most undernourished children in Austria at a time when every ration counted, arrived today on the Adriatic. He will deliver the Silliman course of lectures at Yale university this winter.

HENRY F. SULLIVAN

is about 1000 yards of area covered with round stones which are continually rolled around by the action of the tide. The breakwater at Dover he described as being one of the best pieces of work ever done. It is used as a harbor for the British fleet and he told of a horse and van containing eight persons being washed off the breakwater while he was there.

"On the 11th at 3 o'clock in the morning we made our first trial to get started. The boats with the Stars and Stripes floating from their masts were ready as were 15 English and French press representatives who were to be the official witnesses of the achievement. It is a necessity to have newspapermen of those nationalities because in England they never credit an American press man with telling the truth. This first attempt proved unsuccessful before we had gotten very far, for a rough sea suddenly came up and the boats had to put in at Calais. They were compelled to stay there four days, the bad weather preventing them from coming back to Boulogne.

Just to give you an idea of the cost of the undertaking it cost us during the four days more than $1000 for expenses for the men in the party. And all this without even an actual trial. The next start was made on August 25. This time I took to the water but after 10 hours and 35 minutes I had to abandon the attempt, again because of the heavy sea. Again on Sept. 10 we attempted to cross the channel. This time William Burgess, who swam the channel in 1911, accompanied me. The start this time was made from the English side. We started at 6 o'clock in the evening and I had been in the water but a few hours when again the sea became rough. I kept at it for 12 hours, but finally had to give up. Burgess later told me I should have left the water hours before, but I was hopeful the roughness would subside and I might continue. On Sept. 22 I tried again, but this time as before we had hard luck on the weather. That was the final attempt."

The Lowell swimmer stated that there were three Englishmen, and several swimmers from Canada and Italy who had been there from July 1 in the hope of crossing the channel, but who also met with disappointment. He said that one Italian stayed in the water 11 hours and stated that nobody else had done it or could do it.

He said it would not do to criticize any of those who did not try the swim for here it is not known how had the channel really is for a swim of this sort.

"Joyce of England," he said, "put up odds of 40 to 1 that the channel could not be crossed." He blamed the terrible tide caused by the great onrush of the waters from the North sea as responsible for the channel being such a difficult proposition to tackle.

"I received excellent treatment from all those with whom I came in contact and all expressed deep regret that I could not succeed," Mr. Sullivan said, and in concluding stated: "I don't take my hat off to anyone and some day regardless of conditions I'm going to tackle it again."

After the speaker had been accorded generous applause it was announced that Mr. Sullivan was ready to answer any questions that might be asked him and to this statement a number of queries were put.

In answer to a question regarding training Mr. Sullivan replied that he used olive oil and laid on his body to close the pores so that they might not all with water and weigh down the person. The food for him was put out from a boat, he answered another member, about five feet out so that he could never come closer to the boat than that distance. He said he swam

Equipment at Textile School
in Good Shape—Large
Evening Attendance.

The equipment at Lowell Textile school is now in first class order as the result of a pretty thorough overhauling by concerns having machinery in the plant. Several new pieces of apparatus and machines have been added and this, together with a complete renovation of the humidity system puts the plant in excellent shape for carrying on this year's work.

While several new appliances have been added, President Barnes says more will be installed as time goes on. The Johnson & Bassett company of Worcester has just completed installing a new woolen mule. The company provided a mule head mounted on a portable platform for class room demonstration.

The Davis & Furber company of North Andover has finished installing a complete set of wooden cards to replace others of their make which have been in use. A woolen mule head of the latest type is also mounted on a portable platform for class room work.

The Universal Winder company of Providence has added a new winder. The Fraser company has just finished putting its latest devices on all looms. The American Moistening company of Boston has put on the latest humidifying heads for regulating humidity throughout the plant. This entire system, which has not been changed since the school was built has been brought up to date.

The evening school attendance is the largest in the history of the institution, over 1000 having registered for the classes. President Barnes wishes to call attention to a new course of electricity which has been added to the list this year. The course is an advanced one open to all who have had some previous instruction in electricity.

About one dozen registered for the class last Monday and more are expected to enroll tomorrow night. There will be two meetings a week on Mondays and Fridays at 7 o'clock.

MOSCOW, Oct. 25.—In three weeks of travel through Soviet Russia, The Associated Press correspondent has seen but one intoxicated man. That was a workman in Moscow who was so far under the influence of liquor that he was unable to tell a group of curious and thirsty men where he found the liquor.

The new decree permitting 12 per cent. of alcohol in beverages has not produced the results which hitherto have been hoped for. Wine cellars have not produced hidden supplies and apparently there are no vegetables, fruit nor grain available for conversion into drinks. Restaurants and cafes have no alcohol.

3 cups confectioner's sugar 1 egg white
Powdered sugar may be used, but does not make as smooth icing. Unsweetened chocolate. Grated rind of 1/2 orange and pulp of 1 orange Put butter, sugar, orange juice and rind into bowl. Cut pulp from orange, removing skin and seeds, and add. Beat all together until smooth. Fold in beaten egg white. Spread this icing on layer used for top of cake. While icing is soft, sprinkle with unsweetened chocolate shaved in fine pieces with sharp knife (use 1/2 square). To remaining icing add 1/2 square unsweetened chocolate which has been melted. Spread this thickly between layers and on sides of cake.

LOCKED IN REFRIGERATOR

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Akber Khan, proprietor of a meat market at 1 Warren street, junction of Park street, Charlestown, was locked in the large refrigerator of his store and his cash register was emptied by two young men, about 6.30 last evening. The robbers ran from the store and made their escape. Khan stated that $85 was stolen.

The young men entered the store shortly before closing time. One of them asked Khan about some meat. When Khan opened the door of the refrigerator and stepped inside to get the meat, the door was closed upon him and the lever thrown across the lock, making him a prisoner inside.

He started pounding and shouting for help. A few minutes after the young men left the store a bar on the door was put in place. Khan heard the pounding on the refrigerator door and released the storekeeper, who was chilled by his brief stay inside.

Khan telephoned to the police of station 15 and Lieut. Kitten sent to the store a squad of police in the patrol, but a search made in the vicinity for the young men was unsuccessful.

The young men were described as each about 25 years old, of medium build, wearing dark clothes and a cap. Up to a late hour last night the men had not been captured.

THE STRIKE HAD "BRAD" WORRIED

Dealers in Christmas trees are starting today for the great north woods to purchase supplies for the Santa Claus season. Numerous northern handlers of Christmas trees, spruces and hemlocks have already received large orders for small-size trees, which will later be packed in freight cars, hurried across the border and distributed all over the United States.

One of the biggest handlers of Christmas trees in New England is John H. H. Bradbury of North Acton. Mr. Bradbury was in Lowell today, and was about the most cheerful individual in town. There was a reason for his happiness.

When the Christmas tree "king," as he is called in his home town, read the news of the cancellation of the threatened strike order, he wanted to dance. Had the railroad been tied up for the next few weeks, there would have been no chance for Santa Claus Bradbury to secure his annual carloads of trees and bring them over the border into the American markets.

Said Mr. Bradbury:

"This strike order had me on the worry list. I assure you, I was all ready to start for Canada yesterday morning, but was afraid to go because I supposed the strike order was going to be carried out. If I had got up north with several carloads of Christmas trees, there is no telling when I would get back again, and there would probably have been no chance for moving the trees down this way in time for the Christmas trade. The cancellation of the strike order, however, makes it plain sailing for me from now on. I expect a splendid business this year in trees of all the popular kinds."

TEACH CHILDREN HOW TO THINK

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Habit of persistence, self-control and concentration are assets of greater value to a young man than information which would enable him to answer all the questions proposed by Thomas A. Edison, Payson Smith, state commissioner of education said today to members of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts. The primary function of education, he said, was to teach children how to think, not to tell them what to think.

CABARET AND DANCE

Last night in Lincoln hall the Lincoln club held its seventh annual cabaret and dance. Both from a social and financial point of view the affair was a pronounced success. The large crowd of young people present enjoyed the cabaret work of James Deignan and the dance program offered. Credit is due to the following officials of the affair: General manager, John Souza; assistant general manager, Manuel Martin; floor director, Dominick Verza; assistant floor director, T. Martin; and chief aid, Manuel Perry.

The flyers included Augustus Post, president of the Aero club of America.

According to the pilots, the machines left their home airport on Long Island, Wednesday, at 8.30 a. m. in a pouring rain. They flew to Dayton, Ohio, in 5 1/2 hours. Leaving Dayton yesterday morning, they arrived at the Legion flying field here shortly before dusk.

Lowell's exhibit for the International Textile exposition which is to be held in Mechanics building, Boston, from October 31 to November 5, will be taken to the Hub tomorrow morning, by Secretary Wells and Assistant Secretary Gallagher. The local exhibit is at the present time in the library, but preparations for its removal have been going on for some time. Four 200 carrels are included in the exhibit and about every possible article made in this city by the textile plants is included. It is possible a display of pictures will be brought to Boston later, but at the present time the exact space allotted is not known and will not be until the carrels are placed.

URGES U. S. TRADE PACT WITH SOVIET RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (By the Associated Press).—The Russian commission of the near east relief yesterday recommended to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, as head of the American relief administration that the United States enter into a trade agreement with Soviet Russia along the lines of those made by Great Britain, Sweden and Italy.

The commission recently completed a tour of the famine area and conclusions reached after extensive investigations were included in voluminous reports, which made several recommendations for aiding Russia with food and other supplies.

Maintaining that Russia was solvent in that she could use her natural resources as collateral for supplies, the report asserted that the Soviet government already had adopted this method for obtaining credit.

The commission said it "found the Soviet officials uniformly earnest, hard working, to all appearances sincere men, as well equipped for their work as the average officials of any country."

The report declared that relief merely sufficient to tide the twenty million inhabitants of the Volga famine areas over until next year would be worse than useless.

Must Be Surrendered in 36 Hours

PRAGUE, Oct. 28.—Former Emperor Charles must be surrendered to the "Little Entente" within 36 hours under the terms of an ultimatum from the members of this combination of states, which it has decided to present to the Hungarian government in Budapest. Deputy Macoch declared at a mass meeting held here last night that the ultimatum would be presented some time today.

EX-EMPEROR CHARLES ISSUES STATEMENT

BUDAPEST, Oct. 28. (By the Associated Press).—Immaculately clad in the uniform of a Hungarian general, former Emperor Charles, a prisoner in the hands of the people over whom he made an abortive attempt to re-establish sovereignty, today issued the following terse message through The Associated Press correspondent:

"It was sure any people would offer resistance, as I gave orders to withdraw when the government troops opened fire. Nothing can persuade me to provoke civil war. I trust Providence and the future will bring harmony between the Hungarian nation and its sovereign."

Charles and ex-Empress Zita were seen by the correspondent as they paused at the railway station of Szekesfehervar, near the shores of Lake Balaton, on their way to "Thany Abbot" from Esterhazy castle, where the erstwhile royal pair were captured after last Sunday's battle.

Except for the military escort, the ex-rulers gave no appearance of being prisoners. Charles looked fresh in his general's uniform, and the ex-empress was neatly clad in a plain gray dress.

Prince Esterhazy, their host during their brief sojourn at Tata-Tovaros, was accompanying them to their new temporary residence.

TEXAS REPRESENTATIVE FAINTS After Being Publicly Reprimanded in House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The censure of the house of representatives rested today upon Thomas L. Blanton, democratic member from Texas. Retaining his seat by a bare margin on the resolution of Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the republican leader, proposing expulsion for insertion in the Congressional Record of a document described as "unspeakably vile," Representative Blanton a few minutes later heard his colleagues vote unanimously for a resolution proposing that he be publicly reprimanded at the bar of the house.

Giving every evidence of a crushed and broken man at the conclusion of the ordeal, the Texas member brought the scene to a dramatic conclusion when, on leaving the chamber after the speaker's reprimand, he collapsed to the floor. He quickly recovered, however, after being picked up by colleagues, some of whom had voted for his expulsion.

NO LOCAL DELEGATES AT LEGION CONVENTION

The state delegation of the American Legion left Boston today for the three-day national convention which opens at Kansas City, Monday. Neither Francis J. Roane or Historian John J. Walsh, of this city, were among those leaving and it is believed neither will make the trip to the western city. Mr. Roane told The Sun this noon that owing to a severe cold recently contracted, he was advised by his physician last night not to attempt the long journey, although, he stated, he had already procured tickets and arranged for accommodations with the state party. Comrade Roane, a member of the Lowell post, was selected by the Massachusetts department to be one of the representatives at the gathering.

State Historian Walsh was also scheduled to leave today, but as far as could be learned he did not go. Mr. Walsh could not be reached at his Boston employment and it could not be ascertained if he intended going tomorrow or Sunday.

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—This season's umbrellas show the change of fashion in the handles since the small combination sun and rain umbrella suspended on the wrist by a strap, gave way to bigger, proportions last year. The dress umbrella, such as one carries with a fur coat or a smart wrap, is done with exquisite detail. Even the leather strap with its bakelite ends is handsomely worked. The handle of the wood stick, ending in the stub ferrule, is combined of carved bakelite and wood. The tips are of bakelite. This Franklin Simon umbrella is in all colors.

Black and white are the mode in dress umbrellas—white bakelite upon which black bakelite is applied in designs, being the very latest.

Even the stub ferrule is artistically worked out in designs of black and white while the strap is black leather.

A novelty Franklin Simon umbrella has a vanity case, powder puff and mirror in the top of the handle.

GEORGE JONES' BODY STILL UNCLAIMED

The body of George Jones, a resident of this city, who was killed in a runaway accident in North Billerica a week ago today, is at the funeral parlors of Undertaker Joseph Albert in Alken street, and has not yet been claimed by relatives. Although Medical Examiner F. H. Smith and the undertaker have done all in their power to locate some relatives of the dead man.

In Jones' room were found numerous letters from Gray, Me., and as a result a telegram and a letter were sent to a Mrs. Annie Jordan of the latter place, at whose home Jones lived prior to his coming to Lowell, and the reply received by Undertaker Albert was as follows:

"I am very sorry to say I know very little that will be of much help to you. Mr. Jones was never married. The only near relative I have heard him speak of was a married sister, who lived in New Jersey and she is now dead."

When Mr. Jones left me he had about $50 in his pockets and later when his room in Race street was searched, bank books showing deposits of $100 in local banks were found.

THE RAILROAD ISSUES

For some weeks past, this country has been in a state of uneasiness and suspense on account of the threatened railroad strike. In some quarters, the railroad brotherhoods have been denounced as a menace to the public and to the country at large, just as if their claims had no basis of justice or right. We are not among those who assume that the brotherhoods are entirely wrong; that railroad men are already reeling higher wages than they deserve and that the railroads are justified in refusing to lower freight rates unless wages are also lowered.

So far as we can learn, there is a great deal of truth and justice in the claims of the railroad men. We have seen various lists of wages paid on railroad systems; but unfortunately some of them are very misleading and very unfair to the workmen. We have made some investigation as to the rate of wages paid railroad employees on the Boston and Maine and New York and New Haven systems; and we must confess, that many of the employees are barely receiving what is enough to support an average family in the ordinary comforts of life. Some other employees may, perhaps, be benefiting too much by overtime charges, and may be running up to pretty high figures in that respect; but if there are many such cases it should be easy for the companies or the Railroad Labor board to ascertain the facts and deal with them in a proper manner. We have seen several of the wage scales paid to railroad employees on railroads in this part of the state, and as a result, we are convinced that many of the laborers employed by such titles as Lowell, Lawrence and Fall River are better paid than are many railroad employees of long experience in various lines of work.

For these reasons, we believe that the public is not justified in condemning the railroad brotherhoods outright as trying to extort unfair conditions from the companies. The operators are apparently too strongly wedded to the idea that if they cut the present high passenger and freight rates they will be unable to pay the dividends of 5 and 6 per cent authorized in the Esch-Cummins law. We believe, however, that lower rates would bring more business and consequently more revenue and, therefore, enable the roads to make a reasonable profit, whereas, with prohibitive rates, they may be unable to do so. Their case is somewhat similar to that of the trolley companies that charge an excessive fare and thus drive the people into the use of jitneys or automobiles or otherwise induce a great many to walk who would ride if the fare were a nickel for a short route. We have instances of that right here in our own city, where a ride of a few blocks to and from Merrimack square will cost twenty cents.

The railroad operators have been instrumental in precipitating the present trouble by the action of their executives in asking the Railroad Labor board to order another cut in the wages of the employees on condition that the amount thus saved would be passed along to the consumers in lower rates. It is not at all surprising, that the brotherhoods arose in self-defense in the face of such a proposition.

When the roads were returned to private ownership after the war, freight rates were jumped 40 per cent and they have not since been lowered except in the case of some few commodities chiefly intended for export.

There are assembly two sides to this case as to most others, and all the justice is not on the side of the railroads by a long shot. If they favor a reduction in wages they should begin with their higher officials and use the pruning knife effectively on the high salaries. They might also cut down upon their vast output of propaganda. We do not believe there is a newspaper office in the country that is not flooded daily with railroad statements against the employees, claiming that wages are the chief cause of all the trouble with the roads and the only cause of the high freight rates. This claim is not sustained by the facts and the railroads are today injuring business generally by maintaining prohibitive freight rates. One of the great obstacles to the activity in building operations is the high cost of transportation on the railroads. The same is true of many other industries.

It is therefore time for the railroads to put their house in order and prepare for a very material reduction in freight rates. The country looks to the Railroad Labor board to take up the whole question of railroad operation, freight rates and the wages of employees, dealing with all in a manner that will be fair to both but that will still give employees a rate of wages that will pay them for their demonstrated ability and be adequate to enable them to enjoy the comforts of life as befits men of experience in any technical business.

ROUNDING "BLIND CORNERS"

Hereafter when new streets are laid out, it is safe to say there will be no sharp corners. Already it is evident that the danger of accident at some street corners in various parts of the city, can never be overcome except by cutting off the corners and rounding them in easy curves that afford a better view ahead. Already many dangerous corners have been eliminated. An excellent job of this kind has been done at the junction of Lawrence, Rogers, Wameet and Abbott streets. It was a costly job, to be sure, but it was well worth the expenditure. The danger has been overcome at the corner of Lock and Graham streets, as in various other instances in different parts of the city.

One of the most dangerous corners for auto traffic in the entire city is at the junction of Westford and Smith streets. Already many accidents have occurred here to stay.

occurred there and only the presence of a traffic officer at that point prevents serious accidents, especially on Sundays. That corner must be rounded just as soon as the street department can get to it. There are many others also, that require attention. In some cases the abutters are making the necessary changes and thus saving the city considerable expense. Sharp street corners have been rounded at the junction of High and Rogers streets; and now the corners of the Rogers Hall school grounds at Hanks street and Fort Hill avenue are being rounded. The latter has been a very dangerous corner at which several collisions have occurred.

"Blind" corners in the outlying districts where motorists drive at a great rate of speed must be remedied, as they are a constant source of danger. Unfortunately, very few auto drivers observe the law which forbids a rate of speed higher than eight miles an hour at street intersections at which the view is obstructed. When the reckless driver turns a blind corner at a rate of speed forbidden by law, then there is a combination of the two main elements of danger—lack of care and lack of a clear view ahead. It is, therefore, necessary to remove one of them and as to the other—recklessness, we must look to the police and the courts to stamp it out.

THE CANDIDATES

There is no reason for dismay on account of the large number of candidates who have offered their services to the city in the municipal council or the school board. These candidates may be regarded as volunteers for municipal service and as such they are showing a degree of patriotism which is not conspicuous among business men. When the country called for volunteers in wartime, there was a ready response, and there was no reflection upon any of the volunteers on account of their past experience, their education, ability, or lack thereof in this or that direction. The city at the present time calls for men to serve in public office and to help in the administration of her affairs. It is rather a reflection upon the business men of the city that they do not appear to believe that this appeal refers to them. The question may well be asked if patriotism as indicated by public service is confined to any particular class.

In this election, there is no distinction as to race or creed or partisan politics. The citizens are to choose officials to conduct the municipal government for the next two years; and it is generally acknowledged that it would be a proof of patriotism and public spirit on the part of any business man, to volunteer his services for the municipal council or the school board. If it should turn out that on account of the vast number of candidates, he did not succeed in being elected, that fact would not at all be discreditable. Where so many candidates are up for office, it is practically certain that some of the best of them will be left outside the breast-works. No business man, however, should be deterred from becoming a candidate because of the risk of defeat.

MEETING ADVERSITY

The average farmer is active enough to make both ends meet even if his own acres are not sufficiently productive to carry him through the year. Attention is called to a leading granger in a county town not many miles from Lowell. He had a "poor year" on his acres. The corn borer worked havoc and ruined the market chances of profit. The frost killed nearly all his apple buds. But did he sit down to bemoan his loss and declare that Washington politics was to blame? He did not! He discovered that another farmer living not far away had a good apple crop, loads of corn to get in and extra work waiting for a good wood-chopper. The farmer who might have sat down by the fireside and mourned all winter because of his unprofitable summer's work, is now at work harvesting his brother granger's apples. Corn cutting is next on the program, and a winter's job in the woodlot is waiting when cold weather sets in.

The average Massachusetts farmer is a hustler who can meet adversity in the right spirit. The farmer who blames Nature for his losses will get nowhere.

THE TYPIST

George H. Rossford, of Paterson, N. J., retains his title of typewriting speed champion of the world. He types 150 words a minute, beating all comers. That seems fast. But how many words can you read a minute? Take out your watch and time yourself. You'll find your brain works from two to four times as fast as the world's fastest fingers—those of Rossford. That's how the brain saves our slower physical machines during emergency.

The typewriter is one of the great mediums for the quick transmission of thought. It has increased the size of newspapers, has given the world more books than would otherwise be possible and has enabled mercantile houses to transact much of their business by correspondence.

The sign in the hotel read, "These chairs for writing purposes only." "That's one thing I never could do," said Sandy Dunn to the hotel clerk. "Write with a chair?" queried the clerk. "Write with a chair," said Sandy.

Parlor Magic

During the after-dinner speaking the toastmaster saw Jones, a somewhat shady character, slip two spoons in his vest pocket. When the last orator had finished he rose, "Gentlemen," he said, "there is nothing to add after all this brilliant speaking, so I will try to entertain you with a little parlor magic. You see, I take two spoons. I slip them in my vest pocket. Presto—and they are in the pocket of Mr. Jones. Mr. Jones, will you please corroborate my statement?" Jones, not to be outdone, rose, "I am rather handy at that sort of thing myself," he said, "Presto—and they are back in the pocket of the toastmaster. Mr. Toastmaster, if you don't corroborate my statement, I'll have you searched on the spot."

Wasn't Listening

There was an amusing ending of a civil case tried in a Woodbury court. It was an appeal case, and on one side was a testy lawyer and on the other a number of inexperienced attorneys. The arguments on both sides had been heard and the case closed for judgment. Suddenly one of the inexperienced lawyers got up and addressed the court once more. The testy lawyer stood it for a moment, but, losing patience, he said in an angry and addressed the court in the voice, "Your Honor, I would beg, with all respect, to point out to the court that my learned friend opposite is entirely out of order in addressing the court, and, if I may be permitted to say so, the court has no right to be listening to him." The court, who at that time was writing, put his head up in a brilliant way and said, "It is a great deal of impudence on your part to assume that the court is listening to him."

Helping the Boy

Whatever else a man has to do who has a son, observes Dr. William E. Barton, his real business is to make a man of that boy. If he neglects this high duty and bestowable privilege, no matter what his reason or excuse, he will surely live to rue the day. Whatever else a father gives his son, he should not fail to give himself. He is himself a larger gift than any he can earn and convey to his boy. Boys need mothers, and mothers can do some things with boys and for boys which fathers cannot do; but no man is justified in comparing on this account that he has an excuse to neglect his boy, or to turn him over wholly to his mother. The wise father will not try to do his duty by the mere spending of money for the boy, or letting the boy spend money upon himself. He will give himself as well as his money. He will share in his boy's fun, and he will also be serious and earnest hours which also he would like to share with his father.

When his boy asks him hard questions, he will not look up from his paper in annoyance, and say, "I don't know. Don't ask so many foolish questions." When his boy is facing the great moral issues of life, his father will not leave him to learn all the most sacred facts about life from those who bear them with foul suggestions. He will tell his boy what the boy needs to know. He will remember that he cannot fool his boy by advising one course of conduct and practicing another. He will endeavor to be the kind of man he wants his boy to be when he grows up. Perhaps if he does these things, he will someday overbear his boy say to some of his companions: "When I get to be a man, I want to be just such a man as my father is."

Berton Braley's Daily Poem THE CAR OF HAPPINESS

A car of almost any kind, Rolls-Royce or Ford, is heaps of fun. For at the wheel of it you'll find Communion with the wind and sun. But there's one sort that brings a joy. Outdaring all the rest by far— Watch any little girl or boy Who owns and drives a kiddie-car.

Its motor has a heap of pep (Two sturdy legs that make it fly). Pedestrians must watch their step And let the daring driver by, With whirling feet, with whizzing wheels. Undaunted by the bumps that jar, The young speed-demon knows and feels The thrill that's in a kiddie-car.

The motorist is full of pride. A pride he plants in seeds to you. But his conceit is nought beside The kid whose kiddie-car is new; And proud of all folks and This world where lots of proud folks are. Is he who owns that little kid Who owns and drives a kiddie-car. INSTRUCTOR IN AUTO REPAIRING

At a special meeting of the school board yesterday afternoon, Mr. Derbyshire was elected as an instructor in automobile repairing at the Vocational school. Mr. Derbyshire was recommended for the position by the state authorities and by Principal Fisher and Superintendent Molloy. When the matter was taken up at the committee's regular meeting last Tuesday evening the attention of the members was called to the fact that there were two other applicants for the position, and in order that they also might be allowed to present their qualifications and attempt to receive its approval the settlement of the question was postponed to yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Chairman Delaney called the meeting to order at 5:10, with all members present. Supt. Molloy read a communication signed by R. O. Small, director of the division of vocational education, stating that one of the men was not qualified to teach, that another was qualified to teach classes in the machinist trade, but not auto repairing, and that Mr. Derbyshire was qualified to teach auto repairing, provided he took a teacher's training course after appointment, which can easily be arranged.

Before proceeding to the election, Mr. Fisher was questioned briefly by some of the members. In regard to the composition of the class which was to be instructed, Mr. Fisher explained that it is made up principally of second-year students with some first and third-year boys added. To teach a given vocational subject a man must have at least four years' experience in that subject or trade. Only in an emergency like the present will a man without teacher's training be appointed and approved by the state board and allowed to take the course afterward. Under ordinary circumstances the requirements are eight years in the trade, a good general education, teacher's training, and in all but exceptional cases his age must be between 21 and 40. Besides this, all teachers in vocational training must take summer courses each year to improve themselves in the subjects which they are teaching. On Mr. Warner's motion Mr. Derbyshire was unanimously elected.

In compliance with the committee's request, voiced at the last regular meeting, Principal Bennett of the Jones junior high school had put in writing the gist of his conversation with Supervisor of Janitors Thornton, relative to the need of a janitress at the school, and his letter was read by the superintendent. Mr. Bennett said that he first mentioned the matter to Mr. Thornton last spring, because he felt that the employment of a woman in this capacity would improve conditions at the school in many respects, and had spoken of it again many times, the last of which was within a week. He considered the appointment necessary. This letter referred to the employment of Mrs. Durant, who was appointed a janitress at the school last Tuesday night.

The meeting adjourned at 5:20. DEGREE IN BREWING BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Oct. 25.—A striking innovation in university education will be introduced at Birmingham university. The college officials plan to confer a degree in the science of brewing.

Ex-Emperor In Benedictine Abbey

BUDAPEST, Oct. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—British, French and Italian military commissioners to Hungary, visited the Benedictine abbey at Tisany, yesterday, and later made official affidavits that former Emperor Charles and former Empress Zita were lodged there. The abbey is isolated by a cordon of troops. Count Julius Andrássy, Deputy Rakovsky, and Gustave Gratz, former minister of foreign affairs, who arrived at Tisany on the same train that took the former monarchs to that village, have been placed in the villa Hevesy, which is under heavy guard.

Delay Passage of Tax Revision Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—There appeared to be little prospect today that the tax revision bill could be passed by the senate by tomorrow night as republican leaders had planned. There was no agreement to limit debate on this.

BATTLE OVER MILLIONS OF INDIAN CHIEF

By N.E.A. Service
MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 28.—Jackson Barnett is the richest Indian in the United States.
That is why a fight, which has thrown the courts of two counties and federal officials into a turmoil, is being staged.
At present the chief lives, almost out in the open, in Okmulgee county. He has no use for white man's fads and fancies, but much prefers the great outdoors.
His home is a four-room shack—and he's satisfied with it.
All this in spite of the fact that millions upon millions of dollars literally rolled into him when great oil gushers were discovered on his land some years ago. No one seems to know just what he is worth; he owns a million dollars worth of Liberty bonds alone.

It is an Indian theory that a man's wealth should be dispersed of before he dies—after his relatives are properly cared for.

That's where the big fight comes in. Barnett with the approval of officials has already given $1,000,000 to Baylor university, a Northern Baptist school at Muskogee, and a quarter of a million for an institute for sick Indians.

Following these gifts, it was announced that Barnett and his family were to be removed from Okmulgee county to the town of Muskogee, in Muskogee county. He was to have a $75,000 residence to take the place of his backwoods shack.

And Okmulgee county let out a howl. County Judge Hugh Murphy of Okmulgee says he will not consent to the removal of Barnett's estate.

While the fight hangs, as yet undecided, Barnett's guardian has petitioned the county court in Okmulgee county for permission to use $150,000 in building Barnett a home in Okmulgee county and purchasing adjoining land to establish a pony ranch.

Barnett's white wife, with whom he eloped some time ago, and his stepdaughter, have tired of the open life. They are in favor of moving to Muskogee, in Muskogee county.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

BY STANLEY THE AFFAIRS OF JANE

LADDERMAN GOING INTO WINTER QUARTERS

The "ladderman," old familiar friend of many farmers in the country and house painters in the city, has returned from his summer's journey across central Massachusetts and is now preparing to go into winter quarters. He reached Lowell, his headquarters while in this section, just before sunset last night, stopping his white horse attached to an old-time ladder wagon and chair carrier, in the square near the Chelmsford street bridge. He was giving Joe, the motive power for this summer business transport, a rest, while he stood on the sidewalk near the animal's head and read an evening paper.

C. M. Warner is the name of the ladderman, known all through this section of New England as "C.M." He is an old-timer and year he isn't. He has been traveling about the country with wagonloads of ladders for the past 27 years, and naturally has made many friends. Some years business is rushing; this year trade fell off somewhat, and yet there has been a good demand for ladders of various kinds, notably extensions. The demand for summer furniture has also been good.

Warner gave a little account of his life work yesterday while his horse rested. He started in a good many years ago, with headquarters on Tremont street, Everett. He travels around the countryside, roughing it when necessary and putting up wherever he can find a good place, providing he isn't near a city or town. He has had many experiences, some of them worth repeating, and some not.

He has figured in several lively happenings, but has never been the victim of robbery like some ladder vendors in other sections of the state. Not long ago, an old-time ladder and chair peddler, with an outfit similar to Warner's, was gagged by highwaymen in a lonely Maine section, and robbed of all his savings. It sent the man to his grave.

The ladder business this summer, of since Warner began his tour of the rural districts last April, has been "up and down" in more ways than one. The farmers naturally are not buying many ladders with no great amount of apples to pick. And yet Warner has been disposing of ladders of the extension variety, and finding a good demand also for step-ladders and painters' short ladders.

"Do you know that the home painters' brigade was one of the biggest things in the work line this season?" Warner said. "You must take my word for it when I say that the demand for so many medium length extension ladders and step-ladders this summer was due solely to the demand for platforms and 'mounts' with which to paint homes, barns and garages. Many householders did their own painting this season, and bought ladders for the work. I sold more of them than I did long ladders for tree work."

The ladderman is going into winter quarters very shortly now. He generally puts up at the old Sharkey stables on Middlesex street near the railroad station, when in town.

MRS. MOLLA BURSTSTED MALLORY ATTACKS WITH ALL THE FORCE OF MOST MEN

BY ROY GROVE
"Woman's place is in the home," used to be the universal belief. Not now! So fast has woman jumped into man's field that when a woman does something in a mannish way, the one-time head-of-the-house sex looks upon it as a matter of course and lets it go at that.

There are three women prominent in athletics who equal the speed, power and endurance of man. They are Mrs. Molla Burststed Mallory, Miss Cecil Leitch and Miss Suzanne Lenglen. Molla Mallory and Suzanne are indeed the Babe Ruths of the tennis world. The only difference in their play is the way in which they get around the court. Molla is what one might call a merciless type of player. Banging with all the force of a big league swifter, she runs across the courts in sure and heavy strides, usually in all respects. Her back strokes and volley shots equal those of Tilden, for she possesses maximum power for them from the shoulder. She goes into action gritting her teeth and setting her jaw with all the determination of a pugilist. There is nothing of the daintiness about her work. It is swinging and hits, and at the completion of the stroke both feet are firmly on the ground, and they reflect the power of her thoughts.

Suzanne Lenglen is rather of the opposite type in some respects, although she possesses that same mannishness in her footwork and is certain to get the ball and get it quick, no matter what position she may be in after the play is finished. There is an amount of daintiness in the work of the French flash that does not show up in Molla's work. Her speed is dazzling and sensational. Suzanne, you must remember, is

French and that carries with it temperament and a certain amount of delicacy. But, although not so mannish, perhaps, as Molla, her stroke is just as powerful and her greater speed more than offsets the handicap.

Miss Cecil Leitch, the great British woman golfer, is more powerful than the average masculine golfer, and has out-driven many of the pros of the open golf except that it is played with a different kind of club. She is known for her bulldoggedness and when in a sand bunker this Ruth of the links lets 'em have it with all the force of a sand storm. There is nothing distinctive about her golf except that it is played with a different kind of club. Sport Jobs

The football season may be considered in full swing now. Tomorrow's games mean important contests for nearly every big college and university in the country. The make-up of the teams have been pretty well settled upon by their coaches and from now until schedules are played out much the same faces will appear in lineups.

The three most interesting games on the slate for tomorrow are the Harvard-Center game at Cambridge, the Georgia Tech-Penn State game at New York, and the Cornell-Dartmouth game at Ithaca. The Yale-Brown game also promises lively delings but the Providence team is a bit too weak this season to give the rejuvenated Elms much of a tussle.

Harvard is not bragging much about its chances for victory tomorrow. The Crimson had a mighty tight squeak in the Penn State game last Saturday and would have been defeated had the Nittany Lions elected to play a safe game in the final quarter.

Last season the Kentuckians, or Praying Colonels as they were termed, came to the stadium with a great reputation for two seasons. But the southerners proved to be overrated and while they made a good showing, it was Harvard's game all the way. This year the Kentuckians are not so sure. At least upwards of 15,000 persons have that idea as tickets for the contest are as scarce as for a Harvard-Yale game.

For two seasons now G.H. Public has been pointing his Cornell team for the Dartmouth game. Each season the Big Green has made the New Yorkers look poor. Dartmouth looks stronger this year than it did last and has made a good showing. It is not so sure of a gloom around the Hanover campus over the crippled condition of the eleven. On the day of the game mythical crutches are generally discarded and the Green trawls like Dartmouth to win again this year despite the fact the Cornellians have the highest scoring machine in the country to date.

Penn State and Georgia appear about even matched, with Penn having the edge of there is any. Penn produced about the shiftest backfield attack seen for years against Harvard. Making an impression against Harvard coached machines is not an easy task and should give the college boys going up to last Saturday's work the going will indeed be rough for the southern invaders.

Both Lowell high and Lowell Tech will be busy tomorrow. The high team enters into a contest with the high team eleven will meet Boston college high.

Babe Ruth is apt to take a fine slap from Judge Landis. The big boy openly defied the rules of baseball and gave off a great extent through the papers as to what he would do regarding barnstorming trips. And then the Babe quit and said he saw the error of his ways and was sorry. But was Babe sorry or was it because the trip had not such a success as was expected?

If Eddie Collins lands the berth as Yankee manager, it's a cinch he will win the pennant before July 4. Keeping tabs on the Yankee outfit is a tough task according to Miller Huggins.

Haverhill is planning for its biggest crowd tomorrow when Haverhill high meets Manchester high. The record for a crowd is said to be 10,000. That mark must have been set when George Greenleaf, the great Gilroy, took Dartmouth's measure at the dedication of the stadium there a few years ago.

The sporting world lost two of its best known figures by the death during the last few days of "Big" Masterson, a writer, and Jimmy Barrett, a ball player, dropped from the ranks of the well known.

Added to Lowell's stellar attractions for Saturday is a sporting afternoon at Golden Cove park which appears to be attractive enough. Nearly everything is included in the program.

Interest in roller polo hasn't fallen off a bit, judging from the crowds attending the games. And it's a bit early yet for the teams to shape up as they are capable of with a month's playing.

Boston drew another lemon boxing card the other night. Walter Mohr, who was scheduled to meet Paul Doyle in a 10-round bout, developed a case of the flu or something at the last minute. A substitute took his place and made a mess of it. More work for the boxing commission.

Johnny McGovern of Woburn is a stable of glove pushers. Larry wants to match Mac with Mickey Kist, Tony Julien or Tommy Ryan of Lawrence. McGovern has fought a number of good contests in local rings and gave promise of developing into a fine fighter.

Johnny Avila is training conscientiously for his coming bout with Jack Perry. Avila, who is a clean living fellow, has always been ready to jump into the ring, but until now did not engage in scientific training. He is now being capably instructed and looks forward to a busy season.

Larry Amann, manager of Young Farmer and Dick Ferguson, has advised

LOWELL HIGH READY FOR BOSTON COLLEGE

The final practice of the high school football team before the big game with Boston college high tomorrow was held this morning at Spaulding park. Every football fundamental was gone over carefully by Coach Cawley and the team that represents Lowell high tomorrow will be an aggregation that has a keen sense of football knowledge.

The policy of Coach Cawley all the year has been to slowly bring his men around into perfect condition. This has been accomplished and from now on the Lowell team is expected to show some real football. The team that lines up against B. C. high tomorrow will be one that has the confidence of Coach Cawley to come through with a decisive victory.

Although the loss of Capt. Lelista is a severe blow, the development of Joe Sweeney into a very capable substitute has alleviated the worry that Coach Cawley has had. At this morning's practice this youngster ran the team with the coolness and skill of a veteran. Next year should find him one of the team's biggest stars. After the season in fundamentals the team was sent through a long signal drill.

Much stress was laid on the overhead work of the team and it is through this kind of play that the local boys expect to score many points. The pivot of the attack tomorrow will be Gus Normandin, who is depended upon for many of the running plays. Gus will also shoot the forwards as in the last few practices he has been the pivot of the overhead plays. He throws an accurate pass and plays the receiver in the field. Another change is the fact that Freddy Gleason is now the receiver of the majority of the forwards instead of Ned Condon.

The kicking tomorrow will be done by Condon. This morning he was sending up punts that were averaging around 45 yards. The backfield tomorrow will consist of Gus Normandin, Sweeney, Craig, a newcomer who has developed fast in the past few weeks, and Willard or Conway. Conway has been pressing Willard hard for the right to start the game tomorrow. Both are light and fast and have a superabundance of nerve.

The line is the one spot that has caused Coach Cawley some difficulty to pick. The lines of the first and second teams are almost on a par and it is with difficulty that Eddie picks his first team line. The ends tomorrow will be Ned Condon and Freddy Gleason. The tackles are expected to hold the flashy Higgins in check. The tackles will be Rowlandson and Sullivan, two scrappers of the first water, with Denny Long and McMillan on the outside. McGinnis will take care of the guard positions capably, while Eric Dodge will show the same fine brand of football as he has shown in his previous games. He is such a favorite with the high school following.

After the signal drill Coach Cawley had Ned Condon and Freddy Gleason drop kicks over from the 30-yard line. Both are improving steadily as kickers. Condon has been appointed acting captain by Coach Cawley in the absence of Ray Linton.

BILLIARD CHAMPIONSHIP

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—The fight for the national pocket billiard championship had narrowed today to two men, Ralph Greenleaf, the Littlefield, and Walter Wood, of Minneapolis, with the former holding the advantage. Greenleaf has won seven matches and lost none, while Woods has six victories to his credit and one defeat.

LEACH CROSSED TO BOX MAXWELL. NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Leach Cross, veteran lightweight, will observe the 15th anniversary of his professional career on Nov. 1, by engaging Frank Maxwell in a decision bout. Cross has won two decision bouts since he essayed a comeback several months ago.

SPORT RHYMES

He fought his hardest battle,
But it seemed he couldn't win,
For every time he knocked him down,
He'd bounce back up again.
He swung a wicked kicking toe,
And said, "I'll kick a point."
And then instead, he slipped and
His hip bone out of joint.
His optic had a bandage on,
But he never gave a thought to fail,
The fullback kicked the pigskin,
While his eye was on the ball.

He wasn't much to look at,
But he had that little knack
Of grabbing players by the neck
And giving 'em a crack.

The mentor had the dope all right
When to the back he said,
"Instead of kicking every ball,
You ought to use your head."

The track man squatted on the line,
The starter yelled, "Get set."
His pistol, somehow, wouldn't work,
The coo-coo's said there yet.

I'll blow the football up," he said,
And with a manly cough,
He put it up to his lips,
And blew his fool head off.

The soccer ball came through the air,
At first he tried to kick the thing—
And almost kicked the bucket.

There is a guy in our town
Who every day is grieved,
He is so ticklish he can't hold
The football to his side.

He ran the ball full eighty yards,
And put his team ahead—
And then the cheering woke him up,
And he fell out of bed.

Starring Means Work, Says Crimson Back

GEORGE OWEN, 19-YEAR-OLD HARVARD HALFBACK

BY BOB DORMAN
BOSTON, October 28.—George Owen, 19-year-old star halfback of the Harvard varsity, takes a serious view of life and its problems.

And it is perhaps this very seriousness that has made him one of the most feared backs on any football eleven in the east. "My studies to me are just as important as my work on the football field," Owen says. "I believe that playing football has helped me immensely in my school work."

"Even when I was nothing but a kid, I earned that if I was going to be a successful football player, I must learn to concentrate my attention on the game and on its varied plays and problems."

"It's practice, it's the coaches and what they are trying to teach you, that must be concentrated on."

"If you don't do this you are apt to miss something that may be invaluable to you later on."

"If it's during a game? Well, it's pretty evident that you have to keep your eyes open then."

"Now that habit of concentrating on your work, you can carry it into the class room with you. If you will."

"And it adds you immensely in following the routine of class work."

"When you play college football, you have to work, and work hard."

"And the concentration work gets to be a habit—that's with some."

"And that same habit of work, if followed out, will prevent any worries on the score of scholastic standing interfering with your playing football."

BUTLER A. A. TO PLAY INDIANS 2ND

Next Sunday on the old Fair grounds, the Butler A. A. and the Second Indians will clash to settle all arguments as to who should lay claim to the best water-weight team of Lowell and vicinity.

The Indians have several well known pitl, welders on their team who have in the past contributed in great part to the success of their efforts. Sunday the Butlers hope to show them that their team has been suffering from the gentle art of football, boxing and wrestling to make it interesting for them.

The Butler A. A. is made up of former high school stars and ex-service men. The team weighs on the average of 145 pounds, pure and simple, and they are in the best of shape for work rather than heavy line plunging to win their games.

They are ably coached by Gen. "Red" O'Hare and Capt. "Loge" Haylen. The lineups for Sunday follows:

Butler A. A.—Drillon, Hayden, Conways, O'Hare, Miller, Anderson, Armstrong, McCann, McArdle, Trask, Shea, D. McMahon, McMahon, P. Maguire, Chase, Sheehan, Sullivan, D. Conner.

BIG GOLF EVENT

Miss Leitch Plays Miss Stirling and Jim Barnes. NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Miss Cecil Leitch, who wears a triple golfing crown, holding a championship of Great Britain, France and Canada, had a double task today that drew a large gallery to the Pelham Country club.

She was scheduled to play Miss Alexia Stirling of Atlanta, formerly with the States champion, in the morning, and James Barnes, Pelham professional and open champion of the United States, in the afternoon.

This was the first meeting of the two women stars in this country. Miss Leitch defeated Miss Stirling in the British and Canadian women's championship tournaments. Expectations that they would meet in the recent United States title tournament were not realized because of the surprising defeat of Miss Leitch by Mrs. F. C. Lettis, Jr., of Chicago.

Fall River fans are displaying keen interest in the featherweight battle between Chick Sugar, the New England champion, and Tom McHugh of Philadelphia at the Casino A. C. of Fall River tonight. McHugh rates with the best in his class and is just the type to make the champion travel his fastest.

New York promoters are trying to make a match between Benny Leonard and Dave Shade, the California lightweight.

Andy Chaney will face Freddie Jacks, English lightweight, in a 12-round bout Monday night in New York.

Leo Flynn is managing Billy Shade, the California light heavyweight. He has offers from several clubs to pitch his man with Harry Greb of Pittsburgh.

Another club was added to the lengthy list operating in New York yesterday, the state athletic commission granting a license to the Star Sporting club. The first bout will be held Monday night with Leach Cross and Frankie Maxwell, a new-comer in the lightweight class, doing the fighting in the feature mill.

On the Other Hand

In Europe, they start them off young in the different lines of sport. We speak of Amy Bos, the youthful amateur Holland billiardist, who is coming over here in January to compete in the international class A 150 ball-line championship.

Bos, like Horaceans, started his career by playing high-class billiards at 15. His first championship was won in 1915. The next year he repeated and rose to the class A division and since then has been steadily on the increase. In the early part of the year he gained permanent possession of the Kras gold cup in Holland. For the first time in 1920 the Hollander played in a world's championship tournament in Paris against Faroux, Darrastere, Baudant, De Groot and Koudel, all well acquainted with the game. He won all his matches except the one with the more experienced Baudant.

It is this youth that is menacing the older men in the game and not the experience of their elder opponents.

A successful tour has just been completed by Tilden, Richards, Mrs. Molla Burststed Mallory, Miss Eleanor Gore, Washburn and others prominent in tennis, chess, polo and other sports. The object was to aid the American committee for devastated France and several thousand dollars were raised for that cause.

It was a noble thing for these stars to give all their time to this cause after they had just finished one of the most strenuous seasons this country has ever seen. And more than noble for them to fill the hole that was left when they had just finished one of the most strenuous seasons this country has ever seen. And more than noble for them to fill the hole that was left when they had just finished one of the most strenuous seasons this country has ever seen.

The willingness of her opponents to take up her work demonstrates the stuff that champions are made of.

B. C. TO PLAY FORDHAM. BOSTON, Oct. 28.—The Boston college football squad, numbering 25 players, left for New York to play Fordham tomorrow. Several regulars were absent because of injuries.

RICE MEETS FRIEDMAN. NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Rice Rice of England, holder of the Lord Londale belt, emblematic of the English light-weight boxing championship, will meet Sallor Friedman of Chicago in a 15-round contest in Madison Square garden tonight.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres Own Press Agents

THE STRAND

Regeneration, a theme that always pulls the heart and entertains, especially when it is a woman's story, is the leading subject of "What Women Will Do," with Anna Q. Nilsson featured at the head of an all-star cast. A charming romance enters into the story and there are several startling developments. William Russell in "Children of the Night" is a brand new story for this popular star while "The Fall Guy," with Larry Semon, is truly humorous.

OPERA HOUSE

the stern old Quaker, Godfrey Mather, by Katharine Mather, is one of the many good things in the presentation of "The Little Puritan" by the Lowell Players at the Opera House this week. His interpretation is excellent, as is the work of all the other members of the cast. Miss Magrath, the new leading woman, is winning friends by the score.

"Maggie," a delightful little comedy drama with love and laughter, tears and thrills will be presented next week. It's the story of a plain American girl of Irish lineage, who overcomes with wit and wisdom. The story is active and absorbing.

Following the matinee performance tomorrow, Miss Shirley Magrath, the new leading lady, and Mr. William Howard, leading man, will hold a reception on the stage. This will be a welcome opportunity for hundreds of patrons of this popular amusement house to make the acquaintance of these two pleasing leading characters.

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The choicest bit of gossip in a very short time gets to be so big a story that its originator wouldn't know it. If you don't believe it, see Paul Decker, Co. at H. F. Keith's theatre this week. In "The Fall Guy," which was written by Edwin Burke, and which is a very clever comedy. It is perfectly acted. The Primrose Three are singers of popular songs, and they take unto themselves a lot of applause at every number. Ann Gray, harpist and singer, has an attractive routine of numbers, while Roberts and Boyne have a nautical comedy that bubbles with fun. Others on the bill are Coffman and Carroll in a southern skit; Rice and Elmer, in trampolines work, and John and Nellie Olms, the wizards of watches.

RIALTO THEATRE

Following the sensational success of "Passion" in America comes a second foreign production starring Pola Negri and called "Gypsy Blood." This is an adaptation from Prosper Merimee's original French story, "Carmen." It opened with great success at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon and will continue for the rest of the week. Other features on the program include a Larry Semon comedy, "The Fall Guy," and Joe Moore, in "False Brands."

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

A triple feature bill of more than usual merit is on the card for Merrimack Square theatre patrons for the week-end. Mollie King, the noted stage beauty, who is now starting with Lew Fields in "Blue Eyes," appears in "Suspicious Wives," an absorbing drama of modern life. Ora Carew in "Beyond the Crossroads," another interesting story, is the second feature, and Larry Semon in "The Fall Guy," one of his funniest comedies, provides the third big attraction. The international news completes the bill.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN OF THE APOCALYPSE"

Probably the strongest and most distinguished cast ever assembled for any photoplay in the history of the screen is seen in the Rex Ingram production for Metro of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," adapted from the famous novel by Vicente Blasco Ibañez, which opens a six-day engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre Monday afternoon.

While every player of the 25 principal roles was selected because of his or her special ability to enact the part, there is one actor in the list that is not prominently known to motion picture followers.

Independent Voters' Association Move Against Governor and Two Others

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 28.—The first recall election against state officials ever attempted in the United States is being held today in North Dakota, with the Independent Voters' association faction seeking to oust three officials who were elected last fall with endorsement of the Non-Partisan league.

Governor Lynn J. Prazier, William Lomke, attorney general, and J. M. Hagan, commissioner of agriculture and labor, are the officials the independents are attempting to replace with R. A. Nestos for governor; Sveinbjorn Johnson, for attorney general, and Joseph A. Kitchin for commissioner.

A group of proposed laws also are being submitted to the voters today as initiated measures, one of which would in the future do away with party designations in the election of all state officials.

PREMIER CALLS UNIONISTS' BLUFF

Will Confront Commons Monday and Ask Mandate on Irish Negotiations

Papers Confident Government Will Receive Big Majority in Support of Policies

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Prime Minister Lloyd George will confront the house of commons next Monday and ask for a mandate relative to the continuance of the negotiations between delegates of the government and the Dail Eireann. Announcement to this effect by the prime minister yesterday brought to a head the seemingly serious situation which has developed during the past fortnight by the alleged defection of unionist leaders and constituencies from support of the coalition government.

Belief was expressed by newspapers here today that the government would receive a big majority in support of the policies it has followed relative to Ireland, and that ministry's hands would be strengthened in dealing with the Sinn Fein representatives. Mr. Lloyd George received congratulations from the liberal press for "grasping the nettle of the hard shell unionist opposition." It was said the prime minister had "by calling their bluff, knocked the wind out of the unionists who were sponsors of the vote of censure to the government" which was read in the house on Wednesday.

It was not expected that the vote adverse to the government would total more than 20, and that all the coalition liberals and laborites certainly would rally to the support of the cabinet.

Political correspondents generally predict important developments at the annual conference of the unionist party to be held in Liverpool next week. They assert the party may split and that there may be formed an independent Conservative party.

The passage of another day without further advance toward an Irish settlement seemed to have deepened the pessimistic views held by many political writers.

EXHUME BODY OF E. F. SEARLES

Exhumation and Autopsy Conducted in Secret, Behind High Wall of Estate

METHUEN, Oct. 28.—The body of Edward F. Searles, millionaire recluse, was exhumed today from a vault on his former estate here and an autopsy was begun to determine whether there was any foundation for reports that his death was due to poisoning.

The exhumation and autopsy were ordered by Dist. Atty. S. Howard Donnell, and were under the immediate control of Medical Examiner George W. Dow. Dr. George H. Magrath of Boston, medical examiner of the north Suffolk district, assisted him.

The day's events were held in secret, the walls erected around Pine Lodge by its late owner, serving to guard the incidents connected with the investigation of his death. The body had been placed in a tomb provided by the millionaire in his life time. This had to be broken open today.

The exhumation and autopsy came as post-mortem events to a case marked by the unusual as an aftermath to charges by counsel for Albert V. Searles, nephew, in court proceedings several months ago, that the will of the recluse was procured by a plot, and as a direct result of anonymous charges to the district attorney that the old man died by poison.

Searles died in August, 1920. He had been ill for a long time. Certain aspects of his illness immediately preceding death were said to be unexplained. Dr. Victor J. Reed of Lawrence, associate medical examiner, said he could not understand some symptoms that developed while he was absent on a vacation.

Searles left an estate, the extent of which had been variously estimated at from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000. Arthur T. Walker of New York, who had assisted him in legal matters, was the principal beneficiary.

RUMORS OF BOMB PLOT DENIED

Early Stories of Attempt to Blow up St. Patrick's Cathedral Groundless

Rt. Rev. John J. Dunn Consecrated as Titular Bishop of Camuliana

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Thousands attended the consecration today in St. Patrick's cathedral of the Rt. Rev. John Joseph Dunn, D. D., titular bishop of Camuliana and auxiliary bishop of New York.

A regular mass preceded the ceremony and the customary action of church officials in clearing the edifice in order that only ticket-holders might be admitted to the consecration, led to rumors of a bomb plot, which later were denied by the church authorities and the police.

A number of detectives in plain clothes were present at the ceremony, but it was explained by the authorities that this had no particular significance. The detectives attended simply as a precaution, it was said.

cent on corporations' incomes up to 20 per cent. of their invested capital, and 10 per cent. on profits above. None of the bonus privileges would become operative under Senator Reed's amendment, until January 1, 1922.

Arguing for his amendment for a graduated tax on corporations in excess of the 15 per cent. levy recommended by the finance committee, Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, said the 15 per cent. tax would result in the increasing by 50 per cent. of the taxes of a very substantial number of corporations in the country.

The bill, the speaker said, would relieve surplus payers and the excess profit-making corporations but actually would add to the burden of many concerns.

"The increase," he continued, "increases the taxes not on the monopolistic class of concerns, not the big profit-making corporations, but the small struggling business concerns."

The increase on the "struggling corporations," Senator Walsh declared, was determined upon solely in order to repeal the excess profits tax. The speaker said this was an unfair and unjust proposal and had been put forward in an effort to get back into the treasury some of the $150,000,000 of lost excess profits tax.

Senator Walsh said it could not be successfully denied that the working out of the republican corporation tax plan would increase the taxes paid by corporations earning less than 8 per cent. and decrease the taxes paid by corporations making more than 10 or 14 per cent. depending upon the particular class of the corporation.

"And this," he declared, "at a time when business is prostrate, at a time when business is asking for relief; at a time when the republican party is claiming to be anxious to restore business prosperity."

that number of corporations in the country.
